CALL FOR COUNTY ACTION is issued Wednesday afternoon in Granite City. County Board Member Daniel Partney (right) outlined allegations against Sheriff Department members and asked that citizens urge members of the Madison County Board to adopt a resolution Sept. 20. It will call on the Sheriff's Merit Commission and the state's attorney to investigate deputies named in federal trial transcripts. From the left are two of those covering the press conference, Gary Schneider of the Press-Record and Judy Taplin of the Collinsville Herald, and Greg Homyer, a former sheriff department dispatcher.

Tavern advisory panel

Granite City tavern operators will set up an advisory council to work with city officials in an effort to reduce vandalism, fights and disturbances caused by drinking, as well as to resolve other mutual problems that beset the tavern business, Mayor Paul Schuler reported Monday following a meeting with the city's liquor licensees.

"It was a really good discussion and the tavern owners seemed happy at the chance to discuss some of their problems," the mayor said of the meeting which was held in the council chambers at the city hall.

Mayor Schuler called the meeting to discuss problems of law enforcement growing out of an increasing number of disturbances, fights and driving hazards due to drinking, particularly among youths. "We talked about the possibility of a 21-year law that would prohibit sale of drinks to anyone under 21," the mayor said, "but some of them felt such a law would be unfair because they do not have those kind of problems."

"Everyone indicated his willingness to cooperate and I think we can solve the problems in other ways," he added.

The mayor said the tavern owners agreed to name an advisory council that would include a representative of private club licensees, one representing the package liquor dealers and another representing the tavern operators who sell drinks over the counter.

This committee will convey the ideas of the licensees to their aldermen and talk them over with the mayor, who is the city's liquor license control commissioner, or with police officials.

Forty-nine of the city's 52 liquor license holders attended the meeting, Mayor Schuler said, and disclosed they would like to have another meeting to talk again within the next 30 days. The mayor said he will wait until he hears from the advisory committee and then will call another meeting.

"Both the city and the tavern owners have mutual problems," the mayor noted, "and we had such good results with today's (Monday) session that I think we can resolve a lot of problems."

Mayor Schuler said that at the beginning of the meeting he circulated copies of the city's liquor control ordinance.

"Some of the tavern owners expressed the opinion that there should be stiffer penalties in cases involving fights and disturbances, not only for those who cause the disturbances, but for tavern owners who violate regulations that lead up to such problems," the mayor said.

Chief of Police Ronald Volzer also spoke with the licensees from the viewpoint of the police department and the problems of law enforcement that arise as a result of excessive drinking.

Mayor Schuler emphasized the need of full compliance with ordinance regulations and told the licensees they must comply with the closing hours and regulations

'Deputy probe in 1977, why not in '78?'—Partney

By GARY SCHNEIDER

Press-Record Staff Writer
Daniel Partney, Democratic Madison County Board member from District 21 (Granite City), held a news conference yesterday to ask that all county residents contact their board members and urge them to vote in favor of initiating an investigation of the sheriff's department.

Partney, armed with stacks of documents he says include a number of current sheriff deputies, said he feels sufficient evidence already exists for the sheriff department Merit Commission to study charges against various deputies, with the goal of either exonerating or dismissing them.

He said he will introduce a resolution to the County Board Sept. 20 urging that such an investigation be undertaken by the merit commission and the state's attorney's office. A similar attempt at the board's August meeting failed on a 14-11 vote, with four board members absent.

"I am convinced that if the people get behind this and contact their County Board members, we can get this passed, especially in light of the close vote last time," Partney commented.

He said reasons cited by opponents at the last County Board meeting "do not hold water," and attempted to answer each objection.

"They said this is a gray area, going in and telling another agency of the county what to do." Pointing to portions of the Merit Commission's rules, regulations and procedures booklet, Partney showed where the commission is created by the County Board, is funded by the board and is charged with keeping proper records "required for compliance with the requests of the County Board for reports of activity."

Quoting from the rule book, Partney related, "The commission shall inspect and investigate those phases of the sheriff's department personnel management program which are within the purview of the commission. The commission shall report on its findings to the County Board."

"As you can see, the Merit Commission works for the County Board and there is nothing wrong with us asking them to conduct an investigation of this type," he asserted.

Responding to the same logic against asking the state's attorney to conduct an investigation, Partney said the prosecutor is empowered by state statutes to conduct investigations when "the people of the state or county may be concerned." Quoting from Illinois Statutes, Partney related that one duty of the state's attorney is "to commence and prosecute all actions and proceedings brought by any county officer in his official capacity."

He said another objection board members voiced to an investigation was a lack of funds for such research and hearings.

"Back in 1977, the commission found the funds to hold hearings on Deputies Richard Anderson and Randy Lamb. Anderson was charged with hitting a woman back in 1973 but the charges did not surface until 1977. The woman was the sister of another sheriff's deputy who was on the force then and is still on the force."

Anderson was charged with saying

Kidnapping sentences

Two Madison youths who were charged with kidnapping a railroad worker near Madison last May 20 were sentenced Tuesday in U.S. District Court at Springfield, Mo., to 15 years in prison. The sentence was pronounced by District Judge William Collins on Allen Henderson and Lester Kyle, both 19, who pleaded guilty a month ago to kidnapping Joseph R. Clifton, 46, of Belleville, as he was on his way home from work in the Terminal Railroad's yards at Madison.

Both youths were arrested at Springfield, Mo., for a traffic violation while driving Clifton's car, and while Clifton still was being held in the car.

Clifton told authorities that about 2 a.m. Saturday, May 20, he was enroute to Belleville on Route 203 south of Madison when he passed three hitchhikers. He said he saw a ping pong ball as he passed them and that he returned to the site because he thought he may have hit one of them.

Proceed on home repairs in Venice

A "whole house" rehabilitation program will begin in Venice within the next two weeks, Mayor William Ebersoldt announced at Tuesday night's City Council meeting.

"I received official notification that we have been allowed $160,000 from Community Development funds. The Venice rehabilitation program will be headed by Howard Foley of Madison County Carpenters Local 633 and six Venice residents," Ebersoldt said.

There were 108 applications for work to be done and 36 homes were chosen by the Community Development Committee on a basis of need of repair, age of the applicant and income, the mayor explained.

"I think the committee has done an outstanding job and the members have put in many long hours. This new project should be looked upon with pride by all the residents," Ebersoldt added.

Venice Township donated $5,000 to buy the necessary tools for the project, according to the mayor.

Venice Community Development committee members are John Williams, chairman; Mrs. Izola Robinson, secretary; Mrs. Barbara Madison, Fred Rumpf, John Lee and Morris Scott.

"It would like to make sure all the aldermen get together with Alderman George Lewis and double check the homes and buildings still remaining that need to be torn down," Ebersoldt said.

Former county state's attorney Mudge dies

Dick H. Mudge Jr., 59, an Edwardsville attorney who was elected to two four-year terms as Madison County state's attorney in 1966 and 1969, died of a heart attack at 7 p.m. Monday at Barnes Hospital, St. Louis.

Credited with playing a big part in riding this county of gambling casino activity and other large-scale crime operations, Mudge was admitted to Barnes at 10:20 a.m. Monday with a heart attack, later suffering a second and more severe attack that proved fatal.

Funeral services were conducted this morning at St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, Edwardsville, with burial following in the Mudge family cemetery at Grantfork.

A World War II fighter pilot with a record of 78 combat missions, he was an early advocate of ending American participation in the Vietnam war, and also was outspoken on discrimination and other issues.

Besides his wife, Jeanne, to whom he was married in 1946, he is survived by two sons, Dick H. Mudge III of Sacramento, Calif., and Thomas Mudge of Edwardsville.

Offices, schools to close Monday for Labor Day

Most Quad-Cityans will enjoy a three-day holiday during the weekend in observance of Labor Day on Monday.

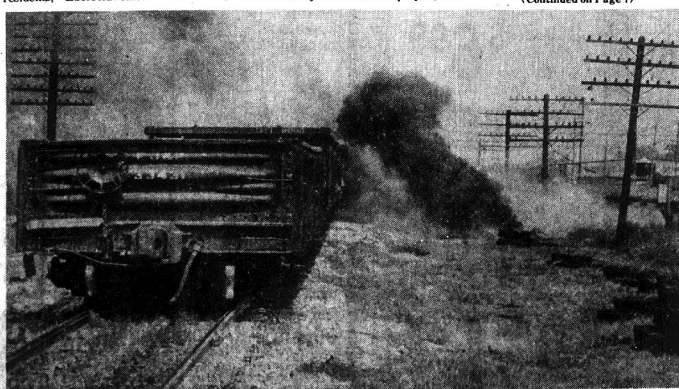

Virtually all offices and businesses will be closed Monday, although some stores may remain open at the option of their operators.

Illinois state offices, federal offices and local government offices will be closed. There will be no school classes in either public or parochial schools. The county courthouse at Edwardsville will be closed.

Area banks will close at the end of the business day Friday and will not reopen for regular business hours until Tuesday morning. Savings and loan firms also will close for the three-day period.

There will be no mail delivery on Monday and post offices at Granite City, Madison and Venice will follow the regular holiday schedule.

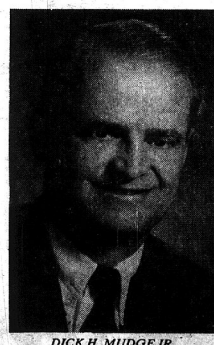

The Press-Record will publish its next edition on Tuesday instead of Monday.

TOO CLOSE FOR COMFORT? A large pile of cross-ties burns unattended several hundred feet northeast of the 20th Street railroad crossing. The train cars at left are empty, open-type cars but passengers say they could well have been cars carrying flammable or explosive materials. Granite City, Madison and Venice officials have voiced concern about the condition of tracks and the volume of train cars carrying such materials through the Quad-City area. Derailments in Madison County have caused explosions of rail cars, injuries and the evacuation of homes.

Sharp drop in youths during '80s, big rise in central age group

(Bureau of Labor Statistics)
The most dramatic population change during the 1980s will be a very sharp decline in both the number and proportion of youths.
This development, which is in sharp contrast to the rapid increase in the number of youths during the past decade, is an inevitable consequence of the sharp drop in the birthrate during the 1960s.
Another important demographic development will be the increase in the proportion of persons in the 25 to 34 age group, where the many millions of persons born during the post-World War II baby boom will be concentrated.
In terms of the future course of the participation rates for the various population groups, all three sets of projections — 113 million, 119 or 125 million civilian labor force by 1990 — show further increases for youths and for women in the central age groups and further declines for older persons of both sexes.
However, the expected amount of increase or decrease in participation differs significantly under the three scenarios.
Under an intermediate growth scenario, for example, the labor force participation rate of women is projected to rise from 46.4 percent in 1977 to 57.1 percent by 1990.
With the high growth scenario, it was assumed that female participation in the labor force would, at least in the first few years of the projection period, continue to rise at an increasing pace, as it has during the 1970s.
Under such conditions, it would reach 60.4 percent by 1990.
The low growth scenario is built on the assumption that the increase in participation among women of child-bearing age (20 to 44 years) would be slowed down by a significant rebound in the birthrate from its currently low level.
It was assumed for this purpose that the number of children per woman would rise from the 1.8 average of recent years to the 2.7 average consistent with the Bureau of the Census Series 1 projections of the population.
This development, coupled with an assumed slower rate of growth in participation even for other women, would allow the total female rate to rise to only 55.8 percent by 1990.
For men, the principal difference between the three scenarios in terms of labor force participation trends are as follows:
Under the low growth scenario, it was assumed that their participation rate would, at least for a while, continue to recede as it has during the 1970s and thus decline to 73.3 percent by 1990 from 77.7 percent in 1977.
In the intermediate growth scenario, it was assumed that the decline in participation among men would return to the slower pace of the pre-1970 years, with their rate declining only about another percentage point, to 76.4 percent by 1990.
Under the high growth scenario, on the other hand, it was assumed that the overall labor force participation rate of men would actually rise slightly during the 1980s so as to reach 80.0 percent by 1990.
The group for whom the assumptions about future trends in participation differ the most under the three scenarios are white men. For them, as for white women, the low growth scenario tends to follow the declining trend of the 1970s and the intermediate growth scenario tends to follow the milder rate of decline exhibited in the 1970s.
The high growth scenario traces the path that their rates would have to travel during the 1980s if they are to eventually reach parity with the much higher rates for white men. It was assumed under this that the participation rates for the two racial groups would converge by the year 2000.
In all three of the scenarios, the proportion of the labor force accounted for by women would expand significantly — to about 45 percent of the total by 1990, up from 41 percent in 1977.
There would also be significant increases both among men and women in the proportion of the labor force accounted for by workers in the central age group.
The growing labor force role of these persons (aged 25-54), who have considerable work experience and are generally most productive, should help to sustain the economic growth of the nation in the face of a decline in the number of young persons entering the labor force.
The teenage labor force, which has been increasing at an annual rate exceeding three percent during the 1970s, is expected to decline under all three scenarios during the 1980s.
And the 20-24 age group, which has shown an even higher annual rate of labor force growth during the 1970s, exceeding four percent per year compounded, is expected to show little further growth until 1985 and to then also decline substantially.
In the meantime, the labor force aged 25-54 is expected to increase at a robust pace throughout the 1977-1990 period.

Groundbreaking for new School of Law building

Groundbreaking ceremonies for a new multi-million-dollar law school building for St. Louis University will be held today at 5 p.m. at the site of the new structure at 3700 Lindell Boulevard, it was announced by John F. T. Murray, dean of the School of Law.

The four-story brick and concrete building will cost about $1,500,000 and will be related to the existing Omer Poo Law Library.

"The School of Law has a solid academic reputation," Dean Murray told the Press-Record. "But the foundation for our future is a new physical plant. Without it, none of our expectations or plans can be realized."

"The facility that in 1912 epitomized modernity is now obsolete. Our need is for a facility to match our faculty, students and programs. What we are beginning is a facility in which our students can adequately prepare for the practice of law in the '80s and beyond."

The new building will create a School of Law complex at Spring Avenue and Lindell Boulevard. Designed by Sverdrup & Parcel and Associates, it will house classrooms, a large courtroom, and administrative, faculty and student organizational offices. The new building also will significantly enlarge the existing library, which presently houses more than 165,000 volumes.

Sheriff

something detrimental about the sheriff in a bar, Partney noted.

Lamb was charged with improper handling of his personal finances.

Anderson was relieved of duty and Lamb was reinstated after the merit commission expended $1,500 for hearings, Partney said.

He noted that Anderson and Lamb had assumed leadership of the Madison County Deputy Sheriffs Association in 1975 and had given federal authorities financial records of the association which showed transactions by former association officers.

Containing there is evidence that the merit hearings on the two may have been politically motivated, Partney said they had been willing to speak out against former association officers who appear to be on good terms with the department and the board.

They were able to find $1,500 then to investigate these charges, some dating back to 1973. Now, they say they do not have the money to investigate allegations made about deputies in a federal trial transcript from the June-July 1978 trial of three former Madison policemen," he said.

Partney displayed what he said was a copy of a county report on the status of the Merit Commission's budget as of Aug. 16 of this year. It showed $1,425 remains in the commission's budget for per diem allowances.

"They say there is no money, but this unspent balance of $1,425 in per diem could be used toward this hearing," he contended.

Partney reviewed allegations made against the deputy association and showed what he said was a financial record of the association between July 1, 1974, and June 30, 1975, which showed the association raised $165,227 but spent only $9,529 in charitable gifts and donations.

"Yet, the association showed only $963 profit at the end of the fiscal year, Partney added.

He contended that the association's records were limited in scope prior to Anderson being elected president, and said he feels the investigation should look into "where the money went."

"The County Board made a grave mistake at last month's meeting when it said it did not want this investigation started."

"They say there is a federal investigation under way and we should let the federal government do it."

"The federal investigation has been going on for five years and could go on another five years."

"They may also decide that the allegations of deputies receiving a bottle of booze or $25 for allowing prostitution elsewhere may not be important enough for them to worry about."

"I feel there is sufficient evidence to conduct a hearing by the sheriff's merit commission to determine if anyone has done anything wrong."

"If they are guilty, we do not need these types of people in our law enforcement in Madison County. If they are innocent, they should be cleared."

"I have done everything I can possibly do. On Sept. 20, it will be up to the rest of the County Board to determine whether this investigation will continue or not."

"It is up to the people of the county to see if they want these allegations cleared up," Partney told newsmen.

"These accusations have clouded the department's integrity with the citizens and are clouding the reputations of good deputies along with bad deputies. I feel it is time we clear up the clouds."

"It is obvious the sheriff is not going to initiate any actions. If he was going to be would have done it by now," Partney remarked.

Answering critics who say Partney is urging the investigation to gain publicity for himself, Partney said, "I have been an outspoken critic of the sheriff department for the last three years."

"I have urged investigations into the department's purchases, including automobiles, uniforms, food and other items. They have been saying for three years I am just trying to get my name in the newspapers. This is an old accusation."

"I am not afraid to speak up if I see something wrong. If I can speak up, why can't anyone else? Perhaps they are not doing their jobs."

Partney said he would be glad "to share the limelight" with any other board members who wish to push for exoneration or dismissal of deputies named in trial transcripts.

prohibiting the sale of beer or liquor to minors.

One tavern owner reported Mayor Schuler "took a hard line on the rules. He told us to obey the law on closing, including keeping taverns closed until noon on Sunday."

"That's going to hurt me some, but I'm for him, I'll go along with everything he said. That's the only way we can prevent a lot of troubles. Some of the guys don't seem to realize they are only hurting their own business when they do things that contribute to the problems."

Newport homecoming parade Saturday to open 3-day program

A bigger and better Newport Homecoming is planned this year, with a parade, two dances, a breakfast and a picnic arranged for the three-day celebration. Helen Clemens King, president of the Newport Homecoming Association, said today.

For the eighth consecutive year, the festivities will start with a parade.

The 1978 parade will begin at 11 a.m. Saturday at Fox Industrial Park in the 1300 block of College Street and end at Lee Park, 740 Broadway and Klein in Venice.

Mrs. King said units and organizations wishing to join the parade still may do so by contacting her at 451-2370 tonight or Friday night, or calling Florida Moore, association treasurer, at 886-4644, daytime or evening.

Madison High School Band at the Loveloy School Band are among the parade participants. The marchers will include clowns, pom pom girls, Boy and Girl Scouts, members of the Madison and Venice fire departments and their equipment and several decorated floats and vehicles.

A new segment has been added to the homecoming festivities previously announced, Mrs. King said.

A disco dance for teenagers is scheduled Saturday night from 7 to 11 at the Venice Recreation Center.

Larry Boyd, director of sports and recreation for the homecoming, is completing details for the Saturday night teen dance, which will feature a known disc jockey.

Other events include a happy hour party for adults, starting at 5 p.m. Saturday, at Garrett's El Capalera Lounge.

On Sunday evening, live music will be furnished for dancing by "Olympus," a group of musicians from the Quad City area, featuring Jimmy "Sheik" Dance.

The dance will be held at Venice-Madison American Legion Post 107 Home, 740 Broadway. Venice music will start at 9 p.m. Sunday and continue until 1 a.m.

A photographer will be available to take pictures during the dance and awards will be presented, including one to the person having traveled the farthest distance to the homecoming, Mrs. King advised.

Mrs. King is personally supervising the community breakfast from 8 a.m. to 12 noon on Labor Day (Monday). The open air breakfast will take place in Lee Park, with prizes to be awarded to those attending.

The remainder of the day will be spent socially, with games, trophies and picnicking.

In a special segment at 3 p.m. Monday, prizes will be presented at the park picnic. Mrs. King reported.

The association president said no charge is made for the homecoming activities, with expenses being paid from funds raised by the Newport Homecoming Association.

The route of Saturday's 11 a.m. parade, show the marchers assembling at Fox Industrial Park before the 11 a.m. kickoff time, traveling west along College to Sell Avenue, turning south on Sell to Market Street, west to Madison Avenue, north to Douglas Avenue, west to Weaver Street, south on Weaver to Jackson Avenue, west to Jackson past Dunbar School to Lee Park.

Charged with theft

Larry E. Pfaff, 28, Washington Park, was arrested at home yesterday for Granite City detectives who brought him to Granite City Jail at 6:15 a.m. today on a warrant alleging theft.

It is alleged that he took $100 cash from James Tadlock and Tad's Auto Sales of Granite City July 31. The warrant was signed by a judge here Aug. 10.

Infant Amanda Gall dies

Amanda F. Gall, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Carolyn Gall, 2027 Sken St., Madison, died at 1 p.m. Wednesday in Christian Northwest Hospital two hours after she was born.

In addition to her parents, survivors include one sister, Emilee Nickole Gall, 2, maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Luther (Faye)

Wallace of Granite City, paternal grandfather Leonard Wallace of Fairview Heights, maternal great-grandparents, Mrs. Gracie Black of Granite City and Mrs. Bessie Wallace of Bethalto; paternal great-grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gall of Granite City.

Funeral arrangements are listed in today's obituary column.

Mrs. Etta Wedler, 87, dies

Mrs. Etta V. Wedler (Vaughn), 87, of 2205 Anchorage Homes, died at 8:15 p.m. Wednesday at St. Elizabeth Hospital where she had been a patient since Monday.

Mrs. Wedler was born in Pearl, Ill., and resided in this area 35 years. She was of Presbyterian faith.

She was preceded in death by her husband, William P. Wedler, in March 1969, and by her son, William Russell Wedler in March 1974.

Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. Joel (Helen Haack) Pierce of Granite City, Miss Ida J. Wedler of Brooklyn, N.Y., and Mrs. Oliver (Ruth) Siochov of Hawley, Pa., and a sister, Mrs. Harry (Pansy) Deegan of St. Petersburg, Fla.

Funeral arrangements may be found in today's obituary column.

Victimized, not raped

A report on Page 2 on Monday that a McCambridge Avenue woman, 18, had been raped was in error, a check of official records showed this week.

The woman was threatened, beaten and forced to perform sex acts but was not raped, authorities said.

Madison County sheriff's detectives are investigating two recent sexual assaults, in Eagle Park Acres and near Madison, to determine if they are related, a spokesman said.

Sues former employer

Debra Miller, 18, Granite City, has filed a $1 million slander and false imprisonment suit against the Venture store, for which she was employed as a clerk in the bakery department in Fairview Heights when arrested July 20 by a security guard.

She alleges she was detained 90 minutes against her will and was accused in front of several persons in the store of stealing 48 cents.

The suit contends Miss Miller did not steal the money and was forced to suffer "public disgrace and infamy and scandal," which damaged her name and reputation.

Jo Meyer park to be dedicated

Jo Meyer Park, Nidringhaus Avenue and Cleveland Blvd., will be dedicated at 11 a.m. Tuesday, Sept. 12.

All Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce requested to attend the dedication to "demonstrate our appreciation to Jo and her committee for their efforts to make this plot of ground into a beautiful park—something that will help beautify the downtown area," Mrs. Janet Partney, chairman of the dedication ceremony, said today.

"In addition to the committee's recognition, we will acknowledge the donors of the ground, the city of Granite City and organizations that have contributed financially to provide the benches and plaques."

WAR DECLARED
France declared war on Prussia on July 19, 1870.

New photo store opens downtown

Dior Photo, headquartered in Belleville, has opened its third store at 1907 Delmar Ave. in Granite City.

The new store offers a complete line of photographic needs ranging from still and movie cameras to all of the beginner and amateur needs for the darkroom.

The manager of the new store, which opened Monday morning, is Jim Hargrave, 26, who lives with his wife Sharon at 1816 Sken St., Madison.

Dance to aid in dystrophy fight

The Galaxy Twirlers will host its second Benefit Square and Round Dance for the fight against Muscular Dystrophy on Sunday, Sept. 3, from 1 to 6 p.m. in Hangar 3, Scott Air Force Base.

The benefit dance is supported by the Greater St. Louis League of Clubs, the Folk and Square Dance Federation, and the Callers' Guild, with all proceeds being donated to the Muscular Dystrophy Association of America.

Last year the MDA Benefit Dance raised over $3,000. This year, all indications are that the dance will be better attended and raise even more.

At 2:30 a.m. there will be a grand march, followed by a salute to the colors, featuring the honor guard from Scott AFB. The Happy Tappers, a precision clogging group of 40 youths, will perform during the afternoon.

This group has performed for President Carter on the White House lawn, on local television, at the 27th National Square Dance Convention in Oklahoma City, Okla., and at the 30th Annual Square and Round Dance Festival at Belleville.

Grasshopper population increasing

County Farm Adviser
Major outbreaks of black cutworms, European corn borers and grasshoppers occurred in many areas of the state this year, and in some cases were hard to control. Don Kuhlman, University of Illinois Extension entomologist, said cutworm problems on corn were the heaviest on record. Some of the factors favoring infestation included a wet spring, late planting and weedy fields.

First generation European corn borer infestations were the highest since the late 1950s, Kuhlman adds. That insect will likely return in great numbers next year, too.

Grasshopper populations have been increasing for several years, with even higher populations coming back in 1978.

Kuhlman will discuss control of these and other insects during the U. of I. Agronomy Day Sept. 14 at the South Agronomy Farm in Urbana.

Agronomy tours begin at 7 a.m. and leave every ten minutes until 1 p.m. A free bus will take visitors from the Agronomy Farm to the agricultural engineering farm for tours there.

Engineers will discuss equipment, building techniques, planting methods and conservation tillage.

An exhibit tent will include displays on sludge usage, land reclamation and soil profiles. Speakers at another tent will discuss weather and the economic outlook.

Snacks and lunch will also be available on the grounds, southeast of the Assembly Hall off St. Mary's Road.

ILLINOIS ERA CLARIFIES
Recent inquiries concerning the proper disposal of agricultural chemical containers has identified the need for clarification of the Environmental Protection Agency's policy on this matter, says John S. Moore, Manager of the Division of Land and Noise Pollution Control.

Agricultural chemical containers may be accepted at an Illinois EPA permitted sanitary landfill provided that:

- The containers are empty and have been triple rinsed at the time of emptying.
- The caps are removed or the containers punctured.
- However, if the containers contain chemicals and residuals, a sanitary landfill cannot accept them for disposal until and unless the landfill has applied for and is granted a supplemental special waste permit.

FIRST RETIREMENT AWARD ever presented by the Crime Prevention and Control Committee of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce is awarded to city officials to be given to retired Patrolman Ira Smith. Smith retired after 20 years on the Granite City Police Department. Accepting the award from the committee's chairman, Warren Decatur, center, is Granite City Chief of Police Ronald J. Veizer. From left are Lt. Col. George Teller, Harold Rush, Veizer, Dave Morgan, Decatur, Alderman Everett Morlen, William Nichols, Chief Judge Moses W. Harrison II and Venice Township Supervisor Christ Pashoff. The committee hopes to honor all Quad-City officers on their retirements or for acts of heroism with plaques.

Binding initiative would let citizens enact laws

By PATRICK QUINN
Coalition for Political Honesty
The Coalition for Political Honesty has fallen short in its petition drive to place the property tax freeze referendum on the November ballot.

Coalition volunteers collected 50,000 of the necessary 589,000 signatures to qualify the tax freeze for the ballot.

We're grateful to our petition passers and to the thousands of Illinois citizens who signed the petitions.

It was a tremendous achievement to gather more than a half million signatures. Our campaign was a genuine grassroots movement that demonstrated that the tax-payors of Illinois want fundamental reform in the property tax system.

All Coalition petition passers were volunteers and the property tax freeze petition drive was run on a frugal $6,000 budget.

The Coalition's next project is organizing a citizens' campaign to achieve the Illinois Initiative, a state constitutional amendment that would permit citizens to enact binding laws by petition and referendum.

We intend to make the Illinois Initiative the single most important issue in this fall's election campaign.

Coalition volunteers will pin down all candidates for public office where they stand on the initiative issue.

The Coalition will publicly release the list of Illinois Initiative supporters and opponents before the Nov. 7 election.

We believe that Illinois citizens want the opportunity to vote directly on issues that affect their daily lives and pocketbooks.

The people of our state are far ahead of politicians when it comes to demanding reform. We need full-fledged initiative power to give average citizens a real voice in how their taxes are raised and spent.

Currently, Illinois law only permits citizens to petition to place advisory referendums on a statewide ballot.

The Illinois Initiative would allow citizens to bypass the legislature and pass binding laws by petition and referendum.

Right now, 22 states across the country permit lawmaking by initiative, including Missouri, Michigan and Ohio in the Midwest.

The Illinois Initiative is a constitutional amendment proposal that was first introduced in the Illinois General Assembly in 1977 with bipartisan sponsorship.

The Coalition is currently organizing a citizens' campaign to get all candidates to publicly state their position on the initiative before the November election.

give the people of Illinois the power to directly propose laws by petition. The voters would then enact or reject these proposals by referendum vote at a primary or general election.

Initiative petitions would require signatures equal in number to at least eight percent of the total votes cast for governor in the preceding gubernatorial election (roughly 375,000 signatures).

All qualifying signatures would have to be gathered only within a 90-day period before an election. Paid petition solicitors would be prohibited.

No more than three initiative proposals could be submitted to the voters at any one election. This provision insures that the voters will not be confused by a long ballot listing numerous initiative propositions.

The general Assembly must amend or repeal a law enacted by initiative only by a two-thirds vote of both houses.

The 22 states that permit lawmaking by initiative are: Alaska, Arizona, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Florida, Idaho, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, South Dakota, Utah, Washington, Wyoming.

A constitutional amendment is required to establish the Illinois Initiative in the Illinois Constitution.

This amendment would need to be approved by a three-fifths vote of the members of both houses and then approved by a majority of Illinois voters in the general election in 1980.

The Illinois Initiative was drafted by the Coalition for Political Honesty and was first introduced in the Illinois General Assembly in 1977 with bipartisan sponsorship.

The Coalition is currently organizing a citizens' campaign to get all candidates to publicly state their position on the initiative before the November election.

Garden harvest timing is crucial

By CHRIS DOLL, Area Gardening Adviser

Being able to harvest vegetables right is a basic reason for gardening. The best quality and condition for culinary usage are found in garden freshness, with good timing of the harvest.

Late gardens are still producing and proper harvesting should give the best quality and yields available.

Snap or green beans should be picked at the peak of flavor when they are young and tender. When they are bulging with beans, the pod loses tenderness. For dry beans, wait until a heavy drop of pods has set and matured. Then pull or cut the plants to dry a few days before shelling.

Brussel sprouts are broken off when they are large enough. Usually this is when they are one to one and one-half inches in diameter.

Carrots are ready for use when young and crisp. Repeated plantings are needed for continuous quality through the season.

Eggplant should be cut from the stem with a knife or garden shears when the skin is shiny and the fruit is large enough—usually four inches in diameter.

Peppers are picked when firm, full-sized, and just before they turn red. Red peppers are satisfactory to use but have a shorter storage life.

Summer squash should be picked when young and tender. Once the seeds form inside or the skin hardens on the outside, quality is lost. Keep over-sized fruits picked off to keep young ones coming on.

Winter squash and pumpkins should be picked when the rinds are hardened. For storage, they should be cured in a warm dry room for a week.

Spinach tops can be picked or cut when leaves are four inches long. New shoots will follow till frost.

Turnips can be harvested when moderately large, firm and smooth. This stage should last for several weeks.

Watermelons need to be picked when ripe. A dead curl by the stem, a dull sound when thumped, a yellow skin on the bottom, and a slightly dull skin on top are all indicators.

ville; two daughters, Mrs. John (Carolyn) Lane of Nova Scotia, Canada, and Miss Suzanne Mudge of Edwardsville, his mother, Mrs. Louise Mudge of Edwardsville, and one grandchild.

The Mudges were among the early settlers in Madison County, locating on a farm near Grantfork in 1826. The old family home and farm are still owned by them.

Dick Mudge's parents were D. H. Mudge, Edwardsville attorney and circuit judge, and Mrs. D. H. (Louise Gregory) Mudge, a native of Alto. He had one brother, John G. Mudge, who died in 1963.

Mudge and his wife, Jeanne Gordy Mudge, lived at 736 Randle St., Edwardsville. There are four children, Carolyn, 30, Suzanne, 28, Dick III, 26, and Thomas, 22.

Mudge was born June 9, 1919, in Edwardsville and attended the public schools, graduating from Edwardsville High in 1936. He attended Harvard University, 1936-40, majoring in American history, and received a bachelor of arts degree. He attended the Northwestern University School of Law (Chicago), 1940-41 and 1945-47, graduating with the degree of juris doctor.

Mudge entered military service as a private in the Army Aug. 5, 1941. He was commissioned a Second Lieutenant, and pilot July 3, 1942.

A member of 56th Fighter Group, the first American fighter group sent to England, he flew 78 missions over Germany-occupied Europe and was awarded the distinguished flying cross three times.

Shot down by flak, he was in various prisons for 12 months and was one of the survivors of the so-called death march from Stalag Luft III to Nuremberg in January and February 1945.

He was liberated by Patton's army near Munich April 29, 1945, and hitchhiked back to his unit in England, arriving May 5. He rejoined the 56th Group and returned to the U.S. July 22, 1945, and separated from service as a major in February 1946.

Mudge had been engaged in general law practice since June 1947 in Edwardsville with his father and brother until their deaths and later with Paul Riley.

He was a member of the Madison County, Illinois and American Bar Associations and was past president of the Madison County Bar Association. He had been a member of the American Citizenship and Civil Rights Committees of the Illinois Bar Association and was a member of the joint committee of the Chicago and Illinois Bar Associations which drafted the Illinois Criminal Code and Code of Criminal Procedure adopted by the Illinois state legislature in 1963.

His family participated in Democratic politics in Madison County since before 1900. He was involved in all the campaigns since World War II, and actively campaigned for Gov. Adlai Stevenson and Sen. Paul Douglas whenever they were candidates.

Mudge was elected state's attorney of Madison County in 1956 over the opposition of both the Democratic and Republican organizations.

He was responsible for substantial reforms in Madison County government and particularly in the handling of gambling and vice and the attendant use of underworld money to support political campaigns.

He was renominated and re-elected in 1960 with the support of the Democratic Party.

Mudge also campaigned for his Harvard classmate, John F. Kennedy, in the presidential election of 1960. He ran unsuccessfully for state central committee against Mayor Alvin Fields of East St. Louis and consistently opposed the Dale-Fields axis of the Democratic Party.

In 1968, he was elected a delegate to the Democratic National Convention from Madison-St. Clair counties over the opposition of the regular Democratic organization.

At the convention, he supported the Kennedy-McGovern-McCarthy position on Vietnam and the Julian Bond delegation from Georgia.

Mudge's independent and liberal political stance were never readily accepted by the regular Democratic state organization. He stressed consistent opposition to domination of Illinois Democratic politics by the Cook County organization controlled by the late Mayor Daley.

As a candidate for state's attorney, he carried Madison County by larger majorities than the Democratic candidates for governor and president in 1960.

He did not seek re-election in 1964.

Mudge ran for state senator in 1970. In March and April of 1968, while a candidate for delegate, he took a trip around the world at his own expense and spent two weeks in Vietnam.

As the result of a chance meeting with a World War II Air Force friend, in a command position in Saigon, he was furnished with air transportation to a variety of places, from Da Nang in the north to Tay Ninh City near Cambodia and to the delta country in the south.

Mudge made a detailed report which was published in the press. He praised the performance and steadfastness of American troops "in the face of the obvious corruption and lack of any substantial contribution to the fighting on the part of the South Vietnamese government and its 1,000,000-man army."

Mudge, opposed use of any American troops in Vietnam while "the contribution to the war effort on the part of the South Vietnamese is sporadic and without determination."

Mudge was devoted to "protection of civil rights, free and peaceful expression of ideas, and a free press unfettered by censorship or other forms of suppression."

"Although the ideals of law and order are not and should not be in conflict with the principles of liberty and equality, they are sometimes confused and some people believe there is such a conflict."

"There will be greater respect for the law and, as a result, a more orderly society when those who make the law and those who enforce the law win the respect and trust of the poor, the deprived, the victims of the ghetto, and the powerless of all races and creeds."

"The two paramount ways toward the achievement of these goals is through education and improvement in the administration of justice. An educated man, a man with a job, never resents a just law, justly enforced and equally administered," Mudge believed.

During the state senate campaign, he voted proposals for legislation on taxation, pollution, law enforcement, public disclosure of income of legislators, collective bargaining for public employees, narcotics control, lobbying, industrial injuries, financial problems of schools, and limitation of state power to condemn privately-owned property.

Chouteau levy to cut rate

The Chouteau Town Board of Trustees approved levies totaling $200,767 Monday night which are expected to result in a 2.1-cent drop in the tax rate next summer for township purposes.

While the rates will be determined later by the county clerk's office, the board approved a town tax levy of $67,915, which is expected to result in a rate decline of approximately one cent per $100 assessed valuation. The levy is the amount of money which must be raised by taxation to support each fund.

A levy of $35,872 for the general assistance fund is anticipated to result in a rate about 1.1 cents lower than was collected this summer.

For general road and bridge purposes, the same rate of 1.65 cents, the legal maximum, will support the levy of $87,000. Also approved was a $15,000 levy for building and new equipment fund, and $7,000 for municipal retirement.

In addition to taxes for these funds, a special hard road rate of 1.65 cents will be collected under a five-year program approved by the voters in 1974. No levy approval is required this year for the special hard road fund.

Wilfred "Bud" Eberhardt, Chouteau highway commissioner, reported at the meeting that he has paid off the last $20,000 tax anticipation warrants for his department, bringing it totally out of debt for the first time in several years. Eberhardt was congratulated by the board for steadily reducing the debt since he took office last year.

The board also discussed the poor crossing at Thorngate Drive near Route 203 north, which the Illinois Terminal Railroad had promised to repair this summer.

No work has been done on the crossing, which is presenting a hazard to motorists, and residents, the trustees contended.

The board also discussed possible dangers from derailments, due to the poor condition of some railroad tracks in the township, and noted chemicals for a nearby industry are brought by train through the township regularly.

It also was reported that large propane tanks are located near the rail tracks at West Chain of Rocks Road.

The board agreed to take the problem under advisement and see if some action can be taken to have the Thorngate crossing repaired and to have the railroads undertake a better track maintenance program in the township.

Mrs. Nettie Cain dies at 89

Mrs. Nettie D. Cain (Morgan), 89, formerly of 925 Benton St., died at 9:23 a.m. Wednesday at the Madison County Nursing Home where she had been a resident for the past 11 years.

Mrs. Cain was born in Hornbeak, Ind., and had been a resident in this area 26 years. Her husband, William Cain, died in October, 1961. She was of the Protestant faith. Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Sylvia Cook of Granite City and Mrs. Othene Matlock of Dyer, Ind.; one son, Kelly Cain of Long Beach, Calif., 18 grandchildren, 22 great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild.

It is alleged that firemen are unhappy over the monies budgeted to them and in particular the salaries paid the firemen.

The aldermanic fire and water committee members are John "Dickie" Ervin, chairman, F. H. Buente and Oscar King. The council authorized the purchase of 50 gallons of foam and two walk-talkie radios for the fire department, and also approved sending three men to the Firemen's Association Convention in Rockford, Ill. Sept. 14 through 17, allowing $300 each for expenses.

Kidnapping

Missouri for about four hours before permitting Clifton to get back in the car, but were said to have warned they would kill him if he did anything.

A Greene County sheriff's deputy stopped the car near Springfield after a truck driver reported that the car was swerving on the highway.

The deputy asked the driver for a driver's license and he was unable to produce one. The deputy then ordered all of the men out of the car when Clifton failed to respond as to why the driver was operating his car.

After getting out, Clifton told the deputy he had been kidnapped. The youths were arrested and turned over to federal authorities who filed charges.

Boy, 8, is hit by car

Eight-year-old Jeffrey Johnson, 1503 Kirkpatrick Homes, was struck by the auto of Deborah Kaufman, 22, St. Louis, on Nameki Road at East 25th Street at 5 p.m. Wednesday.

The driver said the boy hesitated on the sidewalk and then ran in front of her car, which skidded into him. The boy said he thought the traffic light was changing and traffic would stop, but was mistaken.

He was taken by Granite City ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital where he was admitted with a bump to his head and injuries to his left shoulder and arm. A series of X-rays was taken.

GC boy, 4, is struck by car

Four-year-old William Walker, 2501 Kirkpatrick Homes, was injured when he was struck by the car of Eldred Sellers, 2585 Lynch Ave., on Nameki Road at Palmer Avenue at 5:10 p.m. Tuesday.

The driver said the boy ran from the east in front of his car and another car beside him and he could not see the boy until it was too late to avoid striking him.

Sellers' auto skidded about 10 feet and had almost stopped when the boy was struck, witnesses told police. The child was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital where he was treated for contusions to his head and left side. X-rays were taken and the family left the hospital.

Dentists taught to be efficient

Efficiency is being taught to future dentists by Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Filling a tooth and fitting a crown are not the only skills the SIUE dental students learn in their three-year professional training program at the Alton center. They also learn to do it for less and to like it more.

Under a special five-year training grant renewed this year for $142,446 by the U.S. Public Health Service, prospective dentists are learning to manage office time, office space and support their personnel for maximum efficiency.

The intended result is a lower cost for the patient and a happier, less-fatigued day for the dentist.

Dr. Kenneth E. Beach, associate professor of community dentistry and project director of Training, in Expanded Auxiliary Management (TEAM), said the program is set up in stages to simulate private dental practice.

In the first year, the student concentrates on biomedical sciences and becomes comfortable with pre-clinical work. By the second year, he is practicing in the clinic and learning the theory of patient management.

At the end of the third year, he is working entirely in a clinical situation in the intensive TEAM course, scheduling the work to coordinate with dental hygienist and auxiliaries in the "chair situation."

With the diploma comes the ability to move and work between multi-units in a defined role where everyone on the team knows what will happen next and where. It's similar to the staff in the operating room, Dr. Beach explained.

No wasted motions, and the communication is there without ever having to speak, he emphasizes.

The result can be a dentist entering private practice, able to produce more work of better quality with more job satisfaction for every member of his team.

Dr. Beach also credits the TEAM approach with holding the relative cost of dental care below cost of living trends.

Studies by the American Dental Association (ADA) support the claim. Last year, dentists scheduled 18 percent more visits and treated 43 percent more patients than 10 years ago while raising fees 7.5 percent compared with a 7.7 percent cost increase for all consumer services.

At SIUE dentists are working to increase the trend. By learning to work with a full-time assistant and a hygienist, the dentist can boost his productivity by 100 percent, ADA studies show.

For the patients of SIUE-taught dentists, it can mean "better treatment in less time by an efficient team that could charge less."

WORKSHOP ON AIDING CRITICALLY INJURED

The Continuing Education Program of the SIUE School of Nursing will offer at two locations during September a one-day workshop on clinical evaluation and transportation of the critically injured.

The workshop will initially be held on the SIU at Carbondale campus Sept. 6 and repeated on the local campus Sept. 13. Both sessions are scheduled from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m.

Backyard fair at Bierschwa home

Kimberly Bierschwa, 12, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Bierschwa, 304 Sinclair Ave., will conduct a backyard fair at her home Friday and Saturday. Proceeds will benefit the Leukemia Society of America.

She will be assisted by Rick Bierschwa, Cheryl Ashline, Paul Mathews and Ricky Evans.

The fair will be held from 4 to 7 p.m. Friday and 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. Saturday.

Attractions at the backyard fair will include baker's dozen, tie-tac-toe, roll and score, sponge throw, mini disco and other games. Soda and hot dogs will be available.

Severe prison problems in Illinois but Logan center is an exception

By STEVE HAHN
LINCOLN — When state officials opened the Logan Correctional center last January they said it would be a model prison, a place where some of the problems faced in other Illinois prisons could be avoided.

They claimed it would not be a burden on local law enforcement or a black eye on the community. They said Logan would spruce up the local economy and be only a minor nuisance to nearby residents.

Seven months later their claims are holding true. The medium-security facility appears to be running smoothly. "It's bad luck to say things can't happen here. They can happen anywhere. We just haven't had any problems yet," said Warden Leo Meyer, knocking on a wooden desk for good luck.

Referring to the recent riot which left three guards dead at the State Correctional Center in Pontiac, assistant warden Dan Bosse added, "Pontiac can occur anywhere, anytime." But Logan is much different from the maximum-security prisons at Pontiac, Joliet and Chester. It is much smaller and its prisoners generally have been convicted of less serious crimes.

Logan is manageable, while the others are becoming increasingly unmanageable. It is now and many of the state's other prisons are more than 100 years old. One indication of Logan's apparent success is the recruitment of guards. Gov. James Thompson recently announced the state's plan to intensify recruitment for the hazardous job and to boost its starting pay. The governor estimates about 75 new guards are needed in Pontiac alone, and more than 300 for all Illinois prisons.

Logan has plenty of applicants and prison officials have tried to persuade some to work in other facilities. Recently, for example, advertisements for guard openings were placed in local newspapers. Within several days more than 100 applications flooded in.

About 350 prisoners are now being housed at Logan. When it is full sometime early next year, there will be 750 inmates.

The warden said he has a commitment from Charles Rowe, director of the state Department of Corrections, to accept only 60 inmates a month. He said federal laws will prevent the state from putting more than 750 prisoners in the facility.

Overcrowding is one of the main problems in the state's maximum-security prisons. Five years ago there were about 600 prisoners in Pontiac and now there are about 2,000.

There were about 1,300 inmates in Menard and now there are 2,600. In 1973, 1,800 were housed in Stateville and now there are about 2,500 prisoners.

Since 1973 the state's prison population has gone from about 6,000 to 10,000. State officials predict it will increase to about 17,000 by 1985.

Illegal drugs, weapons and other contraband are also problems in most Illinois prisons. In Logan, Meyer said, only a small amount of marijuana has been found since it opened.

No weapons have been detected with the exception of several knives and a shotgun. The knives belonged to a painter who had laid them aside while working. They were turned in by several prisoners. The gun was found inside a construction worker's truck.

Meyer said there is little evidence that gangs are forming in the prison as they have in other facilities. A group of about five inmates that had the potential to form a gang were separated.

No prisoner has been prosecuted in local courts since Logan opened. Eight have been transferred to maximum-security prisons because they were disciplinary problems.

"When a guy is sent to segregation at a place like Stateville, he is at the end of the line. You have no way to discipline him. He can do anything because he is being punished to the maximum," Meyer said.

Dissidents heard on 'Empty Chairs' show

Joel Grey, Arlo Guthrie, Lauren Bacall, Art Buchwald, Richard Widmark, Patti Smith, Leonard Bernstein, Arthur Miller, Vincent Gardenia, Nino Roccia and Studs Terkel are among the celebrities who perform the works of political prisoners and dissidents from around the world on "The Night of the Empty Chairs" at 9:30 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 2 on Channel 9.

A broadcast of a benefit performance held at the New York Society for Ethical Culture for Amnesty International, U.S.A., is now conceived and is narrated by columnist Art Buchwald. The event was staged by Arthur Penn.

Its title refers to the opening of the program, a recitation by Joel Grey of the poem, "The Chair," by Jurgen Fuchs, an East German poet who was imprisoned, and now lives in exile in West Germany.

"The empty chair onstage symbolizes the absence of those who are in prison for their political convictions."

Other performances include: —Billie Allen, Tom Brim and Joe Seneca in a scene from "Confused Mithras," a play by Black South African Khayalethu Mqavisa which has been banned from that country.

—Arlo Guthrie singing "Song to Victor Jara," a tribute to the Chilean folksinger-activist killed after the rightist coup that overthrew the Communist Allende government in September 1973.

—Richard Widmark, who reads from a letter by Huber Matos. "The military officer originally supported Castro but was imprisoned in December 1959 as a counterrevolutionary."

—Lauren Bacall, who reads two poems by Soviet dissident Natalia Gormannskaya, now living in exile in Paris.

—Rock singer Patti Smith reciting the lyrics to "100 Percent," a song by the People of the Universe, a Czechoslovakian rock group whose members are either in prison or awaiting trial.

—Studs Terkel reading from Under the Big Eye, a novel by Turkish journalist Cetin Allan, who spent several years in Turkish jail. "He is now free."

Terkel notes, "but careful." —Nino Roccia, author of "For Colored Girls Who Have Considered Suicide When The Rainbow is Enuf." She recites poetry by T. J. Reddy, a member of the "Wilmington 10" in North Carolina.

—Playwright Arthur Miller and actor Vincent Gardenia performing a scene from "Audience," a play by Czech dissident playwright Václav Havel, who has been charged with subversion.

—Leonard Bernstein, who reads from a letter written by Green, composer Mikis Theodorakis to United Nations Secretary-General U Thant while Theodorakis was in a Greek prison. Theodorakis is now free.

St. Elizabeth to initiate new Centrex phone system

The Centrex telephone system, recognized for its efficiency, economy and flexibility, will be activated on Sept. 13 at St. Elizabeth Hospital, according to PBX Switchboard Supervisor Virginia Unfried.

Touch tone telephones will be installed at all stations and hospital telephone equipment will be housed at the main telephone office at 21st and Edison streets.

Both the main number, 876-2020, and the patient call-in number, 877-8780, will be taken out of service. The new main number will be 798-0000 and all stations will be prefixed "798-3," followed by a 3-digit department number.

One operator will be stationed at a central console for special and emergency assistance only. With Centrex, callers will be required to telephone departments directly by dialing the prefix 798, "3," and then the assigned station number. For example, a person wanting to reach "information" would dial 798-3171.

To reach a patient, all the caller need do is dial 798, "3," and then the patient's room number. For example, to reach John Doe in Room 431, the caller would dial 798-3431; to reach Mary Smith in Room 645, the caller would dial 798-3645.

In addition, patients will no longer need to place their calls through a switchboard operator. A complete list of hospital numbers will be announced.

Centrex, Mrs. Unfried explained, offers a "mix" of features suited to an organization's needs and its budget. Among the special benefits are direct dialing, call forwarding, call pick up, "holding," where an incoming call can be automatically routed from a busy line to an idle line; speed calling, where most frequently dialed seven- or ten-digit numbers can be reached by dialing a two- or three-digit code; and, automatic recording of long distance calls.

In addition, Centrex offers a night service; individual transfer without the assistance of an attendant; and "add-on," where the station user may add another party to an in-coming call.

With Centrex, time will be saved because the caller can dial all inside and outside calls and receive in-coming calls without waiting for an operator.

Direct dial also will reduce the incidence of "lost" or "misplaced" calls. Money will be saved because each station can make a record of long distance calls for proper accounting and cost control, Mrs. Unfried explained.

In addition, Centrex gives options for easy expansion as the hospital grows and its needs change. The service can be modified conveniently and without capital investment, she explained.

"I encourage the use of the new numbers and ask the public cooperation in spreading the word about the new system. When we are all accustomed to the change, I'm sure we will all be pleased with the advantages of the Centrex service," Mrs. Unfried concluded.

Bulgarian Orthodox patriarch to visit Madison church during tour

His Holiness Maxim, head of the Bulgarian Orthodox Church, the first Bulgarian Orthodox patriarch to visit the United States and Canada, will include Madison and Springfield in Illinois and also St. Louis, Mo., in a month-long tour of church parishes in this country and Canada.

Holy Trinity Bulgarian Eastern Orthodox Church, the first and oldest Bulgarian Eastern Orthodox church in the United States, will be the host parish during Patriarch Maxim's three-day stay in the Madison-Springfield-St. Louis area Sept. 9-13.

In making the announcement today of the historic visit of His Holiness, Patriarch Maxim, the Reverend Peter Stamboldjev, pastor of Holy Trinity Bulgarian Eastern Orthodox Church, and John H. Londoff, church president, said the patriarch will arrive in the United States Sept. 1 and will preside at the annual diocesan convention of the American Bulgarian Eastern Orthodox Diocese of Akron, Ohio, prior to his arrival in St. Louis Sept. 9.

He will be accompanied by the Right Rev. Bishop Simeon, administrator of the Diocese of Akron, and five members of the Bulgarian Orthodox hierarchy.

On Sunday morning, Sept. 10, Patriarch Maxim will pontificate at divine services at Holy Trinity Bulgarian Eastern Orthodox Church, 1300 Grand Ave., Madison.

He will be assisted by Bishop Simeon, three metropolitans, and pastors of Orthodox churches in the bi-state area. Laymen and children from the Holy Trinity Church will welcome the patriarch with the traditional bread and salt.

On Sunday evening, Sept. 10, Patriarch Maxim will be guest of honor at a reception and dinner at the Chase Park Plaza Hotel to which civic and church dignitaries will be invited. Members of other orthodox churches in this area have been invited to attend the reception at 5 p.m., followed by a banquet at 6 o'clock.

On Monday, Sept. 11, he will visit St. Louis churches and historical landmarks.

On Tuesday, Sept. 10, the patriarch will visit the Shrine of Our Lady of the Snows in Belleville. That afternoon, he will visit Springfield, where he will meet Catholic Bishop Joseph McNicholas and members of the Illinois legislature.

Before leaving the Springfield area, the patriarch will place a wreath on the tomb of President Abraham Lincoln.

During his United States tour, Patriarch Maxim, who presides over Bulgarian Orthodox churches all over the world, will also visit Washington, D.C., Chicago, Detroit, Harrisburg, Pa., and New York City, metropolitan areas in which Bulgarian Orthodox parishes are located.

Patriarch Maxim was elected by the National Church Council of the Bulgarian Orthodox Church in 1971, succeeding His Holiness, Patriarch Kiril.

Born in 1914 in the village of Oreshak, he entered the seminary at an early age, graduating in 1935. After postgraduate studies at Sofia State University, during which he was ordained a priest, he was appointed teacher and mentor at Sofia Theological Seminary. In 1950, Maxim, by a decision of the Holy Synod, was appointed representative of the Bulgarian Orthodox Church to the Russian Orthodox Church.

He later served as general secretary of the Holy Synod of the Bulgarian Church. In 1956, he was ordained as Bishop of Brantisa. And in 1960, he was elected metropolitan of the Lovech Diocese.

In addition to many other duties associated with the church, he represented the church at the Fourth Assembly of the World Council of Churches at Upsala.

In announcing the patriarch's visit to this area, Rev. Stamboldjev said, "This is a historic occasion for Holy Trinity Bulgarian Eastern Orthodox Church — providing the opportunity for not only our parishioners but for members of other orthodox churches in this area to receive personal spiritual blessings from His Holiness."

Indecency is charged

James B. Goitz, 28, Edwardsville, was arrested by Madison County Sheriff's Deputy Harvey Haynes on Poag Road near Edwardsville at 5 a.m. yesterday and was charged with public indecency and disorderly conduct.

Deputies allege he is the man who was chased from a home in the 200 block of Angela Drive after allegedly looking in a window. A woman resident of that block saw a man looking in her window and called a neighbor who saw the man standing by a window at the woman's home.

Two neighbors chased the man to a car parked by the woman's home and the man made an attempt to get into the car, but saw the neighbors approaching him and fled on foot, eluding them.

A license check on the car led to police searching for an Edwardsville man, who was located riding a bicycle into Edwardsville one and one-half hours after the Angela Drive disturbance.

Police are attempting to determine who owns the bicycle the man was riding. It was described as a yellow 24-inch Huffy 10-speed with a black seat and a padlock under the seat.

Arrest at Ricco's II

Michael M. Judge, 20, St. Louis, was arrested at Ricco's II Lounge, 3675 Nameoki Road, at 12:50 a.m. Thursday and was charged with disorderly conduct.

Police were called to a disturbance in the lounge and arrived to find a security guard inside and then refused to leave, cursing the guard. When attempts to remove him began, the man allegedly picked up a beer bottle and threatened to hit the guard.

Force then was used to subdue the man, handcuff him and take him outside. Police alleged the young man gave them two fake names, neither of which matched an identification card in his wallet. He was identified when a young man came to the booking window and asked what his friend was charged with, using his name, police said.

MR. & MRS. DONALD R. PETRILLO, who were married at St. John Lutheran Church. The bride is the former Christine Ann Diak, daughter of Illinois State Police Sergeant and Mrs. Rudy Diak of Granite City. The groom's parents are City Treasurer and Mrs. Nick J. Petrillo, 2201 Monroe Ave.

Petrillo-Diak wedding at St. John Lutheran

Arrangements of summer blossoms in yellow and white, together with burning tapers in bridal candelabra on the altar, was the setting at St. John Lutheran Church for the wedding of Christine Ann Diak and Donald R. Petrillo, a Granite City police officer.

The 6 o'clock candlelight ceremony was performed by the Rev. Samuel Boda, pastor, on the evening of Aug. 19.

The bride is the daughter of Illinois State Police Sergeant and Mrs. Rudy Diak of Granite City.

Parents of the bridegroom are City Treasurer and Mrs. Nick J. Petrillo, 2201 Monroe Ave.

The white carpeted aisle was illuminated with candles and the pews were marked with greenery and satin bows.

Violinist Linda Reane presented a solo, "Meditation."

Mrs. Rogers Mefford sang "Heavenly Father," "O Perfect Love" and "The Lord's Prayer." She was accompanied at the organ by John Weller, cousin of the bride.

Callista Vissler served as honor attendant to the bride.

The bridesmaids were Kathy Drabka, Dottie Wiedowier and Marsha Diak, cousin of the bride, and Karen Plese, Esther Diak, the bride's sister, was the junior maid.

The groom chose his brother, Jerry Petrillo, as best man.

The groomsmen were Nick Petrillo, also a brother, Rick Ryan, Jerry Duncan, Dan Churovich and Rudy Diak, the bride's brother.

Kenny Cowan, a cousin of the bride, and Bob Malotki, the groom's cousin, served as ushers.

The bride chose a wedding gown of nylon organza, designed in princess style. The Queen Anne neckline was edged with Cluny lace appliques and Venice lace and the bishop sleeves were gathered into deep cuffs, banded in lace.

A front panel on the flowing skirt was detailed with rows of Cluny and Venice lace, with the trimming repeated at the back of her gown. A Cluny lace ruffle enhanced the full chapel train.

She wore a fingertip veil of bridal illusion, edged with delicate daisy motifs in lace and held in place by a Juliet cap of Venice lace daisies, interwoven with seed pearls.

She carried a cascade of white roses, baby breath and greenery, centerpieces with two white orchids and accented with white tulle and pearl beads.

The bridesmaid carried two white roses and accented with white tulle and pearl beads.

White Cluny lace encircled the waist and a deep flounce at the hemline was bordered with matching lace. A removable shawl trimmed in Cluny was worn over the shoulders.

The maid of honor was in a green frock and the bridesmaids in sunshine yellow.

They carried colonial nosegays of yellow sweetheart roses, miniature white carnations and baby breath.

'Dress for Success' show Sept. 16

Continuing extensive planning for the "Women Involved" program, scheduled Saturday, Sept. 16, at Granite City High School South cafeteria, Ruth Belleville, project coordinator, today announced details of a special fashion show segment arranged for the luncheon break.

"Women Involved" is being sponsored by the Granite City Business and Professional Women's Club for all area women, regardless of employment status.

Church Women United plan Oct. 3 workshop

Church Women United held a representatives luncheon Tuesday at St. John United Church of Christ, 2501 Nameoki Road, attended by 36 church representatives and Church Women United board members.

Following a salad luncheon, Church Women United President Marion Pierson opened the business meeting by calling on N. Henderson to give a presentation on the Church Women United sponsored decision-making workshop scheduled Oct. 3.

Posters and brochures giving information on the workshop were handed out to all church representatives to be distributed within their churches.

Ruth Todd gave a progress report on World Community Day which is to be celebrated on Nov. 3 at the Nameoki Presbyterian Church. The theme this year will be "Touchstones for Discipleship."

Bea Rittenhouse gave a short report on her project, Meals on Wheels.

Dolores Vogeler, chairwoman of the Church Women United project, Friends in Learning, explained the need for more volunteers for tutoring. Volunteers of this program are asked to spend one hour a week, any day Monday through Friday, from 3 to 4 p.m., tutoring children at Washington School.

Washington School is the only school serviced by this project as there are not enough volunteers to cover any other school.

Moose women plan events

Plans for a pillow case social to be held Sept. 10 and a chili supper on Sept. 23 were announced during a meeting last week of the Granite City Chapter 247, Women of the Moose, at the Moose Home.

Senior Regent Sara Gusewelle presided over the meeting.

Loretta Miller reported on plans for the pillowcase social which will be held beginning at 2 p.m. on Sept. 10 at the Moose Home. She announced that she or any co-worker will have tickets available.

Lena Seitzer reported on the chili supper which will be held from 3 to 7 p.m. on Sept. 23, also at the Moose Home. The event will be open to the public and tickets are available from the chairman and her co-workers.

Two candidates were voted into the Granite City chapter. They are Mrs. Janet Pembie, sponsored by Mrs. Gusewelle, and Mrs. Virian Lee Harp, sponsored by Mrs. Mildred Votoupol. They are to be accepted into membership at the Publicity Chapter Night on Wednesday, Sept. 13, at 8 p.m., it was announced.

Thirty-one co-workers participated in the meeting which was featured by a "crazy auction" given by Star Recorder Chairman Mildred Votoupol with Mrs. Frances Polley as the auctioneer.

Beta Gamma opens new season

Preceptor Beta Gamma Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi observed "beginning day" this week at a meeting at the home of the chapter president, May Ebling.

Committee chairmen presented their portions of the yearbook and Mrs. Arlene Haldeman outlined the social calendar and commented on the socials enjoyed during the summer.

Delores Dortch reviewed publicity, reported on ways and means, appointed hostesses and assigned programs for the coming year.

Dillard Misselthorns parents of 2nd son

Mr. and Mrs. Dillard Ray Misselthorn, 113 W. Locust, Columbia, Ill., became parents of a son, born Aug. 22 at Memorial Hospital in Belleville.

The father is a former Granite City resident. The paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Albert Misselthorn, 2909 Grand Ave.

The infant weighed seven pounds, two ounces.

He has been named Matthew Albert, and has a brother, Darrell Ray, 17 months old.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Browne of Belleville are the maternal grandparents. Mrs. Emma Wohlman of Campbell Hill, Ill., is the great-grandmother.

Mrs. Misselthorn is the former Agnes Brown of Columbia.

Program to curb bad checks

Nicholas G. Byron, Madison County states attorney, has instituted a program to curb the passing of "non-sufficient funds" checks, which is proving effective and has been installed in several surrounding counties. A form is furnished by his office to be filled in by the recipient of bad checks, giving the name and address of the checkmaker, to be filled out and signed by the complainant. Following that, the states attorney's office sends a letter to the checkmaker telling him this is a purported deceptive practice, and, if intentionally done for the purpose of defrauding, it is in violation of Illinois criminal law. The check signer also is advised that possible criminal proceedings could be instituted against him in the near future. The states attorney's office must have the cooperation of merchants who are victims of non-sufficient funds checks. If normal attempts to collect on bad checks fail, victims may contact the states attorney's office at 1-492-4550, or write to 105 Purcell St., third floor, Edwardsville, Ill. 62025. Forms will be mailed for a follow-up.

Telecommunications legislation opposed

Members of the Illinois Telephone Association (ITA) have "very grave concerns" regarding federal pre-emption of state jurisdiction over local telecommunications policy as outlined in the proposed Communications Act of 1978. ITA President Dwight E. Zimmerman says. The ITA is also concerned with several other issues in connection with the bill. "The Communications Act of 1978 is a complete rewrite of existing legislation which has regulated telephone companies, radio and TV stations, and related businesses for nearly 50 years," he asserts. Speaking before the House Subcommittee on Communications and Consumer Protection, Zimmerman said that the interests of the consumer and the nation can best be served by a proper balance of state and federal regulation. "We believe that telecommunications service in Illinois is second to none," Zimmerman said. "We have achieved this position through the joint efforts of all of the telephone companies, the Illinois Commerce Commission, as well as consumer participation in the state regulatory process. The same position cannot be maintained with the degree of federal pre-emption currently proposed in the Communications Act of 1978." Among other concerns of ITA members, according to Zimmerman, is whether or not telephone companies will be permitted to compete on truly equal terms with nonregulated companies under the proposed bill. "Of even greater importance is the issue of universal service. As permitted under the bill, may result in the elimination of the telephone industry's universal service concept—providing the best telephone service possible at the lowest practicable cost," Zimmerman said. "The ITA suggests that the proposed bill be amended to provide for a balance that will permit competition—continues to ensure the 'end-to-end' quality of the telecommunications network."

In addition, Zimmerman said that the proposed legislation must be rewritten to include a clear-cut "public interest" policy—one that assures customers of good telephone service at the lowest possible cost regardless of what might develop under the theoretical competitive market. "The Communications Act of 1978 must be based on more than nice-sounding theories," he added.

Another area of concern for the ITA is maintenance of the country's telecommunications switching network under the proposed bill. "Our member companies provide both intra- and interstate toll services," said Zimmerman. "We seriously question whether or not the same high-quality network can be maintained at a similar cost with a mix of specialized carriers regulated, private companies providing only certain services and public telephone utilities."

"The committee should take a hard look at the national and public interests involved prior to enacting legislation affecting this network. The final issue of concern to the Illinois association centers around the Universal Service Compensation Fund, which would be established to ensure affordable telephone service for home telephone users anywhere in the U.S."

"The fund would be financed by fees levied on telephone companies using telephone network facilities, and would be administered by a federal 'Communications Regulatory Commission.'"

"We can see no sound justification for such a federally-administered fund," Zimmerman said. "In view of the vast sums of money involved, and the inherent powers associated with it, the fund represents a form of nationalization of the telephone industry."

"We strongly urge the subcommittee to keep revenue settlement procedures within the industry, with proper regulatory review and approval of those procedures."

As president of the ITA, Zimmerman is one of many witnesses who have given testimony before the House Subcommittee on Communications concerning the Communications Act rewrite in recent weeks.

The ITA represents 60 telephone companies that serve approximately 9.5 million telephones in Illinois. Zimmerman is vice president-revenue requirements of General Telephone Co. of Illinois, a member of the association.

Following the subcommittee hearings, the bill must be debated and considered for action by the U.S. House of Representatives. It would then be sent to the Senate and, if approved there, signed into law or vetoed by the president.

TEN NURSING STUDENTS HONORED IN CEREMONIES Capping and pinning ceremonies for student nurses completing their course of studies during the summer quarter at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville were held during the weekend in the Lovjoy Library auditorium. Ten students were honored at the ceremonies, sponsored by the SIUE Student Nurses Association.

Lois Cady, assistant dean in the School of Nursing, was keynote speaker for the event. Betty Temples capped the students, while Linda Lillis was in charge of pinning the graduates. Both women are instructors in the School of Nursing. The students will receive bachelor of science degrees in nursing from the university.

Progress in Cloverleaf cleanup

Nameoki Township is making considerable progress in cleaning up the Cloverleaf Addition. Township Supervisor Harold Davis told the Nameoki Town Board of Trustees at its regular meeting Monday night. Davis reported four vacant buildings in the subdivision have been condemned, the county is investigating ownership of two others and a railroad has agreed to investigate one complaint. Abandoned cars in the area have been tagged to be towed if the owners do not move them, Davis noted.

He also reported one property owner has indicated he may donate a lot to the township for a park if the township is interested.

Davis also reported progress in State Park Place improvement programs, including a new park for which three lots have been purchased. The deed and the title insurance papers were received last week by the township, it was noted.

Irvin C. Slate Jr., township attorney, reported the county's Community Development office has agreed to pay the $75 for the park's title search and $5 for title insurance from CD grant funds.

It was noted the park is in an area the county has classified as a flood hazard area and flood insurance probably will be required if the township decides at a later date to construct a building on it.

A severe problem with flies from Fairmount Park moving into State Park is being resolved as township employees, Manpower workers and volunteers from the State Park Fire Department have sprayed chemicals in some areas to kill the flies. A chemical recommended by the state was unavailable, but a substitute chemical has been used, it was related. Trustee Norman Hessler suggested the board consider accepting bids for construction of a diversion canal in an area where flies may breed. Manpower workers currently are cleaning the ditch to improve drainage.

Minutes from a meeting of the trustees of the inactive State Park volunteer police unit were read which indicated the title for the former police car has been turned over to the State Park Volunteer Fire Department and all uniforms and equipment have been turned over to the Nameoki volunteer police unit.

The volunteer unit was split by political differences and was unable to coordinate sufficient fund-raising events to pay insurance and other expenses necessary to keep the squad car in operation.

A permit was received from the Metro-East Sanitary District which will allow the township to make improvements in drainage on Old Edwardsville Road at Elm Slough where an old tank car, open at both ends, is being used for a culvert.

The township hopes to install culverts, a ditch and necessary levees so the area will drain properly.

The board approved payment of a $6 registration fee for any township official wishing to attend a state seminar Sept. 15 in O'Fallon. Speakers from several state agencies, including Public Aid, the Department of Local Government Affairs and others, will discuss a variety of subjects of interest to township officials, it was reported.

Bills approved for payment included $23,712 from the township, which includes repayment of a $20,000 tax anticipation warrant. Others paid included $1,585 from the revenue sharing fund, $675 from the anti-recession fiscal assistance fund, $6,418 from municipal retirement, $29,253 from the road and bridge fund, $13,000 from the special hard road fund and $110 from general assistance.

GOOD DEED by members of Boy Scout Troop 146 sponsored by Hope Lutheran Church included picking up 78 bags of trash on Pontoon Road. The Scouts were rewarded with hamburgers and soda from McDonalds.

Handicapped group now in 15th year

Victim Missionaries, a spiritual movement by and for the handicapped and the chronically ill, will hold a "day of renewal" at the National Shrine of Our Lady of the Snows Saturday, starting with a 10:30 a.m. liturgy in Christ the King Chapel.

The Rev. John Maronic, OMI, founder of the Victim Missionaries, will be celebrant for the Mass and will speak on the theme, "Gratitude." The site is at 900 W. Ill. Rt. 15.

Fr. Maronic observed the 30th anniversary of his ordination as a priest on Aug. 14. Originally from International Falls, Minn., he founded the V-M's in 1964 with a group of six handicapped people. Today, they number 6,000 and have established chapters throughout the country.

Communication between the chapters is facilitated through the publication, "Uplift," six times a year. It contains information on activities and programs of the chapters. Fr. Maronic writes a featured column that "unites the V-M's in thought and spirit."

Regarding his work with the Victim Missionaries, Fr. Maronic reflects: "It is now 15 years that I have been working and sharing with these wonderful people, and what an education it has been!"

"I have learned they are not just cripples," but a people radiating with a deep spirit of trust and love. They have inspired me with many profound lessons."

REV. JOHN MARONIC

Greg Terrell on honors list

Billy Gregory Terrell, 31 Oaklawn Drive, Granite City, is among the students being recognized for outstanding classwork at the University of Missouri-Columbia. A junior, he is studying journalism.

A son of Mr. and Mrs. Billy H. Terrell, he is one of those named by campus divisions that designate honor rolls or dean's lists.

Honor lists vary somewhat among the divisions, but students must have earned high grade averages in courses taken during the past semester. Some divisions have designated the honor on the basis of both single semester and overall grade performance.

Arrested on assault charge

Darrell D. Vaughn, 46, of 2604 Poplar Ave., surrendered to Granite City police 2:45 p.m. Tuesday and was served a warrant alleging aggravated assault.

He alleged that Vaughn held a blackjack and threatened Pontoon Beach Patrolman Jerry Conner with it Aug. 21 at Nix-dringhaus and Madison avenues.

Conner reported a black car forced his vehicle to the curb at 18th and State streets moments earlier and Conner drove beside the black car on Nix-dringhaus Avenue and warned the driver to be more careful.

The driver then got out of his car with a blackjack and approached Conner, discharging warnings that Conner was a police officer, it was alleged. Conner got into his car and drove to the Granite City police station and the man drove east on Washington Avenue.

TED EASTER AND LEROY HILL

By PAT FOLEY

Press-Record Staff Writer
Have you ever had the urge or desire to hop on a bicycle and pedal through the United States just to see what there is to see?

That's what Ted Easter, 72, and his nephew, Leroy Hill, 56, thought about back in 1974. Tuesday, they pulled in the KOA campgrounds off of West Chain of Rocks Road near Route 3 during their third such excursion through the country.

They began their trip this year in Pismo Beach, Calif., where both men live. Their destination this time is New Orleans where they'll take a train back to their homes. They started on May 1 and have since gone through eight states.

Their ultimate goal now is to visit all 48 states and all of the provinces of Canada before 1982.

In 1974 the two set out northward to Oregon, Washington, the Canadian provinces of British Columbia and Alberta, then back to the U.S. through Montana and Idaho, logging 5,800 miles.

Each pulls a small cart-like two-wheeled "bugger" made of aluminum framing and covered with waterproof nylon. The carts don't add any weight to the ten-speed bicycles and carry all of their gear, including a tent and sleeping bag for each, food and all of the kitchen utensils and other necessities. In 1976 the two again set out on a longer trek of 6,600 miles which started in California and went as far north as Ontario, Canada, to the south to Atlantic seaboard.

This trip included 25 states and also the longest this far. They estimate the present trip will run about 5,000 miles.

Their next stop when they resume their peddling after Labor Day weekend will be Perryville, Mo., which is about 35 miles west of Carbondale. The duo will stay on the Illinois side of the Mississippi River to a point east of St. Genevieve where they will take a ferry to the Missouri side, then on to Perryville.

Easter said that they don't want to travel during the holiday weekend because "there's no percentage in it," meaning that it is too much of a risk to pedal on narrow, shoulderless highways and roads when there will be so much traffic.

They average about 30 to 70 miles per day, depending on the local terrain and if there is something they really want to see in the area.

Their best single-day mileage to date was in South Dakota while peddling from Rapid City to the Badlands. They logged 79 miles. To add to that they traveled for 30 of those miles on dirt roads.

They have been lucky during their trips they say, as the only trouble they have ever had has been an occasional flat tire, but nothing else.

Easter said that they have seen waterfalls and other things along the roads and highways that few campers or travelers ever see because their bicycles give them access to areas that are impossible to get to with cars and trailers.

They said that one of the hardest things about going back home to Pismo Beach is having to get used to the "doctored up" water. They said that of all the places they have traveled, Southern California has some of the worst water in the nation.

They already have plans for next year's trip which will take them to Alaska. They won't be peddling all the way there but they do expect to pedal for several hundred miles on the Alaskan Highway.

After the Alaska trip they'll have only eight more states to visit and seven more Canadian provinces and two territories to reach their goal by 1982.

Petrillo, Rev. Crippen and Portell active

Nick Petrillo, Granite City city treasurer, Lionell Portell, Granite City superintendent of streets and the Rev. Henry Crippen, Word of Life Tabernacle pastor, have been appointed to leadership positions in the Public Service and Clergy United Way solicitation division for 1979 by Division Chairman Fred P. Schuman Jr. of Grigsby Junior High School.

"This Tri-Cities Area United Way campaign division consisting of public service employees, private community service agency employees and clergy has enjoyed significant growth due to many generous givers, especially school teachers and other staff members, plus the rising support through the AFL-CIO Labor Participation Committee's efforts, including union office staff member giving," UW General Campaign Chairman William P. Donovan, works manager, American Steel Foundries, said.

"If this division continues to grow at last year's rate, we will surely have the success vital to continuing and upgrading the needed services provided by generous contributions to the local United Way," Donovan concluded the announcement.

Camelot prospect cards due Sept. 15

Members of the Granite City Rotary and Optimist Clubs are being reminded by their club presidents, Drew Karandeff and Alan Walker, respectively, that on Friday, Sept. 15, all Camelot Auction prospect cards must be turned in. The Camelot Auction is an annual charity event held jointly by the two service clubs to raise funds for local charitable and service activity. The event is scheduled for Saturday evening, Oct. 7, at the Sunset Hills Country Club.

Car hits house, parked truck

Billy Johnson, 25, of 2805 Dale Ave., who also listed an address in Kirkpatrick Homes, was charged with reckless conduct, leaving the scene of an accident and not having license plates on his car after a series of incidents near downtown Granite City at 10:50 p.m. Wednesday. Johnson said he, Cindy Muller, 23, of 2256 Washington Ave., and Charles Spink, 20, of 3505 Kirkpatrick Homes, were in Johnson's auto, eastbound on Niedringhaus Avenue at Edison Avenue, when a brown Chrysler approached and three occupants in the brown car yelled at Johnson and then fired a gun at his car.

Johnson said he thinks five shots were fired. He told police he turned off his car's headlights and sped from the scene to try and lose his assailants.

Sherry Feyen, 2340 E. 24th St., said she was getting out of her car in the middle of the 1700 block of Edison Avenue when a car matching the description of Johnson's came down the street at a high rate of speed and in a reckless manner and nearly struck her.

The auto attempted a right turn onto 17th Street, swung wide into the lawn of Larry Brandon, 1443 Edison Ave., and then struck the house, damaging the siding, it was reported by police.

It then left the scene west on 17th Street and struck the parked truck of John Kampman, 1701 Edison Ave., parked by the alley, according to police. The vehicle then went into the alley and was abandoned behind 1725 Edison Ave.

The occupants left the area on foot and later Johnson went to the police station to report the series of incidents. He was charged and was released on a notice to appear in court.

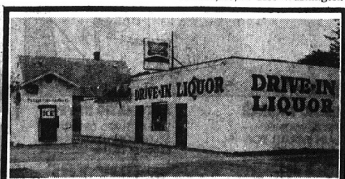

Truck looted

A parked tractor-trailer of Max Fletcher, 4019 Braden Ave., was damaged and looted while parked in the Gateway Materials lot near Fletcher's home between 5 p.m. Monday and 1:50 p.m. Tuesday.

A wing vent was pried to gain entry after attempts to pry the door were unsuccessful. There was damage to the door.

A $200 stereo was pried from the dashboard, causing considerable damage to the dashboard and wiring. A $150 CB radio also was removed from the ceiling of the cab. The interior of the truck cab was ransacked and the batteries were damaged with terminals broken off.

Some legislators are active 'horn tooters'—many are not

By ROBERT ESTILL
Press-Record
Washington Bureau

Ever wonder why some Illinois congressmen seem to be constantly popping up in the news and others seem to have crawled into a cave to hibernate?

It is not because they lack the wind or instrumentation for tooting their own horns.

Taxpayers provide all of the congressmen with ample means to bid for a share of the public's attention. They have press secretaries to help them put their best foot forward or keep it out of their mouth, as the case may be.

They have access to Capitol Hill studios where they can prepare radio and television programs for public consumption at the public's expense. But not all play the game well. And some do not even try.

The amount of publicity a congressman chooses for is largely a matter of position, personality or political need.

Sen. Adlai Stevenson, D-Ill., has the position. As chairman of the Senate Ethics Committee, he has an excellent vehicle for getting his name into the headlines. But Stevenson, meditative and cautious by nature, has not capitalized on it.

While Sen. Stevenson's office rarely issues news releases, a steady flow emanates from the office of his Republican counterpart, Charles Percy.

Sen. Percy, of course, has a greater need — since he is up for re-election in November. But even in non-election years, Percy is more outgoing and has a greater craving for publicity than Stevenson.

Position is no less important among Illinois House members.

As House minority whip, Peoria Republican Robert Michel is the number two House Republican; and the news media turns to the always amiable Michel for his opinion on a wide variety of issues.

Rep. John B. Anderson, R-Rockford, gets his fair share of the limelight from the national press for at least two reasons.

As GOP conference chairman, he is the third-ranking House Republican. At least equally important is that he is recognized as an articulate voice for the moderate wing of the GOP.

Even before he announced as a presidential candidate, Rep. Philip Crane, R-Mount Prospect, was regarded as quotable.

Crane's credentials as a critic of big government spending stem not so much from his membership on the tax-writing Ways and Means Committee but from his role as chairman of the American Conservative Union.

Many rank-and-file members are captives of the committee system and get little attention outside of issues before their committee.

Most congressmen are so preoccupied with what is going on with their own committee or subcommittees they have little time to become expert mouthpieces on other issues.

And they usually have little real influence on a bill unless it is before their committee.

More than 19,000 bills and resolutions have been sent to the 12 House committees since this congress convened in January 1977.

Although many of the bills are duplicative and less than newsworthy, the committee workloads can occupy much of a congressman's attention.

Take Rep. John Erlenborn, R-Glen Ellyn, for example. He serves on the Education and Labor Committee, which has had more than a thousand bills and resolutions referred to it, and Government Operations, which has received more than 400 bills and resolutions.

When his committee was tackling the controversial subject of labor "reform," Erlenborn made news as a primary opponent of a bill making it easier for unions to organize. It was of particular interest in his business-oriented DuPage County district.

But when his committee tackles less jazzy subjects, such as the mechanics of government reorganization, he gets little press.

Rep. Robert McClory, R-Lake Bluff, is another good example. He is the ranking Republican on the House Judiciary Committee, which has had more than 2,800 bills and resolutions referred to it.

McClory was a newsmaker when his committee was debating extending the deadline for Equal Rights Amendment ratification, a subject of wide interest.

But other committee issues dear to McClory's heart, such as procedures governing electronic surveillance of foreign agents, do not evoke similar interest among his Northern Illinois constituents.

A few congressmen do manage to go beyond their committees in attracting public attention. Reps. Paul Findley, R-Pittsfield, and Paul Simon, D-Carbondale, are among them.

Both are former newspaper publishers and have an insider's edge on how to "get ink" in the hometown papers.

Findley certainly tries harder for coverage than most Illinois congressmen. His office issues enough press releases in a year's time to fill up a newspaper.

At the other end of the spectrum is Rep. Edward Madigan, R-Lincoln.

The quiet soft-spoken Madigan rarely issues news releases or tries to sell reporters on the news value of his every effort.

(Congressman Melvin Price of the 23rd Illinois District dean of the Illinois delegation in Congress, cannot help being a newsmaker, as chairman of the House Armed Services Committee and a member and past chairman of the Joint House-Senate Committee on Atomic Energy.)

(A busy and vigorous elder statesman on Capitol Hill, Price, also a former newspaperman, does not go out of his way to get his name in the newspapers.)

(But he is known well throughout Madison and St. Clair counties, and traditionally rolls up an overwhelming election victory — buoyed by the backing of many thousands whom he has had an opportunity to help in one way or another since entering Congress in 1944.)

Radio Shack plans 50 computer stores

Plans to open 50 computer sales and service stores in 1979-79 were announced by Lewis Kornfield, president of Tandy Corporation's Radio Shack division.

"While some will be located within new or existing Radio Shack stores, most will be separate entities and all are expected to be in major markets," he said.

"They will be called Radio Shack Computer Centers, and their purpose," according to Kornfield, "will be to assist area Radio Shack stores in answering computer questions and closing sales, and to develop quantity sales, principally of Radio Shack TRS-80 Microcomputer Systems and peripheral equipment, to businesses and institutions."

ROUTE 203 CRASH
Gwendolyn Smith, 31, East St. Louis, was injured when her car, turning from Route 203 onto Harrison Street, was struck from behind by the tractor-trailer of Allen Colgrove, 67, Dell, Neb., last week. Colgrove was charged with failure to reduce speed to avoid an accident. Mrs. Smith was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital for treatment.

DENNIS LEE HAND

Completes Navy basic training

Dennis Lee Hand, 17, has completed basic training at the Great Lakes Naval Training Center and is home briefly on leave.

He is the son of Mrs. Joyce Hand, 1312 Washington Ave., Madison, and the grandson of the late Granite City mayor and alderman, Charles W. Moerlen. Hand will report to Norfolk, Va., for 10 weeks training as an ocean systems technician, as he will learn to collect sound data from the ocean depths.

He attended Granite City High School South.

Surplus and debt increase

State Comptroller Michael J. Bakalis says in his monthly fiscal report that the state's general funds surplus expanded greatly during July.

The general funds available balance on July 31 was $256 million, after having reached $322 million a week earlier. The later balance was the highest in almost three years, since Aug. 18, 1975.

The available balance increases of $170 million since the end of June was caused primarily by late receipt of about $25 million in federal reimbursements which normally would have been received in fiscal 1978, a healthy growth of state tax revenues during July, with an overall increase of 14 percent above the July 1977 level, and a $15 million reduction in general funds expenditures below July 1977 spending," said Bakalis.

The reduction in expenditures was largely the result of a continuation of the 28-month decline in Aid to Families with Dependent Children cases and a slowdown in expenditures that had been accelerated by the administration during fiscal 1978.

The report indicates that total general funds appropriation by the General Assembly exceeded the budget by $61 million. Governor James Thompson subsequently approved $37 million of this increase, or 60 percent.

State indebtedness continues to expand rapidly. General obligation debt per person in Illinois has increased from $59 per person in fiscal 1972 to over $302 per person in fiscal 1978, a 412 percent increase in six years.

Venice school advisory panel plans meeting

The Venice Title I and Title VII Districtwide Advisory Council will meet on Thursday, Sept. 7, at 1 p.m. in the Title VII Office.

Mrs. Charlotte Dilday and Mrs. Verla Arnold, co-chairmen, said the members will complete closed reports for the Basic and Pilot Project Micro for 1977-78.

Status of the programs for 1978-79 will be discussed as information is disseminated through Health-Education-Welfare officials in Washington. Members are Mr. and Mrs. Herman Smith, Sister Barbara, Mrs. Sallie Blakely, Mrs. Dilday, Mrs. Arnold, Mrs. Bettie Green.

Joe Willie Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Salmund, Mrs. Rosie Mathis, Mrs. Charlotte Bilbrey, Mrs. Jessie Harmon, Mrs. Linda Hayden, Mrs. Beatrice Wigfall, Mrs. Caroline Malherbe, Mrs. Lillian Mangiaracino, John Boushard, Mrs. Velma Bradley, Mrs. Catherine McIntyre, Mrs. Dorothy Griggs, Gussie Glasper, Tami Boushard and Barbara Matkins.

Picnic starts season for Nu Zeta

For the third consecutive year, Nu Zeta members and their families celebrated "Beginning Day" with a picnic in Wilson Park.

The event, taking place this week, was the opening activity of the new 1978-79 season for the Beta Sigma Phi Sorority chapter.

A covered dish luncheon was served and most of the day was spent playing games, arranged for both adults and youngsters. Mrs. Cheryl Barton, Nu Zeta president, conducted a short business session. She announced the first formal meeting will be held Tuesday, Sept. 5, at her home, 2812 Saratoga Ave.

Yearbooks were distributed by Rhonda Dooley, and plans were made to attend a Cardinal baseball game, Sept. 23, when a portion of the ticket funds will be donated to Shriner's Hospital for Crippled Children.

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Lee (Betty) Thomas and Cheryl, Mr. and Mrs. Bill (Cheryl) Barton and Meisha, Mrs. Marcie Johnson and Julie, Mrs. Lynette Cook and Rhonda, Mr. and Mrs. Gary (Rhonda) Dooley and Chad, Mr. and Mrs. Tom (Margie) Williams and Stacey and Christie, Mr. and Mrs. Don (Leona) Macek and Tim and Jeff, Mr. and Mrs. Norman (Carol) Moerlein, Mr. and Mrs. Tom (Debbie) Brown and Scott and Ben Ingram, Mrs. Brown's brother.

MRS. RASH HONORED AT FAMILY REUNION
Mrs. Lena Rash of Madison was honored on her birthday at a family reunion held at the home of Robert and Maureen Graves at Oakland, Mo. Mrs. Graves is a granddaughter of Mrs. Rash.

Attending from this area, in addition to Mrs. Rash, were Travis and Erma Rash, and Judy and Richard Rash of Granite City and Doris and Burley Beville of Madison.

Others from many points in Illinois and Missouri and from California, Nevada, Oklahoma and Arizona attended the event.

Wedding Plans

Engagement and wedding information questionnaires are available at the Press-Record office, 1815 Delmar Ave., and will be mailed upon request. Wedding forms are to be completed and returned to the society department two weeks prior to the wedding.

Bride's photo should accompany information but the story will be held for photo if available within a reasonable time after the wedding. Note-black and white photos are preferred for publication.

Progress by women workers

The progress women of many nations are making in achieving greater opportunity and equality in the working world is described in a new publication, "The One World of Working Women," by Anne H. Nelson of Cornell University. It is the first in a series of occasional monographs in which the U.S. Labor Department will report on labor conditions in other countries pertinent to developments in the U.S.

Through the series, the department hopes to stimulate discussion, encourage further study and provide policymakers inside and out of the government with information and analyses.

In her monograph, Anne Nelson reports that working women around the world have found they have much in common. She indicates that the same kinds of discrimination exist in both developing and industrial nations.

Working women in both have "the same practical needs to ease their burdened lives: housekeeping equipment, child care, jobs that (can) be fitted around their family schedules, and the chance to train for upgrading."

Among the issues she discusses are wage disparities between men and women, the desire for more women in decision-making posts, equal pay for work of equal value, litigation as a tool for correction of employment discrimination, the unique Swedish approach to women's equality, and the necessity for more extensive child care facilities to attract married women into the labor market.

She also assesses progress made by international organizations and trade unions in promoting equality of opportunity for women. She reports a need for women workers in every country to form networks through which they can provide help to one another and develop a political base.

The author concludes that government policies will need to respond to a new consensus for changes in women's roles because "there is no doubt that women are no longer satisfied with their traditional roles" and "a massive social revolution is under way."

Harmony class names officers

Devotional leader Cleveland Cox spoke on the "Idea of Positive Thinking" at a meeting of the Harmony Class of Niedringhaus Methodist Church, held in Wesley Hall of the church.

The topic was from Dr. Charles L. Allen's book, "When the Heart is Hungry."

The business session was conducted by President Homer Huber and the opening prayer was given by Ruby Corbett.

The following officers were elected for the coming year: president, Homer Huber; vice-president, Fred Hacke Sr.; recording secretary, Edna Stich; corresponding secretary, Fern Jahn; treasurer, Cleveland Cox; Sunday attendance secretary, Waldo Frohardt; teacher, Fred Stich; assistant teacher, Harold Lynn; and pianist, Maxene Hacke.

Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Compton were hosts to the class for the August meeting, with Mrs. Charles Heimers assisting. During the social hour, refreshments were served, including a decorated birthday cake honoring Charles Reimers and Edna Stich, who celebrated their birthday in the past week.

Members and guests present were: Mrs. Ruby Corbett, Mrs. Alice Cruise, Mrs. Katharyn Richardson, Mrs. Golda Boyle, Mrs. Dora Youngs.

Mrs. Ruth Purkey, Mr. and Mrs. John Lerch, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stich, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Myers, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Potillo, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Heimers, Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland Cox, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Paddock, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lynn, Mr. and Mrs. Milford Hahn, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Huber, Mr. and Mrs. Waldo Frohardt, Fred Hacke Sr., Paul Martin, and the Rev. William Mathae.

Ballentines are honored Honored on their 37th wedding anniversary at the Barn Dinner Theater, St. Louis, were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ballentine Sr., 161 Third St., Madison.

Hostess to them at the dinner and show was their daughter, Mary Ann. Guests of the Ballentines were Mr. and Mrs. Edward Nasaroad.

LEARNING THE ROPES at Camp Sunnen. Genia Forshee, RN, left, associate adviser of Explorer Post 1678, sponsored by St. Elizabeth Hospital, listens carefully to Brook Gore of Troy, a cliff rappelling instructor. The action took place at Boy Scout Camp Sunnen where several Explorer Posts gathered and the activities featured everything from rock rappelling and cave exploring to Friday night movie "Gum Ball Rally" and a "Saturday Night Fever" disco dance. The event was sponsored by the Cahokia Mound Council Explorer Presidents Association.

GRANITE CITY PRESS-RECORD Thurs., August 31, 1978 Page 22

TO MARRY. Miss Paula Sue Niebur and her fiancé, John Edward Koski of Caseyville. Their engagement and forthcoming marriage are being announced by the bride-to-be's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul R. Niebur, 14 Miami Court.

Paula Niebur to wed in January

Mr. and Mrs. Paul R. (Mary E.) Niebur, 14 Miami Court, are announcing the betrothal and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Paula Sue Niebur and John Edward Koski of Caseyville.

Plans are being made for a January 19 wedding at St. Elizabeth Catholic Church.

The bridegroom-elect is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph (Dolores M.) Koski, 21 South Drive, Caseyville.

Prior to graduating in 1976 from Granite City High School South, Miss Niebur was active in many school functions. She was a cheerleader, appeared in Who's Who Among America's High School Students and won honors as an Illinois State Scholar.

She attended Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. Currently, she is employed as receptionist at the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce and attends evening classes at Belleville Area College.

The prospective groom is a farmer in the Madison and Alton areas. He graduated from Collinsville High School in 1975 and attended Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Ladies-in-Action plan new circle

A new circle is planned at Belvidere Pentecostal Church, with some members quilting and others making peanut brittle and other homemade candies.

The idea was discussed at Monday night's meeting of Ladies-in-Action at the church. The new circle will meet each Wednesday at 10 a.m. for a prayer meeting, followed by quilting or candy making. A covered dish luncheon at the noon hour also is scheduled.

Mrs. Omie Farless gave the opening prayer and a report of previous meetings was presented by Mrs. Bonnie Davis.

Mrs. Wanda Watson, president, was in charge. She announced the church is purchasing a mimeograph machine for use in the Sunday school program and by the women's groups.

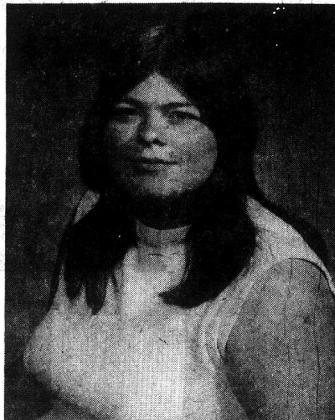

Raising one's self esteem was the topic of Mrs. Janice Gibson of the Church of God, who was guest speaker for the program. She illustrated her talk with quotations from Romans 12:3 and Philippians 4:3.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Barbara Blanton and Mrs. Rose Pinkston.

A special gift and a flower arrangement were given to Mrs. Blanche Haynes, wife of the pastor. A prize was awarded to Mrs. Farless.

Welcomed by Mrs. Watson were three guests, Mrs. Pat Lewis, Mrs. Louise McClain and Mrs. Betty Fort.

Members attending were Mesdames Opal Orrell, Dorothy Smith, Bertha C. V., Dorothy Lakin, Vida Murphy, Barbara Lott, Dorothy Dickerson, Tiny Cook and those previously named.

MISS DONNA KAHN the fiancée of Nicholas L. Harper, 3905 Village Lane. Their betrothal and approaching wedding are being announced by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Kahn, 2800 Sunset Drive. A December wedding is planned.

Harper-Kahn betrothal told

At a dinner party given by friends, Mr. and Mrs. Donald (Dolores) Kahn, 2800 Sunset Drive, announced the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Donna J. Kahn and Nicholas L. Harper, 3905 Village Lane.

The betrothal dinner was hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Lester (Karen) Thompson, at their home in Granite City.

The prospective groom is the son of Mrs. Rose Harper of Waterloo, Ill., and the late Richard Harper Sr.

The newly engaged couple and their families are making preparations for a December 1 wedding.

Miss Kahn is a 1973 graduate of Granite City High School South and a certified graduate of the Illinois Business and Technical School.

Her fiancé attended Granite City High School South and Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. He is employed at Sullivan Package Liquor, Edwardsville.

The groom-elect also holds the rank of sergeant in the Illinois National Guard.

Xi Epsilon Chi starts new season

A "Beginning Day" event to start the new season was held this week for members of Xi Epsilon Chi Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi Society, at the home of Barbara Henie, 3708 Joyce Ave.

Joan Pritchard, vice president, was in charge and announced a Beta Sigma Phi City Council meeting is scheduled at 7:30 p.m. Sept. 6, at St. John United Church of Christ.

A covered dish dinner preceded the business session. New yearbooks were distributed and social activities held during the summer months were reviewed.

The chapter arranged an outing for several couples on the Admiral in June, and a family picnic July 23 at the Nutwood cottage of Mr. and Mrs. Bud (Carol) Cathey.

As a ways and means project, members also sold tickets at the William Park Fourth of July festival, it was reported.

Treasurer Jan Monaghan gave a financial report and Linda Koenig, program chairman, outlined the Exemplar Original program series plan for presentation in the 1978-79 chapter year.

Others present were Barbara J. Jones, Marilyn Lumpkins, Cookie Smith, Vicki Thomas, Phyllis Kubelka, Cathy Farnbach, Judy Haven and Carol Cathey.

Several children also were guests at the potluck dinner.

SIGHTLESS SUNDAY AT NATIONAL SHRINE

Annually, Radio Information Service invites its listeners to participate in "Sightless Sunday" at the National Shrine of Our Lady of the Snows, 9500 W. Ill. Rt. 15. The 10 and 11:30 a.m. liturgies this Sunday, Sept. 3, will be specially prepared for the blind and handicapped, although the general public also is encouraged to attend.

Participants, various RIS listeners throughout the area, will deliver the readings from Braille transcripts and carry gifts to form the offertory procession. Fr. Boni Wittenbrink, OMI, executive director of RIS, will be the homilist for the two liturgies. Radio Information Service closed-circuit entertainment and informational programming is non-commercial, non-profit and non-sectarian.

Mr., Mrs. Francis Hawk mark 50th anniversary

Francis A. "Barney" Hawk and his wife, Mrs. Elsie M. Hawk, will celebrate the 50th anniversary of their marriage at an open house Sunday, Sept. 3.

Between the two, they have accrued a total of 83 years service at Granite City Steel. Both are now retired.

The anniversary observance will take place at the Hawk residence, 3131 Princeton Drive, from 2 p.m. to 6 p.m. Sunday.

Relatives and friends of the couple are being invited to attend.

Hosting the celebration will be the honored guests' son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Francis A. "Frank" (Dolores) Hawk of St. Louis.

The Hawks also have three grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Hawk were married Sept. 2, 1928, at St. Joseph Catholic Church by the late Rev. D. J. Ryan.

Mr. Hawk retired in October 1971 from Granite City Steel, where he was employed 46 years.

He is a chemist and was employed in that capacity and as an inspector in the Department of Metallurgy and Inspection, now Department of Metallurgy-Quality Control (DMQC).

Earlier in his career, Mr. Hawk was a co-worker of Nicholas P. Yecker, retired board chairman and president of Granite City Steel and a current member of the National Steel Corp. executive board.

Mrs. Hawk, also a long-time employee of Granite City Steel, retired in 1976 as food service supervisor in the Salaried Employees cafeteria.

She worked at the local steel plant for 37 years.

Mrs. Hawk is a member of the Granite City Steel Women's Club and her husband belongs to the Granite City Steel Management Club.

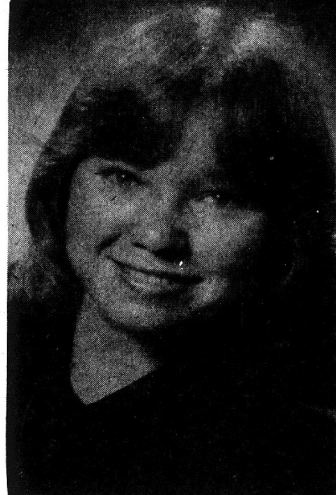

Both are members of Sacred Heart Catholic Church and are active in the church senior citizens' club and the American Association of Retired Persons. They have lived in Granite City most of their lives.

Mrs. Hawk was born in Livingston, Ill. Her husband, an Illinoisan by birth, lived in Colorado as a young child, but came to Granite City at a young age.

GOLDEN WEDDING. Mr. and Mrs. Francis A. "Barney" (Elsie) Hawk, who will observe their 50th wedding anniversary at an open house Sunday afternoon in their home, 3131 Princeton Drive, from 2 o'clock until 6. Now retired from Granite City Steel, the couple has an 83-year employment record at the local steel plant.

BRIDE-ELECT. Barbara Nan Nolan, whose engagement and forthcoming marriage to Jack Hoppe are being announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Nolan, 1329 Carr St., Granite City.

Hoppe-Nolan engagement told

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Nolan, 1329 Carr St., Granite City, are announcing the betrothal and approaching marriage of their daughter, Barbara Nan Nolan, to Jack Hoppe.

The groom-elect is a son of Mrs. Ida Hoppe, 2439 Washington Ave., and the late Otto Hoppe.

Plans are being made for a wedding on Sept. 9 at Bethel Chapel Pentecostal Church.

The prospective bridegroom is employed by the City of Granite City.

Mr., Mrs. Harry Davis observe golden wedding

Former Madison residents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Davis, who now make their home in Hazelwood, Mo., celebrated their golden wedding anniversary during the weekend.

The occasion was observed with a buffet dinner and dance at Mr. Yac's Ballroom in Florissant, Mo.

Mr. Davis retired from Granite City Steel in 1968. He was employed there as a painter for 44 years.

The couple has two children, Robert E. Davis of Yardley, Pa., and Mrs. Walter (Patricia) Huelsman of Potomac, Md.

They also have four grandchildren.

Mrs. Davis is the former Bernice Prusak.

The honorees were married in a civil ceremony in Madison on Oct. 5, 1928.

As their grandchildren are attending college at various locations, Mr. and Mrs. Davis decided to set an earlier date for their 50th celebration so the young people could attend, a family member said.

Nuptial vow heard amid summer blossoms

Froemling-Roundcount nuptials at St. Matthew

MARRIED. Dr. and Mrs. Robert A. Froemling, who were married at St. Matthew's Catholic Church, Alton. She is the former Laura A. Roundcount, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gervase B. Roundcount of Eldred, Ill.

The sanctuary of St. Matthew's Catholic Church in Alton was illuminated with tall burning tapers for the marriage of Miss Laura A. Roundcount of Maryville and Dr. Robert A. Froemling of Edwardsville on Aug. 4.

The double ring candlelight service was performed at 5:30 in the evening. The Rev. David L. Schmidt was celebrant, assisted by the Rev. David Fielding.

Large white mums, carnations and greenery decorated the altar, before which the couple exchanged rings and repeated their nuptial vows.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gervase B. Roundcount of Eldred, Ill. She is a Special Education teacher in the Granite City School District.

Her husband is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert H. Froemling of Edwardsville, formerly of Granite City. The father is president of Madison County Federal Savings and Loan.

Keith Curtis, soloist, and Albert H. Froemling, organist, provided the program of wedding music.

Selections included "Sunrise, Sunrise" from Fiddler on the Roof, "The Wedding Song" and The Lord's Prayer.

The processional was from the "Water Music Suite" by Handel and the "Bridal Chorus" by Wagner.

"God of Grace" was played in the recessional.

Mrs. Tammy Jeffers, sister of the bride, was the matron of honor.

The bridesmaids were Mrs. Darlene Schanoff, the bride's cousin, and Mrs. Darlene Neil.

Dr. Froemling chose his brother-in-law, Steven E. Bristol, as best man.

The groomsmen were Dr. Mike Brecht of Belleville, Ill., and Dr. Gary Jagmin of Chicago Heights.

The corps of ushers was headed by Rod Roundcount, the bride's brother, and Dr. Larry Rapp. Miss Lisa and Melissa Roundcount served as ushers.

Heather Bristol, a niece of the groom, and Travis Roundcount, nephew of the bride, were flower girl and ringbearer, respectively.

The bride chose a traditional gown of ivory Giana, English netting and Venice lace.

Venice lace and netting formed the bodice, fashioned with a high neckline, trimmed in lace, and brief cap sleeves of Venice. The Altine silhouette was enhanced with an attached chapel train.

Her hair was covered with a Mantilla veil of bridal illusion, fingertip in length, and bordered with Venice lace. Seed pearls and lace were interwoven at the crown. She carried a cascade of white roses, stephanotis and gardenias.

The bridal attendants wore identical gowns with exception of color. The honor matron was in a peach shade frock and the maids' dresses were in ivory.

Fashioned of soft polyester knit along Empire lines, their gowns were accented with Queen Ann necklines, framed in scalloped Venice Lace. The delicate lace also trimmed the sleeveless bodices. The skirts were long and pleated.

Their headpieces were Belinda roses and they held nosegays of yellow daisies and roses.

The flower girl was dressed in a long frock with a full skirt and Venice lace edging the Queen Ann neckline. She had Belinda roses in her hair and held a nosegay of coordinated flowers with rose petals.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Roundcount selected a full length gown of pink polyester with long sleeves.

The groom's mother, Mrs. Froemling, chose a tunic gown in apricot beaded chiffon.

Both had cattleya white orchids.

Mr. and Mrs. Froemling entertained the wedding party and guests at a rehearsal dinner at the Sunset Hills Country Club.

The reception was held at the Lewis and Clark Restaurant at East Alton.

After a wedding trip to Northern Minnesota and Canada, the newly married couple has returned to make their home in Maryville.

The former Miss Roundcount is a graduate of Illinois State University at Normal.

Dr. Froemling graduated from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville and received his doctorate degree in dental surgery at the University of Illinois School of Dentistry in Chicago.

He is an instructor in the Department of Restorative Dentistry at the SIU School of Dental Medicine in Alton.

MARRIAGE VOWS are repeated by the former Sherri Lynn Shelton and Thomas Scott Taff in a double ring ceremony at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Marian R. Shelton, 2127 Harrison Ave. She also is the daughter of the late Otto D. Shelton Jr.

Parmleys mark 35 years

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Parmley, 2209 Lincoln Ave., celebrated their 35th wedding anniversary last week at a dinner party at Charlie's Restaurant.

The occasion also served to honor Mrs. Ethel Lambart, mother of Mrs. Parmley, who was observing her birthday.

The affair was hosted by the couple's children and grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Parmley were married Aug. 21, 1943, in Americus, Ga., the same day as Mrs. Lambert's birthday.

They are the parents of Mrs. Daniel (Beverly) Partney and Charles "Skip" Parmley of Granite City, and Mrs. John

Sherri Lynn Shelton and Thomas Scott Taff marry

Miss Sherri Lynn Shelton became the bride of Thomas Scott Taff in the flower-filled home of the bride-elect's mother, Mrs. Marian R. Shelton, 2127 Harrison Ave., Aug. 5.

The bride also is the daughter of the late Otto D. Shelton Jr. Her husband's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas L. Taff, reside at 2251 Cleveland Blvd.

Associate Judge William Johnson officiated at the double ring ceremony at 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

White wedding bells and streamers decorated the Shelton home, where white summer blossoms in tall vases created a background for the bride and groom.

Mrs. Joseph (Lisa N.) Fanning, the bride's sister, was her matron of honor.

Kenneth Taff served the groom as best man.

The bride chose a waist length gown of soft knit and organza in shades of beige, ranging from pastel tones to a deeper color in the skirt.

The front bodice was inset with an organza panel, embroidered with Alencon lace motifs, and was designed with a square neckline and brief cap sleeves.

Narrow satin ribbon and lace accented the neckline and sleeves and a deep plounce at the hem enhanced the softly flowing skirt.

In her hair, she wore red rosebuds and baby breath and her bouquet was an arrangement of red rosebuds, white button mums and baby breath on a white lace background, tied with white satin streamers.

The honor attendant wore a pale green floral frock, two-piece in style and waist length.

She carried long stem red roses with baby breath and red satin streamers.

Between 65 and 70 guests greeted the newly married couple immediately after the ceremony at a reception given on the lawn at the Shelton home.

Among the guests from out-of-town was the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Irene Hileman of Tamm, Ill.

The former Miss Shelton graduated from Granite City High School North and Belleville Area College.

Her husband, a Granite City South High graduate, is employed in the family business, P & S Amusement Co. of Granite City.

After a wedding trip to Fairfield Bay, Ark., the couple is now at home on Delmar Avenue.

GARY RALSTON'S NAME

3RD DAUGHTER CORY

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Ralston, 2305 Delmar Ave., became the parents of their third child, a daughter, born Aug. 25 at Belleville Memorial Hospital.

The new arrival has been named Cory Waynette. She weighed seven pounds, eight ounces.

The couple's older children are Kelly Anne, 4½, and Sherry Louise, almost 3 years.

Mrs. Ralston is the former Marcella Roberts.

The paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ralston of Washington Park.

Mr. and Mrs. William Roberts of Granite City are the maternal grandparents.

MR. AND MRS. LEW HOFFMAN. They were married at the First United Methodist Church in Clinton, Ill. The bride is the former Sheila Renee Hintz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert K. Hintz, 19 Georgetown Drive.

Sheila Renee Hintz and Lew E. Hoffman are wed

In a 4 o'clock afternoon ceremony at the First United Methodist Church in Clinton, Ill., Miss Sheila Renee Hintz of Granite City became the bride of Lew Edward Hoffman.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert K. Hintz, 19 Georgetown Drive.

The groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lew Hoffman, live at 806 W. Washington Ave., Clinton.

Baskets of gladioli, carnations and daisies in pastel shades graced the sanctuary for the double ring service, performed Aug. 19 by the Rev. Don Perrill.

Miss Chris Stauffer of Granite City, the soloist, sang, "If, 'Evergreen" and "One Hand, One Heart" during the unity candle ceremony.

Edd Powers of Clinton accompanied Miss Stauffer at the organ.

The bride carried a pyramid bouquet of white roses, interlaced with pink rosebuds and baby breath.

She chose a wedding gown of white georgette, the bodice applied with lace and seed pearls. The V-neckline had a narrow stand-up collar of Nottingham lace and the same lace outlined the cuffs of the lace bishop sleeves.

A full circular skirt extended from the fitted waist in swirls to the floor, then swept back to form a chapel train, bordered in Nottingham lace.

Her fingertip veil of bridal illusion, detailed at the edges with lace motifs, was secured to a Juliet cap of seed pearls and matching lace.

The maid of honor was Miss Sonja Elford of Rochester, Minn., a cousin of the bride.

The bridesmaids were the groom's sisters, Misses Barbara and Sandra Hoffman.

The bridal attendants were gownned alike in blue polyester knit frocks.

Smocking detailed the yoke and waist of the fitted bodice, enhanced with mandarin collars, capelet sleeves and self belts, tied at the back waist.

They held arm bouquets of pink king roses and rosebuds, intermingled with apple blossoms and baby breath.

Natalie Sams and Gary Alsop, cousins of the groom, were flower girl and ringbearer, respectively.

She wore a white white dotted swiss frock with short sleeves and pink, blue and green ribbon accents, and held a basket of pink and yellow rosebuds with apple blossoms and baby breath.

Eric Sandberg was best man for Mr. Hoffman.

Jeff Hickman, his cousin, and Brad Cook were groomsmen.

Tim Evans and John Hickman, both cousins of the groom, headed the ushers.

Guests greeted the newly married couple at a reception in Geer Hall of the church, immediately after the ceremony.

A rehearsal dinner party was hosted at the Farm House Restaurant in Gaslight Square, Clinton.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoffman will reside in Charleston, Ill., where both are students at Eastern Illinois University.

The former Miss Hintz graduated in 1977 from Granite City High School North.

Her husband is a 1976 graduate of Clinton High School.

Airman Cheryl Kelly marries in Arizona

Williams Air Force Base Chapel in Chandler, Ariz., was the scene of the afternoon wedding of Airman First Class Cheryl D. Kelly of Granite City and Airman First Class Franco T. Arcolano of Gunderland, N.Y.

The couple repeated their marriage vows and exchanged rings before Father J. D. Kaiser in a 1 o'clock ceremony, Aug. 18, at the base chapel.

Miss Doris Myette was honor attendant to the bride.

Douglas Ledbury served the bridegroom as best man.

The former Miss Kelly is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Kelly, 2317 Cardinal Ave.

She chose a long white wedding gown of peau de soie. The bodice was gathered at the waist, creating a blouson effect, and spaghetti straps were tied into small bows at the shoulders.

The bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Arcolano, reside in Gunderland, N.Y.

After the ceremony, the newly married couple, family members and friends were entertained at a wedding dinner at the Black Angus Restaurant in Phoenix, Ariz.

Mr. and Mrs. Kelly traveled by plane to Arizona for the wedding and reception.

They spent two days sight-seeing in Flagstaff, Ariz., before returning to Granite City.

The former Miss Kelly is a 1976 graduate of Granite City High School South.

Both the bride and groom are stationed at Williams Air Force Base.

CAMPAIGNING AT STATE FAIR. Illinois Attorney General William J. Scott stops along the parade route to visit with a family attending the 1978 fair in Springfield. Scott brought his campaign for re-election to central and southern Illinois after concluding a week of legal actions to end dumping of nuclear and chemical wastes in Illinois. The attorney general won a court decision halting burial of poisonous chemicals at a disposal site in Wilsonville and requiring removal of thousands of barrels of contaminants already buried there. He told fair goers he will "build upon each court victory to provide absolute protection of the right of every citizen of Illinois to live in a healthy and safe environment."

Miss Kelly Dutko

A wedding shower and dinner party honoring Miss Kelly Dutko, a September bride-to-be, was given this week at St. Mary's Parish Hall in Madison. Miss Dutko will be married Sept. 15 to Rob Pinnell, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Pinnell of Mattoon, Ill.

The ceremony will take place at the Nativity of the Virgin Mary Eastern Orthodox Catholic Church in Madison.

The bride-elect is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dutko, 1808 Fifth St., Madison. Her father is a Madison alderman and the former Madison chief of police.

The honoree was presented many gifts by her family and friends. After the presents were unwrapped, dinner was served to the guests.

Julia Dant, Mary Macek, Eileen Scrum, Doris Syniski, Darlene Struberg, Sandy Struberg, Mary Ann Coughro, Helen Kowczewski, Sue Kurilla, Agnes Fryntak, JoAnn Pinnell, Mary Szwed, Helen Hilder, Helen Williams, Susie Pinnell, Martha Hayes, Florence Moore, Debbie Kacera, Johanna Kacera, Theresa Brogtowski, Nigel Maeras, Ann Kondrat, Doris Kondrat, Fannie Rydgid, Tillie Blomberg, Katherine Hughes, Loreta Hyla, Carla Dutko, Betty Diak, Barbara Jo Andrews, Shirley Dutko, Sara Dutko, Mary Perdue, Wilma Owsa, Georganne Krakowicki, Christie Krakowicki, Marie Hoekstra, Estelle Masie, Pearl Kester, Mary Ann Cowan, Shirley Goff, Jenny Ross, Gina Shipcott, Judy Dutko, Tammy Dutko, Denise Dutko, Debra Dutko, David Dutko, Martha Kiemer, Judy Dutko.

Her husband is a 1978 graduate of SIU-Carbondale, majoring in radio and television, with a minor in audio marketing.

The bridegroom has accepted a position with Team Electronics in Wichita.

LEAVING CHAPEL Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Schaffner following their wedding at Newman Catholic Chapel, Washington University Medical Campus, St. Louis. The bride is the former Patricia Celine Drew, daughter of Mrs. June Drew of St. Louis and William B. Drew, Glen Carbon, former Granite City residents.

Schaffner-Drew nuptials at Washington U. chapel

Patricia Celine Drew of St. Louis, a former Granite City resident, and Robert E. Schaffner of Northbrook, Ill., were married Aug. 12 in Newman Catholic Chapel on the Washington University Medical Campus, St. Louis.

The marriage was solemnized at 1 o'clock in the afternoon by the Rev. D. J. Wilkinson.

The bride, a daughter of Mrs. June Drew of St. Louis and William B. Drew of Glen Carbon, attended local schools and was graduated in January 1972 from Granite City High School.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Schaffner of Northbrook are the parents of the bridegroom.

Weeping fig plants decorated the chapel for the double ring service.

A program of guitar music was played by Darrell Harbison of Granite City.

Mrs. Nancy Melloy of Edwardsville served as matron of honor to her sister.

The bridesmaids were Miss Nancy Schaffner of Northbrook, sister of the groom, Miss Peggy Honyer and Miss Claudia Gasparovic, both of Granite City.

The bridegroom chose his brother, Jon Schaffner of Palatine, Ill., as his best man.

The groomsmen were Tom Dixon of Hanover Park, Ill., a brother-in-law of the groom, Bill Hagler of Highland Park, Ill., and Billy Drew of Champaign, the bride's brother.

Gary Melloy, the bride's brother-in-law, headed the corps of ushers.

Jennifer Dixon, a niece of the groom, and Michelle Laimore of Webster Groves were flower girls. Paul Dixon, the groom's nephew, was ringbearer.

The bride wore a fitted gown of ivory gauze, designed with an attached overskirt of four handkerchief points, each point with ivory satin ribbon.

The bodice had long tight sleeves and a wide pointed collar capping the shoulders, enhanced with ivory satin ribbons. Two satin ribbons detailed the waistline.

Her brimmed hat was encircled with satin, ribbon, and she carried a bouquet of multicolored fresh flowers trailing long ivory streamers.

The attendants chose identical frocks of hyacinth glaze. The modified Empire style gowns were made with gathered bodices and fishtail yokes. The sleeves extended with fullness, flowing from the shoulders.

Each held a nosegay of baby breath, tied with ivory colored ribbons.

The flower girls wore long dresses of white eyelet with touches of pink. Each carried a basket of natural straw, filled with pink rose petals.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Drew appeared in a long dress of glaze in a cranberry shade. Four handkerchief points were attached at the gathered neckline, forming an overlay.

Mrs. Schaffner, mother of the groom, selected a long flowing gown in lime green.

Relatives and friends greeted the couple at a reception at the Holiday Inn Ballroom, 2211 Market St., St. Louis.

A rehearsal dinner party was given at the Chase-Park Plaza Hotel.

The former Miss Drew was a junior year student, majoring in art history and photography, at Southern Illinois University at Carbondale. She is planning to complete her final year of school in Wichita, Kan., where the newlyweds will reside.

Her husband is a 1978 graduate of SIU-Carbondale, majoring in radio and television, with a minor in audio marketing.

Quad-City community is a cradle of the industrial and craft union traditions being spotlighted this Labor Day

Niedringhaus and Madison avenues once reverberated to the tread of thousands of feet each Labor Day — craftsmen grouped according to their skills and garbed in each trade's unique work attire. Row upon row, by the thousands they would march through this community, celebrating the gains achieved by organizing into unions and locals.

Youngsters like ourselves could not help but be impressed by the sheer numbers and by the unified, confident outlook of the carpenters, steelworkers, electricians, bricklayers, chauffeurs, typographers, machinists, laborers, chemical workers, masons, iron workers, plumbers, painters and others active in the early years of the industrial and trade organizations.

Partly because of the success of their joint efforts, which among other things led to greater emphasis on leisure time, Labor

Day is observed with fewer and fewer formal events and more and more freedom to relax and pursue diverse interests.

But Labor Day remains "special" in the Quad-City area, which was among the communities playing a key role in labor's formative years.

Established in 1882 and a national holiday since 1894, Labor Day before long was a major event here as infant municipalities were created and incorporated. By 1917, Granite City was the scene of several labor conventions.

Through both stormy and relatively peaceful eras, the labor movement has helped achieve much of the progress that has been attained here and throughout the nation. Quad-Citians salute the American Federation of Labor-Congress of Industrial Organizations and other unions on the occasion of Labor Day, 1978.

Pivotal role by Dick Mudge as county 'turned a corner'

Sometimes we didn't agree with Dick Mudge's positions or methods, but we respected his courage and timing in "standing up to be counted" whenever he perceived injustice or wrongdoing.

Perhaps more than any other individual in governmental office, he helped turn Madison County from a somewhat lawless area toward a period emphasizing stability, public safety and the right climate for family life.

At the time of his sudden illness and death Monday, Dick H. Mudge Jr. no longer held public office. But the imprint of his service as state's attorney of this county from 1954 to 1964 will live on.

He was a hero by any measurement. Shot down by flak while a pilot in World War II, he was a war prisoner for a year and survived the Stalag III "death march," later resigning his squadron. In civilian life, he participated in the Selma, Ala., march for civil rights.

Memories are still vivid of the day candidate Mudge "bombed" the Collinsville Road area with leaflets, dramatizing his intention to curtail large-scale casino activity. When elected, he lived up to his campaign promises. Living up to one's promises may not sound like much, but it doesn't always happen when office-seekers become officials. And the list of Prosecutor Mudge's good government pledges was long one.

Do leaders appear at appropriate times, or do the circumstances foster leadership? We don't know that, but we do know that when Madison County was at a pivotal time in its history, Dick Mudge stepped forward, took a stand and was seen with key responsibilities and authority. Ever willing to take up a cause he believed in, regardless of its momentary level of popularity or unpopularity, he will be remembered long and favorably.

Floating up, and away to a 'first' in Atlantic crossings

Press-Record Bureau — The Double Eagle floated down, landing in the French countryside, setting a proud record for three American balloonists.

Ben Abruzzo, Maxie Anderson and Larry Newman had conquered the Atlantic, drifted over Ireland, England and the channel and finally settled down in a wheat field near Evreux, France.

Thousands of French citizens greeted them, showering them with rose petals and cheering as the Yanks uncorked champagne to celebrate their victory.

It was a remarkable performance. The flight started on the Maine coast and ended in France, 3,200 miles and six days later.

The balloonists attempted to follow the route taken by Charles Lindbergh 51 years ago and had hoped to land at Le Bourget, as the Lone Eagle did. But the balloon literally ran out of gas.

They didn't get the ticker tape celebration awarded Lindbergh on his arrival in New York — it's too costly these days — but nevertheless their accomplishment is recognized by a proud nation.

Cruel oppression — not 'power to the people' — in Russia

Press-Record Bureau — With the sentencing of 24-year-old Alexander Podrabinek for "anti-Soviet slander," and prison terms already meted out to three other prominent dissidents, Soviet officials have demonstrated the tiny hand that set out two years ago to monitor their country's compliance with the human-rights provisions of the Helsinki agreements.

Thus did the Soviets doubly convict themselves.

They demonstrate contempt for the letter and spirit of their Helsinki pledges, and they jail or exile the few courageous persons who seek to keep track of these promises.

Podrabinek wrote a book, struggled to the West and published in Britain by Amnesty International, detailing the Soviet abuse of psychiatry to punish political dissidents. The book led to condemnation of the Soviet Union at a world psychiatric conference last year.

After a one-day trial without benefit of a lawyer, Podrabinek was sentenced to five years of exile in a remote area inside the USSR, probably Siberia.

The convictions of Yuri Orlov, Anatoly Shcharansky, Alexander Ginsburg and Podrabinek have silenced four remarkable men. But one message continues to get through to the world with absolute clarity: The Soviets have as little respect for human rights as they have for their international agreements.

Big investments by candidates

BY AL MANNING
SPRINGFIELD — Two candidates for state office are financing their campaigns with their own money and two others have substantial financial investments, state records show.

John Castle, the Republican candidate for comptroller, had an outstanding loan of $146,000 to his campaign committee as of July 1, according to records on file at the State Board of Elections.

Jerry Consentino, Democratic candidate for state treasurer, has a loan of $135,000 to his committee.

Two other candidates, Jim Skelton and Richard Troy, have invested over $35,000 to their committees.

Castle pumped his money into television advertising during the primary campaign and narrowly defeated W. Robert Blair for the GOP nomination.

The records indicate Castle has not raised much money since the primary to pay off the debt to himself.

Through July 1, Castle spent a total of $233,518 on his campaign. He owed $153,304.

Castle, who was pushed in the Republican primary by Gov. James Thompson, is opposed in the general election by Roland Burris, winner over Dick Luft in the Democratic primary.

Burris, in contrast, is taking money from the campaign rather than putting it in. Records show he is paying himself a salary of $2,620 per month from the campaign money.

Although it is not a common practice, other candidates have done the same thing when they take a leave of absence from their regular employment in order to campaign.

Burris raised $158,436 and spent $151,862 as of July 1, according to the records. Included in the amount is a $50,000 loan from the Independence Bank of Chicago. He owes a total of $88,929.

Consentino, who was slated for treasurer in part because he said he would finance his own campaign, defeated Nina Shepherd in the Democratic primary.

His campaign committee owes a total of $175,000. The largest single contribution to the campaign, $50,000 was made by the Teamsters Political Action Committee. Consentino's opponent, Skelton, defeated Sen. Bradley Glass in the Republican primary. Skelton raised $130,000 and spent $121,000 as of July 1, records show.

Skelton loaned the campaign committee a total of $37,000, and almost half of it, $17,000 has been repaid.

Richard Troy, Democratic candidate for attorney general, has loaned his committee $25,500 and his law firm, Snider and Troy, has loaned an additional $10,000.

Troy's campaign committee had a debt of $136,500 as of July 1, records show. The debts include Jefferson State Bank, $60,000; George Cullen, $30,000; and Frank Raymond, $10,000.

Troy, who was unopposed in the primary, raised $294,000 and spent $278,000 according to the records.

He paid $180,000 to DG Group, the political consultants which employs Vic de Grazia. De Grazia's role in the campaign has been of special interest because of his controversial term as deputy governor to former Gov. Dan Walker, and their past opposition to candidates slated by the regular Democratic organizations.

The records indicate Troy raised more money during recent months than has incumbent Atty. Gen. William Scott.

Scott had raised $119,014 as of July 1. However, he had accumulated $478,463 in earlier campaigns, bringing his total to almost $600,000.

Millions being spent in governor campaign

SPRINGFIELD — Gov. James Thompson paid his political consultants, B. J. and Deardorff, $125,000 during the last fiscal year. According to records on file at the State Board of Elections, the Citizens for Thompson Committee paid the consultants for research advertising and campaign rallies.

The money was paid during the year ending June 30.

The governor's campaign committee raised $893,064 during the period, records show. He had $471,450 on hand at the beginning of the campaign, bringing the total to over $1.3 million.

He spent $870,000 of that, leaving a balance of almost $500,000.

The governor has budgeted $2 million for his re-election campaign.

The largest single contribution to the campaign was made by Teamsters Volunteers in Politics. The labor union contributed

Other large contributors include: L.S. Heath of Robinson, $7,500; Levering Cartwright of Chicago, $5,000; and 1st Security Trust and Savings Bank of Elmhurst Park, $5,000.

Mike Bakalis, the Democratic candidate for governor, has raised approximately half the money that Thompson has raised.

Records show the Citizens for Bakalis Committee raised $622,812 for the campaign, and had $131,515 available at the beginning of the campaign.

He spent $500,000, leaving a balance of $33,000.

The largest contributions were made by Andrew and Thomas Athens of Chicago who contributed a total of $25,000; Christos Kriticos of Chicago contributed $7,500; Frances and Louis Kuchuris of Chicago contributed a total of $6,900.

The Christian Century Democratic Central Committee contributed $9,700, and the 13th Ward Democratic Central Committee contributed $2,800.

The largest union contribution was made by AFSCME, $1,750.

Bakalis' largest expenditure was also for political consultants. He paid $22,400 to Pat O'Neill and Associates for advertising consulting.

Tug-of-war for control of federal funding

But in recent years lawmakers not only in Illinois but in other states as well have been taking a second and more critical look at the federal budget. They have decided it is far from an unexamined blessing.

In fact, there is increasing criticism that the federal government is spending too much of a state's financial resources instead of easing them.

Programs started with a huge infusion of federal funds may eventually be cut off from the Washington spout. Meanwhile they may have become a permanent by-product of those who benefit by them and a state is left with the money you get from Washington you don't have to raise by taxation in Illinois.

At issue is control of hundreds of millions of federal dollars, which are funneled from Washington to Springfield to help finance a wide array of state programs.

Just about everyone connected with state government has welcomed the steady increase in federal largesse. The assumption has been that the money you get from Washington you don't have to raise by taxation in Illinois.

A clear majority of the Illinois legislators obviously feels this has become a problem in this state. Their solution is for the legislature to have a bigger say in what federal money is accepted and how it is spent.

They would accomplish this through the simple and practical procedure of requiring that all federal money spent in Illinois must be specifically appropriated by the Legislature.

The legislation would reassert its traditional authority of controlling the state's purse strings, a responsibility taken for granted in those years before the great expansion of federal spending.

However, most governors, including Illinois' James R. Thompson, do not like the idea of giving their Legislature any more say over federal money than they now have.

In Illinois the battle has raged during the past two legislative years between Thompson and the 24-member Illinois Economic and Fiscal Commission. The bipartisan group is divided between 12 Republican and 12 Democratic legislators.

In the contest, basically between different political concepts but as in most state's, the two personalities do become involved to some extent.

Thompson feels that the latest bills passed by the House and Senate strengthening the Legislature's say in the spending of U.S. money are a renewed threat to his executive budget operation.

In no area of state government has Thompson concentrated so intensively during his first 18 months in office than in the budget sphere.

He is especially sensitive to any move that might limit or reduce the influence of his budget director, Robert Mandeville, widely recognized as one of the most brilliant members of the Thompson administration.

However, more than a few members of the Legislature are envious of Mandeville's fiscal power and feel that he is intruding in some areas that should be the sole preserve of the Legislature.

Economy report—political weapon

SPRINGFIELD — Unlike other task force reports, the Governor's Control Task Force will not be soon discarded or easily forgotten.

The lengthy document is certain to have an effect on state government and the current gubernatorial campaign.

Gov. James Thompson, who appointed the task force last year, undoubtedly will attempt to muster every recommendation in the document for his political advantage.

Mike Bakalis, of course, will not let the governor take the report on the campaign trail without a good battle.

Even many of Thompson's supporters will admit that the governor does not have much of a record as an administrator. Prior to assuming the governor's office, he had either the benefit of other office or management of business. His critics contend he does not pay enough attention to details to ever be considered a good administrator.

Thus, this task force report will help bolster his image as an administrator who knows how to take action.

The report identifies ways in which the state can improve its budgetary balance by $500 million. In view of the public's attitude toward government spending, Thompson is certain to benefit.

As you recall, former Gov. Dan Walker also said there was $500 million waste in state government, and that was the cornerstone of his 1972 victory. However, he was never given much credit for following through on his campaign promise to save the money.

Thompson, it must be assumed, will move to implement a substantial number of the recommendations. He appointed Michael Hasten, a lawyer with impressive credentials, to see that the recommendations are implemented.

As the campaign progresses, of course, the governor will not be shy about announcing the steps he has taken to implement the recommendations.

Television commercials probably will supplement the announcements, and Thompson will have the image of attacking the bureaucracy.

Not all of the publicity about the report is favorable, however.

If there is waste in state government, Bakalis points out, the Thompson administration must take the responsibility for it.

The question is why Thompson has not already moved to take action on some of the obvious savings. After all, Thompson did appoint all of the cabinet directors and others responsible for managing the money.

Why did it take 18 months

—three-fourths of his term—to produce such a report? Why did he wait until some months before the election to release it?

During the spring session of the General Assembly, Democrats repeatedly criticized Thompson for not producing the report when it was due in March.

Of course, it would not have been fair to expect Thompson to give the Democratic-controlled Legislature such a document when they were taking action on his budget. It's much easier to wait until the legislators have gone home so the governor can counter the recommendation as he sees fit rather than as the Democrats want to.

In fairness, it should be pointed out that this task force was comprised of 83 business executives loaned from private firms. It also was financed privately ($400,000), so it's difficult to be too critical of a group which is technically volunteering its services to help government.

But Bakalis will have an answer when Thompson starts trumpeting his accomplishments on the project. Every time the governor announces he has saved some money, Bakalis can counter that the money could have been used for property tax relief or for pothole repairs.

In addition, the special interests in state government will not look favorably upon certain cost-cutting measures. The unions, for example, will not appreciate the recommendation that 6,500 jobs be cut. The report recommends closing three mental institutions, which will certainly cause an uproar in those communities. As you recall, Thompson at one point suggested Anas State Hospital could be closed, but he quickly withdrew the idea when citizens protested.

Crane—hindrance or help to Thompson?

By KEN WATSON
SPRINGFIELD — Will the early entrance of Illinois Congressman Philip Crane to the 1980 race for the Republican presidential nomination hurt the White House ambitions of Gov. James R. Thompson?

Probably not.

That's the view from the Statehouse dome as Illinois begins what promises to be another exciting chapter in its long and colorful political history.

As the Crane presidential rockets soared into orbit, there was some feeling among Illinois politicians that Crane was a threat to the political spectrum that far from hurting the presidential chances of Big Jim, it might in fact enhance them.

There was an immediate tendency to regard the handsome and articulate Crane as a sort of mule

Crane is certain to attract a great deal of attention in the national media, as does Schafly, but his chances of achieving a high elective office are about as remote as hers.

Crane is an excellent advocate of conservative philosophy and wins elections with little effort in his bluesucking congressional district in northern Cook County and Lake County and Kane County.

Crane's 12th district is about as typical of Illinois as is poverty-ridden Cairo at the southern tip. He is competing with a liberal throughout Illinois and would rate as an underdog in any serious state primary contest.

Crane, in his unusual bid for the presidency, is operating from a national rather than state base. He offers an alternative to aging

Ronald Reagan, 67.

Illinois is not a strong base for any conservative launching a White House drive. In fact, Illinois Republicans are far less conservative than the national media often seems to take for granted.

Reagan, for example, was soundly trounced in his 1976 primary challenge to President Jimmy Carter. He polled 131,295 votes to 456,750 for Ford, to lose by 145,455.

Many of the reputation for conservatism stems from the long career of the late U.S. Sen. Everett M. Dirksen. Dirksen was far from a strict down-the-line conservative. He could on occasion change political stances as he saw fit.

Republicans who win the major offices in Illinois have consistently been moderates rather than conservatives.

U.S. Sen. Charles H. Percy, one of the top GOP vote-getters in recent years, has always irritated the party's conservatives. But he makes up for any loss of votes there by attracting independents and Democrats.

Legislative governors William G. Stratton and Richard B. Ogilvie were regarded as middle-of-the-road moderates.

Jim Thompson, 42, is typical of the modern breed of government leaders, who so many on the political philosophy and concentrate on building voter support by accomplishment in office.

But developing the major issue in his current bid for re-election against Governor Dan Walker is whether Thompson has or has not been a good governor during his unique two-year term.

Thompson greeted Crane's entrance into the presidential sweepstakes with both a grating him as "an able and articulate spokesman for conservative Republican principles" and wishing him "good luck."

REAL ESTATE COURSE
TO BEGIN SEPT. 11
The National Academy of Real Estate will hold real estate classes in this area, designed to meet the state requirements for taking the real estate examination. The school is approved by the Illinois Office of Education and Illinois Department of Registration and Education.

Classes will start Monday Sept. 11, for 10 consecutive weeks, 6:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. at the Walt Schleimer Realty, Colonial Room, 405 E. Vandeventer St., Edwardsville. The cost of $115 includes tuition, textbooks, legal supplements and all materials. Instructor will be Walter A. Hale.

Booze, law violations at city center

To the Editor:
Madison needs to concentrate on improving the town's image, not further condoning open gambling and flagrant violation of the law merely because the city administration says it is okay.

The recent Madison Ethnic Days is a case in point:
1. There was open gambling, for money at a wheel right in the middle of the walkway near the food stands. And directly in front of that was a dice game, again for money, operated part-time by a Madison police officer.

Additional gambling was also held in a booth where they gave out beer instead of money to people who won.

The carnival operator had a gambling wheel or device of some type, but he could not set his up.

Gambling is gambling regardless of who runs it, a church or a carnival.

2. The crowds were smaller than ever. This year, the event was moved from the St. Mary's Church grounds to the recreation center. And control was said to have been given to the fire department and the Amvets.

3. I feel was a mistake from a public image point of view. St. Mary's is the place it should have been held, and the control should have remained in the hands of the city recreation committee rather than two organizations.

Name and address must accompany each letter but will not be revealed if anonymity is requested. Consideration of less than 150 words is given. All letters must be typed. Letters of opinion, criticism and grammatical changes. Those letters or not in good style will be reported or edited.

3. Because city officials said it was all right, beer, setups and hard liquor were served in the city Memorial Center which, if not a violation of state law, was certainly in poor taste. This is now money that any group can have booze in the Memorial Center — or just those blessed by the mayor?

Perhaps the mayor, firemen, Amvets, recreation committee and other participants can learn by these errors in judgment and try in the future to build a positive image for our city. Or, as hard liquor as gambling, boozing and breaking the law okay for some people in Madison and not okay for others?

Warriors to face DuBoug, defending Missouri co-champions

By BRAD BUGGER

Sportswriters have a tendency not to believe everything coaches tell them. And there's a reason for that.

Take, for example, DuBoug High School soccer coach Tom Chambers, whose club plays Granite City South at Vianney Saturday night.

Chambers said Wednesday that his club, although defending co-champions of Missouri, would not be nearly as good as last year's team.

"This is a completely different team," Chambers said. "We don't have anybody back from last year."

Chambers went on to say that to make up for a lack of firepower, his team would "try to encircle our goal. We'll try to lay back and play defense."

"If we get into a high scoring game, we'll have already lost," Baker also is not buying Chambers' pour-mouthing routine.

"I know those south-city schools and they're never down," Baker said. "They have played South last year, Resser replied. "Unfortunately." No wonder. Warriors 9, Spartans 0.

Baker views the weekend action as a chance to "see if we can get out and move the ball. Our offense hasn't been a problem in practice, but you never know how it'll work in the games."

The Warrior mentor is also hoping to win in injured stars David Mendoza (water on the knee) and Jack Burnett (recovering from summer knee surgery).

Mendoza, a junior winger, "is still doubtful," Baker said. "We may not use him in Springfield because they play at Sangamon (State University) and the field there is pretty rough."

Baker is hopeful of getting a look at Burnett, a junior midfielder, at the sweeper position in the Warriors' 1-4-4 alignment. Baker is looking for a physical game against the Spartans. "They were the best of the three teams up there (in Springfield) last year," he said.

Resser, who guided Southeast to a 5-6-1 record in the school's second year of soccer, said his club's defense is much improved over last year.

"Our offense is about the same."

"Of course I'll know a lot more about the team about two games from now."

Chambers says his DuBoug team is "strong at midfield" with juniors Joe Kuda and Dave Beullman and sophomore Skip Reh.

"But we won't score as much," he added. "We'll probably just try to stay in a defensive shell."

Baker said that even if Chambers follows through with his plans, "I won't change our game plan any."

"We're just trying to eliminate errors and arrive at some type of stability," Baker said.

He also said that Alex Paz, a senior, would start in goal, but Andy Costello, a junior, would split time there.

"Andy's been playing real well for us," Baker said.

The Warriors' scheduled opener in Waterloo Wednesday was postponed due to a teachers' strike there. The game will have to be rescheduled because it is one of ten South has designated as play-off point games.

Granite North goes to Quincy to meet rebuilding Blue Devils

By BRAD BUGGER

Granite City North soccer coach Bob Kehoe scratched his head and thought a moment.

"I don't really know what to expect of Quincy," he said. "They've got a new coach up there. But I do know they've always played us tough."

"Don't worry coach. According to new Blue Devil mentor Roger Francour, the Steelers probably will not be tested when they travel to Quincy Saturday night."

"Frankly, we'll be lucky to win two or three games this year," Francour said. "We have four seniors and six juniors and very few of them played last year."

Francour, who doesn't teach at Quincy High School, had to get special permission from the Illinois High School Association to coach the Blue Devils this season.

"We're just trying to save the program now," he said. "I've got a special situation here in that 60 teachers were let go over the summer, including the coach."

"I teach at Quincy College, so I had to get special permission to coach at the high school."

Francour said that, because of all the talk of the soccer program being dumped, "many older kids didn't even come out this year."

"We've got a lot of young kids, but you don't win variety games without seniors, no matter what sport you play."

Not entirely true, Kehoe's Steelers will start only one senior, talented striker Jeff DeMott, but they figure to win a lot of games.

"We don't have any real glaring weaknesses," Kehoe said. "Sure, we have some spots that are weaker than others, but you don't necessarily want to publicize those," he said, smiling.

What North does have is a stable of midfielders who "can run all day," Kehoe said.

"We're blessed in the midfield in that we have three experienced people there (juniors John Kefalas, Bob Baley and Glen Edwards), and this is the third year starting for all three."

Kehoe said both Kefalas and Edwards are track men and "Baley is just a step behind. And you can see how big he is."

In addition to his trio of speedy midfielders, Kehoe says fullbacks Jeff Joyce, Mark Jones and Tracy Hickam can all move well.

"Joyce and Hickam are both on the track team, and Jones, although he's not on the track team, is our fastest player.

JEFF DeMOTT

"We timed him in 5.8 seconds in the 50-yard dash," Kehoe said.

"We've got decent speed, but what we're working on right now is trying to harness that speed," the Steeler coach said.

"We're trying to work the speed into the total concept of team work. You know, you just can't kick the ball and then see who the first person to get it is."

"That kind of soccer went out a long time ago."

Kehoe said he would like to improve on the scoring end of the game, but "we're not interested in setting any records. Scoring is the name of the game."

"It's like the six o'clock hitters at Busch Stadium. We've got some kids who can kick the ball through the back of the net, but we'll have to see how they perform in the game."

Kehoe said Quincy has always given North a tough battle. "We beat them 1-0 twice last year. And I can only remember one time when we beat them more than 1-0."

Of course, all that was before the Quincy program ran into its summer problems.

"Now, we're just trying to get the kids to play for the sake of competing," Francour said.

game, but if you score six, and the other team gets seven, you still lose."

The Steelers have a good group of shooters, including DeMott, who Kehoe expects to score a lot of goals.

"He's good around the net and has good technique," Kehoe said. "In addition, he seems to have a nose for the goal. He seems to be able to sense where the goal is."

In addition to DeMott, Kehoe says the Steelers "have a lot of good shooters, but we really don't know how they'll do in the games."

Kehoe unhappy over practice time

Granite City North soccer coach Bob Kehoe is unhappy with the amount of preseason practice his soccer team is allowed by the Illinois High School Association (IHSA).

"We spent almost all of our two-a-day practices just conditioning," Kehoe said. "The IHSA just doesn't allocate enough time for conditioning. Let alone getting into tactics."

The Steelers began practice on Aug. 16, the first day allowed by the IHSA.

Wednesday was the first day teams could schedule games. North's first game is Saturday.

"Studies have shown that about 85 percent of all injuries occur in the first three or four weeks of the season," Kehoe said. "You'd think the IHSA would give schools more practice time, but I guess they just can't see that."

Kehoe said that North's luck had held out. "We haven't had any major injuries so far," he said.

Baker calls Fernandez college prospect

By DOUG IRVIN

"He has potential, top college and professional soccer team potential," says South's soccer coach Gene Baker about sophomore standout David Fernandez. Fernandez, a freshman, was a member of the all-state tournament team.

"Ability, skill, attitude and family background and support are all very important for an athlete to develop his talent correctly. David has the right combination of these qualities," continued coach Baker.

Fernandez recently returned from taking third place in a national skills contest in Newark, New Jersey. Out of a total of 44 competitors in his age bracket, Fernandez took third place for the second year in a row.

Before Fernandez could compete on the national level, he won his local contest, then his regional. For every one who made it to the contest, 6,000 were bumped out of contention.

The contest consisted of five skills: juggling on one foot, on two feet, on the head, and while running on goal (the contestant must touch the ball six times before shooting on goal), and accuracy kicking.

"It was a tough contest—tough competition. I had confidence, after all I had been through it all before and I knew what I had to do," said Fernandez.

Fernandez is quite optimistic about this year's Warrior team. "If we play together—cooperation—then we should have a good chance to win the state tournament again."

"Coach Baker makes up for what we do wrong on the field, on the sidelines," commented Fernandez.

"When we need a little extra help, I practice them with a controlled scrimmage," Baker said.

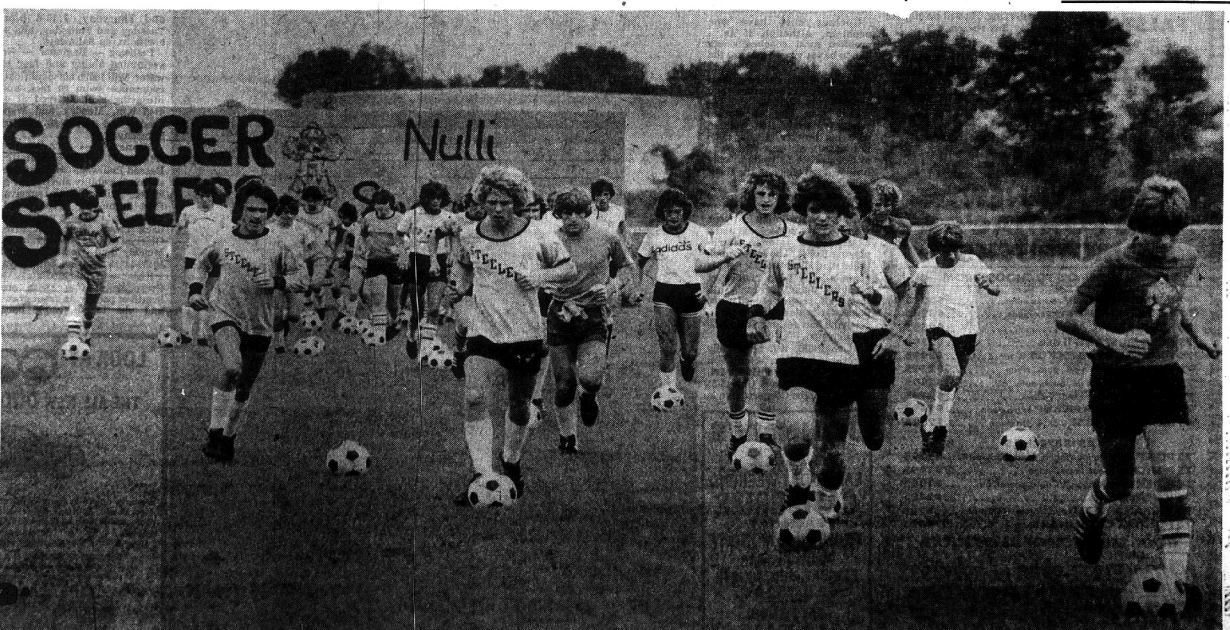

"For example, once we scrimmaged for an hour without taking among themselves. This shows to them how important talking between themselves while playing really is. It makes them appreciate it and respect it that much more when they are allowed to talk."

"David has an unlimited future and he will help us out tremendously," concluded coach Baker.

"The game of soccer has many important parts. We have to have teamwork to perform. We have to be in top physical condition and most importantly we have to have a good coach," commented Fernandez. "I haven't seen a better coach yet in all my years of soccer."

Ward attributes turnout to her PR program

It's an accepted theory that the only way to get better at something is to practice. Granite City North girls' tennis coach Judy Ward is a hard subscriber to that theory.

Unfortunately, not all of her players have been in the past. "We'd get girls who wouldn't touch a tennis racket all summer, then come to practice in the fall and say, 'Here I am,'" Ward said.

"Well, you just can't compete with the better teams in the area like that. Some of them have girls who are ranked statewide. They play competitive tournament tennis all year."

So after Ward's team finished with a 1-11 dual meet record last fall, the third-year Steeler coach decided it was time to take things in her own hands.

"Each year I realize that I have to do more and more to get them (the team) to do more," Ward said. "So this spring I kept them playing tennis. We'd go to an indoor court and play informally."

"Also, I made sure the girls played during the summer. I try to be a model to the girls," Ward continued. "They see that I play all summer and they know that's the only way they'll get better."

Ward's not sure her off-season program will produce results, but "you can't go down much more after you win only one match," she said.

The Steelers will place their hopes on eight returning players, including five seniors. Those seniors are Lisa McKee, Beth Goff, Shelly Puhliman, Liz Clay and Vickie Cottrell.

"I don't know exactly who is going to play for us, right now," Ward said. "We're in the middle of a ladder tournament now and I really can't say."

Ward did say she felt the Steelers had a better chance of double success, rather than having a gib singles winner.

"We don't have anybody who plays tournament tennis, like the Belleville schools do," she said. "I just think we have a better chance to win in doubles."

The Steeler coach is happy with the turn-out this fall. About 24 hopefuls showed up for practice, and ten freshmen were included in that number.

"Last year, we only had two freshmen out," Ward said.

"Now, I've got a few more people to work with."

Ward attributes the larger turn-out to "my P.R. campaign. I let the girls know that we do start practice early."

"I showed them that I was interested in them and that I wanted them to come out."

Strong front line should give Cougars a potent attack

It's in the nature of coaches to worry. And Bob Guelker, veteran coach of the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville Cougars, isn't any exception.

He's worried about his Cougar kickers despite the fact the 1978 edition of the SIUE soccer team is literally bulging with battle-tested talent. The team is an aggregation of skillful players who last year came within a few inches of winning the NCAA Division I championship even though Guelker was regularly starting six freshmen in his lineup. All six are back and raring to go in their sophomore year.

"We don't have the depth that won us that big trip to the national finals at Berkeley," Guelker says. "An injury this season could be a real disaster," he explains.

The Cougar soccer team will make its home debut Saturday, Sept. 2 in an afternoon (1:30) exhibition contest with the always strong University of Missouri team. The Cougars' defensive ace of the past four seasons, Greg (Face) Makowski, Makowski was injured in an afternoon (1:30) exhibition contest with the always strong University of Missouri team. The Cougars' defensive ace of the past four seasons, Greg (Face) Makowski, Makowski was injured in an afternoon (1:30) exhibition contest with the always strong University of Missouri team.

Stajdohar gets baseball ride

Former Granite City South star Tony Stajdohar has been given a baseball scholarship to Dallas Baptist College. Stajdohar, a 1976 graduate of Granite City South, will pitch for the Texas school. Stajdohar played for Southern Illinois University-Edwardsville after graduation, then sat out last season after transferring. He will be eligible to play this season.

REINHARDT—Realtor Sells—BETTER LIVING

Hummert, Guelker, Ebert, Higgins, Malloy, an Bozada, six players who could play "striker" for almost any Division I school in the U.S.

It gives the Cougars an awesome, almost overwhelming, offensive potential. You stop one, and five others can burn you.

Guelker has high hopes that the problem of possible injuries could be solved if freshmen Pat Malloy and George Mishalov come through for him as he expects.

The Cougars, after their full-dress debut against the Mexican kickers, will open their regular season in a pair of games in the heart of Texas, playing the Southern Methodist University Mustangs at Dallas, Friday, Sept. 8 and North Texas State U. at Denton, Sunday, Sept. 10.

The following week, SIUE will take part in the Big Red Classic of Indiana University at Bloomington, Ind., Sept. 16-17. The field in the Big Red Classic could well have at least three schools of the final four to advance to the nationals at Ft.

Lauderdale, Fla. early in December. Next will come a pair of road-trip games as the Cougars invade the "snake pit" at Kansas City to battle tough Little Rockhurst College, Sept. 23, and then take on fast-coming Benedictine College at Atchison, Kan., Sept. 24.

Others in the tournament at Indiana are Hartwick College and Penn State U., both powerhouses in the East year after year. Hartwick won the championship at Berkeley, and Penn State made it to the Pennsylvania regional finals before bowing out last year. Of course, it took four overtimes for the Cougars to defeat the Hoosiers of Indiana in the midwest regional tournament. The year before, Indiana U. knocked out the Cougars 1-0 in the regional and went on to finish second in the national finals at Philadelphia.

In warm-up, extra exhibition workouts, the Cougars have looked tough: they beat beat Lewis and Clark Community College, 5-1, and shutout a very strong, Moraine Community College eleven, 1-0.

He has three choices: Matt Malloy, Jeff Cacciatore and senior Brian Higgins.

Last year, Higgins started regularly, while Jeff rotated with his brother, Chris (who graduated), at the wings. Now, in Guelker's 4-3-3 system, only time will tell which of the three will start.

At centerforward, it'll be Don Ebert, who led the Cougars in scoring as a freshman last year with 20 points on 14 goals and 6 assists. The intense, hard-playing Ebert, who looks much taller than his actual six feet, is given a very good chance of breaking John Garza's all-time SIUE scoring record of 100 points (71 goals and 29 assists), set in the four seasons from 1968 through 1971.

At midfield, it'll be a fully recovered Bob Bozada with Tim Guelker and Dave Hummert. With the exception of tiny (5-3) Cacciatore, the Cougars have in CONCENTRATION—Granite North senior Liz Clay's face shows the concentration she's putting into her shot. The Steelers open their season in two weeks.

YMCA offers variety of swim classes

The YMCA will be starting the fall series of swimming lessons Tuesday, Sept. 5 through Sept. 28. The "Y's famous 'Learn-to-Swim' classes, from Diaper Dip to Shark and Adult Swim Instruction, will be offered a variety of times. South's Wojcik happy with Warrior work Impressed is the word around Granite City South football practices these days.

"I'm very impressed with the way our offense has been executing," says South coach Stan Wojcik, between chaws of tobacco.

"We've stuck to only a few plays and concentrated on executing those. We've done a good job so far."

And on defense?

"Last night (Tuesday night) was the first night we looked at the defense, and I was impressed with their aggressiveness," Wojcik said. Offensively, the people who have made the biggest "impression" on the Warrior coach have been running backs Scott Polson and Dave Mahaffey, slotback Pat Hogan and ends Lee Heubner and Todd McFarland.

"They've all been working real hard," Wojcik said. "They've been running the plays very well."

Wojcik said the Warriors have been working on their running game considerably, but "I'm not going to be afraid to pass this year."

"I'm going to try to set up our running game by throwing the ball more this year," he said. "I'm going to try and throw 10 or 15 times a game at least."

Quarterback Jeff Parker will be doing the throwing for Wojcik, and his coach says he's "been looking good, overall."

Wojcik says he's even been fooling around with the idea of using the shotgun formation this year. Does that imply his offensive line is hurting?

"We have a young offensive line and they're just beginning to jell as a unit," Wojcik said. "They could be big or they could be small depending on who winds up there."

"We'll know more after the scrimmage (tonight)."

Defensively, Wojcik has been pleased with the work of senior linebacker Mike Thomas, 5-9, 180, and middle guard Rick Dimoch, 5-11, 205.

"They're both very aggressive and they're good hitters," Wojcik said. The South coach said he probably will employ a 5-4 defense, although "we're just feeling our way around right now."

Deterding says he expects Fletcher to coach next year

By BRAD BUGGER

Granite City South basketball coach Don Deterding says it would be like losing one of the old guard if Collinsville legend Vernie Fletcher is indeed through as Kahok coach.

But Deterding, who played for Fletcher for three years at Collinsville, quickly adds that he expects Fletcher to be back.

The 63-year-old Fletcher officially "resigned" Monday night. He and the Collinsville school board failed to work out an arrangement that would allow him to coach and be athletic director, without teaching.

However, the board left open the possibility that something could be worked out later and Deterding thinks they'll come to some accord.

If not, the man who has led the Kahoks to 74 victories and only 171 defeats over 32 years will no longer be sitting quietly in the Collinsville bench this winter.

"It would be like when Duster Thomas quit at Pinckneyville, or when Pick Dehner left East St. Louis," Deterding said.

"You hate to see the old timers go, but that's progress. I expect Fletcher to be back."

Deterding played for Fletcher from 1949 through 1952. He says he found Fletcher to be distant towards his team.

"He was never very personable with his players," Deterding said. "Not that he wasn't interested in them, but he let you know he was the coach."

Confidence and pride were the two greatest lessons he learned from Fletcher, the Warrior coach said.

"I was fortunate in that I was one of the players expected to shoot for him," Deterding said. "When I got the ball, I was expected to score. There was no worry about how I was going to score. I was just expected to get the job done."

"He instilled a lot of confidence in his players. That's probably the greatest thing I remember."

As a coach, Deterding is 5-10 against Fletcher, whose 789 victories leave him just short of the state record.

"I've always seen Collinsville and Fletcher as being synonymous," Deterding said. "And anytime I coach against them, I want to beat my old coach."

Deterding says he has nothing but respect for Fletcher, both as a former player for him, and as an opposing coach.

"He's respected all over the state and I hope he reaches at least another year so he can get the record for victories. That would give him even more respect around the state."

What would it be like coaching against a Kahok team without Fletcher at the helm?

"I don't think it would be that different," Deterding said. "It would still be Collinsville. The dream of every kid in Collinsville is to wear that Kahok emblem across your chest."

Jackich says Trojan timing off, 'slow'

By BRAD BUGGER

There's nothing like a conversation with Madison football coach Nick Jackich.

How's practice progressing, coach?

"Slow."

Oh, well, why do you say that?

"Nothing's going right."

Huh. Well, what exactly is the problem?

"Timing."

You get the idea. Jackich is not pleased with the way his Trojans are practicing and he doesn't need a whole lot of words to say it.

Jackich's biggest concern is putting together a backfield. He's already suffered one setback there, with James Heard, the gifted runner, having undergone shoulder surgery this summer. He won't play until well into the season, if then.

A number of Madison track stars have tried to fill in the backfield slots, but Jackich has not been thrilled with the results.

"Our timing has been terrible," he said. "It's not easy breaking in an entirely new backfield."

Running back candidates include Eric Stanley, Nick Feurkar, Sylvester Collins, Maurice Hughes and Tommy Leonard. They're all either seniors or juniors, some are fast and none have played well enough to get a toe-hold on a backfield slot.

Jackich says he'll choose a quarterback "Friday night. That's next Friday night (right before the Trojans' opening game against Quincy Notre Dame)."

Seniors Earnest Jackson and Carlyn Davenport are the two candidates for the job. Jackich says both are average runners, average passers.

"Our offense is really at a stalemate now," Jackich said. "We've been working on our running game almost entirely. I really can't say too much about the offense, yet."

Defensively, Jackich has been pleasantly surprised with the work of sophomore linebacker Clinton Sensibaugh.

At 5-11, 175 pounds, Sensibaugh "has good quickness," Jackich said.

"He's learned the position quickly."

Overall, Jackich said he hasn't worked his defense enough to know how that unit will perform.

"We've worked almost exclusively on offense and it's just too early to tell how good we'll be on defense," he said.

Jackich said his line is "about average size. They go about 160 or so. I don't pay much attention to that. Size doesn't mean anything in football. It's just how well you do the job."

How well are the Trojans doing the job?

"We've got a long way to go in short time," Jackich said.

Three Granite South hockey players successful in St. Louis league

Three Granite City boys participated in St. Louis University coach Bill Seiman's Olympic development league this summer in Chesterfield, Mo.

Greg Mulach, Todd McFarland and Andy Hinterser, all Granite South students, participated in the league along with several players from college and junior leagues.

The league was made up of evenly divided teams that played a 26-game schedule and a championship playoff.

Mulach, a junior at South, played goal for the Green squad, which came in first in league play and second in the playoffs.

Mulach lead all goalenders with the lowest goals against average for the 22 games, beating out Greg Rosenbhal, a junior at Notre Dame University.

Todd McFarland, a senior at South, placed in the top twenty goal scorers in the league. McFarland played on the Red team.

Hinterser, a junior, was injured and missed much of league play.

McFarland played for the junior "B" Blazers last year and will play for them again this season.

Hinterser was drafted by the St. Louis Blues junior team and Mulach was drafted by the junior "B" Blazers for the coming season.

HEADED COACH—Granite City South football coach Stan Wojcik pictured here during a game last season, said he is happy with the way his Warriors have

Baker among prize ISU freshmen

Illinois State University cross country coach John Coughlan doesn't try to fool anyone. He's the first to admit that building a strong cross country program takes a great deal of time and hard work. Coughlan has a good idea of what he needs to build a strong cross country program in the state. He's looking for freshmen who are fast, strong and have a good sense of direction.

But Coughlan's search has a good start. He's looking for freshmen who are fast, strong and have a good sense of direction.

Coughlan isn't building a cross country program with a weak start. He's looking for freshmen who are fast, strong and have a good sense of direction.

Four other returnees along with freshman comprise what Coughlan terms, "The Big Five." They are juniors Chris Kuntz of Villa Park (Wilkesboro), Mark Tomasko of Park Ridge (Maine East) and Gary Richmond of Wood Dale (Joliet), and sophomores Mike Matteson (Aurora West).

Senior letterman Kevin Zeigle also returns to action after sitting out his junior year with an injury.

Kuntz, who holds the 5,000-meter record in track, may be slowed at the season's start after suffering a broken bone in his foot at the beginning of the summer.

Coughlan says Kuntz is running again but may be a little out of shape in the beginning.

Matteson, the holder of the school record in the 10,000-meter run, had the third fastest time among 19-year-olds in the country in that event last season.

Bill Feid who ran for Coughlan at Maine East High School, was injured in the opening meet last season and was redshirted, allowing him four years of eligibility starting this season.

Recruiting was a bonus for ISU also.

"Our recruiting was nothing short of fantastic," said Coughlan. "It's definitely the strongest group to come here."

Some of the runners' statistics prove Coughlan's point.

Herman Sahneyah of Tuba City, Ariz., was a high school All-American in both cross country and track. Also Jim Galen of Dolton (Thorndike) placed second in the Class AA two-mile run.

Mike Baker of Granite City (North), Mark Chase (Danville) and Arvis Myron (Tuba City, Ariz.), were prep all-state runners last season.

"Last year was a transition year," admits Coughlan, "but this year we hope to take off and go with the program. We would like to be recognized as one of the premier cross country programs around."

Schleicher, who was injured in practice about a week ago, sustained a deep bruise at the base of his neck. Kiser said earlier this week. At first, Schleicher's injury was thought to be much more serious. Kiser said doctors originally diagnosed it as a broken vertebrae.

However, the former Steeler star is back attending practices and meetings, although he has not suited up yet.

Janet Rinehart becomes Mrs. John E. Giesler

MRS. JOHN E. GIESLER. She is the former Janet Rinehart of Amarillo, Tex., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin C. Rinehart, 4136 Kaseburg Lane. Her wedding took place at Zion Lutheran Church in St. Louis.

Zion Lutheran Church, St. Louis, was the scene of the wedding of Miss Janet Marie Rinehart and John Edward Giesler of Amarillo, Tex.

The couple was united in marriage in a 7 o'clock double ring service, performed Aug. 18 by Pastor Samuel J. Roth.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Rinehart, 4136 Kaseburg Lane, Pontoon Beach.

Parents of the groom are Joe Giesler of Amarillo, Tex., and Mrs. Judy Jones of Tulsa, Tex.

"The Wedding Song" and The Lord's Prayer were sung in a program of music.

The former Miss Rinehart chose a white wedding gown of organza over tulle. The bodice was designed with a scoop neckline and Empire waist.

A wide ruffle of Chantilly lace, sprinkled with seed pearls, accented the neckline and draped softly over short bell sleeves of Chantilly.

Lace medallions, appliqued with seed pearl clusters, enhanced the waist and the front of the full skirt. A deep flounce, edged with bands of lace at the hemline and lace scalloped above, cascaded into a chapel length train.

She wore yellow rosebuds in her hair and carried a bouquet of fresh flowers and stephanotis.

The honor attendant was Miss Charlene Kennerly. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Robert Rinehart, Miss Judy Rinehart, Miss Linda Rinehart, Mrs. Don Dummit, Mrs. John Moran and Mrs. Tom Colbert.

The maid of honor and bridesmaids were gowned alike in sunshine yellow chiffon. Their frocks were fashioned along Empire lines, with spaghetti straps at the shoulders and an overlay of sheer yellow chiffon. On their hair, they wore four-cornered caps, lined in yellow silk ribbon. The flower girl was Dawn Marie Rinehart and the ringbearer was Robbie Rinehart.

Dawn appeared in a long white gown, trimmed with white chiffon and lace at the neckline. A yellow bow accented the Empire waist.

Kenda Garrison was best man and the corps of groomsmen included Robert Rinehart, Dan Rinehart, Rick Rinehart, Jimmy Giesler, Joe Giesler and Jeff Giesler.

Don Dummit and Ed Kennerly were ushers. The rehearsal party was hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Don (Penny) Dummit at their home and featured a barbecue supper.

Guests greeted the newlyweds at a reception held in the hall at Tri-City American Legion Post 113 on State Street.

The former Miss Rinehart was graduated in 1972 from Granite City High School South. She is employed as secretary for the Texas State Department of Human Resources in Amarillo.

Her husband is a 1974 graduate of Caprock High School in Amarillo, is a sales representative for the R. J. Reynolds Co. The couple is now at home at 1616 South Jackson, Amarillo.

MORE RETIREMENT PAY FOR TEACHERS, OTHERS

Governor James Thompson has signed legislation that will provide a 50 percent increase in the post-retirement allotment for the state's retired teachers and other state employees.

HR 1863 ultimately will affect 600,000 retired teachers, state employees and retired state university employees.

Miss Sherri Kampwerth, Steven Meyer are married

MR. MRS. STEVEN MEYER before the altar of St. John's Lutheran Church in Maryville. The bride is the former Sherri Kampwerth, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Leonard Kampwerth of Edwardsville.

In a candlelight service, Miss Sherri Kampwerth and Steven Meyer were married at St. John's Lutheran Church in Maryville.

The bride is a daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Leonard Kampwerth of Edwardsville.

The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Bob Juracek of Granite City and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Meyer of Belleville.

Pastor Ron Helmer and Pastor William Kniffel officiated at the double ring ceremony at 6:30 p.m. June 3.

Miss Cindy Kampwerth was maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Misses Karen Neuman and Karen Brandt.

Mark Whitworth was best man and the groomsmen were Steve Mosler and Fred Trovsky. Serving as ushers were Steve Kampwerth and Bobby Meyer.

The flower girl, Lori Kampwerth, was escorted by Richard Meyer, ring bearer.

She carried a bouquet of white, pink, blue, green and yellow daisies, with pink roses at the center.

The attendants wore long gowns of silk chiffon in green and blue and carried pink and white bouquets.

The flower girl was in a full length frock of ivory silk with a matching cap. She held a bouquet of varicolored daisies and pink roses.

The rehearsal dinner was given at Rusty's in Edwardsville.

The American Legion hall in Edwardsville was the setting for the reception.

The groom is a graduate of Granite City High School.

Mrs. Meyer, an Edwardsville High School graduate, is employed by Budget Marketing in St. Louis.

They are now residing on Old Alton Road in Edwardsville.

Series by 6 soloists, conductors

"On Stage" 1978, a behind-the-scenes opportunity to hear lectures by three concert soloists and three conductors, will be presented again this year by the Women's Association of the St. Louis Symphony Society.

Monday morning sessions will be held from 10:30 to 11:30 a.m.

The series has become an annual presentation by the Women's Association, both to raise funds and to provide patrons a close-up and personal look at the orchestra. Participants enter by the stage door, sit on the hall stage in the musicians' chairs and learn much about music, musicians and how a concert is put together.

As a special bonus, On Stage ticketholders will be invited to the 10 a.m. dress rehearsal Thursday, Nov. 30, of a concert being prepared by Sarah Caldwell for performance that evening.

Following the dress rehearsal, Miss Caldwell will answer questions.

Patrons are being invited to bring a guest to the Caldwell event. Miss Caldwell is artistic director of the Opera Company of Boston.

The 1978 programs are as follows: Oct. 9, Jacques Israelievitch, concertmaster, and Thomas Dunn, principal violin. "The Unique Responsibilities of a Principal"; Oct. 23, Pamela Mia Paul, chairman of the piano department at the St. Louis Conservatory of Music, "The Mistique of the Concert Pianist"; Oct. 29, Erich Kunzel, music advisor of the New Haven Symphony and artistic director of the 8 o'clock concerts of the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra, "Pops Is Big Business"; Nov. 6, Walter Susskind, music advisor of the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra and former conductor of the St. Louis Symphony, "Mahler in St. Louis"; Nov. 27, Mitch Miller, television personality who has conducted major orchestras in the U.S. and Canada, a "Talk-Along With Mitch."

Reservations for On Stage are limited. Cost is $30 for the five sessions, plus the bonus dress rehearsal with Sarah Caldwell.

Eagles Auxiliary honors Mrs. Sanders

Members of Eagles Auxiliary Unit 1126 willing to help with a Christmas calendar program are being asked to meet at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Sept. 5, at the lodge hall.

Mrs. Florida Batson, who is in charge of the project, needs help. Mrs. Kathleen Reed, president, announced last week at the group's regular meeting.

In addition to a business session, a surprise birthday party was held for Mrs. Dolores Sanders, the unit's Auxiliary Mother.

The honoree was escorted to the altar and presented with gifts and a birthday cake by auxiliary members. The tables were decorated with pink and red roses, surrounding candle centerpieces. Mrs. Lola Barylake was in charge of the decorations.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Anna Reed, Mrs. Florence

Hagnum and Mrs. Kathleen Reed.

Games were played and prizes were awarded to Mrs. Barylake and Mrs. Patty Thomas.

Twenty-eight members attended the meeting and party.

Health and school progress related

By MARY RICHARDS
Illinois Department of Public Health

Many parents wonder why Illinois schools are so insistent about health exams for children who are either just starting school, or entering fifth or ninth grade.

For one thing, health exams for children entering these grades are required in the Illinois School Code. And educators and health professionals know there is a direct relationship between a child's health and the progress of his school work. A healthy child does better in school than does a child who has a health problem.

The school health examination is a good way to detect or prevent health problems which might interfere with a child's ability to do well in school.

According to state guidelines, the school physician should include the following: blood pressure; bodily measurements; anemia check; tuberculosis skin test at the physician's discretion; vision and hearing screenings; examination of the skin; inspection of the ears, nose and throat; dental check; examination of the respiratory system; gastrointestinal checkup; cardiovascular (heart) examination; physical inspection of the muscular and skeletal systems; developmental screening; and, of course, the complete series of immunizations.

If your child is just starting school, or entering fifth or ninth grade, your school district will send a school health examination form home. It is then up to you to take your child to your family doctor for the physical. It is important that you accompany your child so you can answer any questions.

Vision and hearing screenings are important parts of the examination, since so much is learned through these two senses. In most areas, the screenings are conducted in the schools by persons trained and certified by the Illinois Department of Public Health.

But your child's vision and response to sound should be checked periodically from birth. Don't wait until the child is five or six years old, as some vision and hearing problems are much easier to treat while the child is very small.

Good eyesight and hearing are important to the development of skills each child should have by the time he or she begins school.

So, remember, the school health examination is important to your child's health and to your child's progress in school. Actually, the school exams are just part of the series of health exams your child should have, beginning in infancy.

Contractors 're-evaluate' issues in labor dispute

Negotiators of the Southern Illinois Builders Association have been meeting for the past two days to re-evaluate the contractors' position in the laborers' strike which has tied an estimated 10,000 construction trade workers in 12 counties since Aug. 1, an SIBA spokesman said today.

Contractors who are represented by the SIBA in contract talks with the District Laborers Council of Southern Illinois and 10 other laborers union locals will be contacted by telephone within the next few days to discuss any position change growing out of the meetings, the spokesman said. Meanwhile, no further talks between the contractors and the laborers unions have been scheduled, according to the office of Wayne Barber, executive manager of the SIBA. Thomas O'Brien, a SIBA Mediation and Conciliation Service of St. Louis who has been taking part in the negotiations, said the arrangements for any further discussions, it was said.

Today marked the 31st day of the laborers' strike which began Aug. 1 immediately following expiration of their contract with the contractors. The strike idled approximately 4,000 members of the laborers district council and another 6,000 trades workers in other crafts who refused to cross picket lines set up by the laborers.

The impasse resulted Tuesday in a suit filed in U.S. District Court at Alton by the Wood River construction firm against Granite City Local 397 and East St. Louis Local 100, charging the two locals are "conspiring to injure the commercial interests of the firm and interfere with business contracts."

The suit was filed by G. Helmkamp Excavating and Trucking Co. Helmkamp is a member of SIBA and its formal pickets have been set up at its firm by the two locals named in the suit. The suit seeks a permanent injunction against the firm for damages commensurate with the amount of time the pickets remain at the company.

Arthur Griffin of Granite City Local 397 and Ronald Shevin of Local 100, business agents for the unions, also are named defendants in the suit.

Unions officials say their memberships are standing firm in their position to remain on strike until they get what they want. Major issues include a contractors' demand for a flexible lunch hour period and a reduction in overtime from double time to one and one-half on weekdays and Saturday when workers do not work a full week.

Griffin said this week that he would like to see the strike end, noting, "It's not a good situation." He said some of the men are beginning to feel the effects of the strike and some are taking part-time jobs elsewhere.

"We have no restriction on that," he said. "We have no benefits, no strike fund." He said the union is making the determination "to stick it out" as great now as when the strike began.

St. John church group to make, sell apple butter

The congregation of St. John United Church of Christ again has taken the lead in the making and selling of country-cooked apple butter. The adult fellowship organization of St. John United Church of Christ has taken this project as its September event.

Making apple butter the old-fashioned way, in large copper kettles over open fires, will be a new experience for many of the congregation. The Youth Fellowship has volunteered to pick the 40 bushels of apples needed and other people have volunteered for some part of the two-day activity. The more experienced members of the congregation have volunteered the situation and asked to lead for the residents complying.

The deatment occurred west of Route 159 near the intersection of Longfellow and McKinley avenues.

Both had been put back on the tracks by 8 a.m.

Officials at first believed that the loaded tank had a leak and about 30 to 50 residents in the immediate area were advised of the situation and asked to leave for their own safety with many of the residents complying.

The derailment occurred west of Route 159 near the intersection of Longfellow and McKinley avenues.

Propane tanks derailed

Ten cars of an 80-car Illinois Terminal train derailed at 12:30 a.m. today in the southern part of Edwardsville.

The train was southbound when the derailment occurred and first indications are that a split rail caused the mishap.

Two of the cars which derailed were liquid propane tank cars one of which was loaded and the other empty.

The Trailriders Saddle Club will hold its next point show starting at 1 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 3, at the club grounds on Chouteau Slough Road at Rock Road, near the Chain of Rocks canal, it was announced Wednesday.

All remaining shows of the season are to be held on Sunday, it was noted. The Sept. 10 show will be the last of the point shows, followed by two fun shows which will be the last appearances of the season.

Joseph Martin, 29, of 2735 Sunset Drive, and Mrs. Augusta Lampe, 73, of 2921 E. 24th St., were injured when their cars rolled over on Nameoki Road at Jull Avenue at 5:50 p.m. Wednesday.

Mrs. Lampe's auto was pushed into a stop sign and a utility pole. The Granite City Fire Department was called to the scene to wash gasoline from the street after the crash.

Martin was taken by Granite City ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital where he was treated for a cut to his chin. Surfers were administered and he was released.

Mrs. Lampe suffered cuts to her upper lip, the left side of her face, her forehead and both arms and a fractured right arm. She was admitted.

BASEMENT BURGLARIZED An alarm clock, two tape recordings, three shirts and two towels were stolen from the basement apartment of Carl Dahm, 2015 Washington Ave. between 11 a.m. and midnight Tuesday. The rear door was kicked open to gain entry.

Emphasize transportation for aged and handicapped

Transportation services for the elderly and handicapped were a major item of business at yesterday's monthly meeting of the board of directors of East-West Gateway Coordinating Council.

The Gateway board adopted the Elderly and Handicapped (E&H) Transportation Plan and endorsed applications totaling $279,730 from 13 not-for-profit agencies that are providing special transportation services to the elderly and handicapped.

The E&H Plan, based on an analysis of the number and distribution of the elderly and handicapped throughout the metropolitan area, assigns priorities to communities for addressing the issue of transportation for these persons.

Funded by the Urban Mass Transportation Administration, the plan recommends enhancing existing Development Agency, recognized nationally as an innovator in serving the handicapped, will be primarily responsible for implementing provisions of the E&H Plan.

The Gateway board also heard a report from St. Louis Mayor James S. Conway, chairman of the Council's Air Quality Advisory Committee charged with overseeing completion of state implementation plans by Jan. 1, 1979, as mandated by Clean Air Act amendments of 1977.

The committee is dealing directly with the issue of an automobile inspection and maintenance program.

Analysis has shown that the major source of air pollution in this metropolitan area is automobile exhaust.

The board also passed a resolution supporting St. Louis as the site for the 1982 convention of the National Association of Regional Councils. The convention, if held in St. Louis, would bring 2,500 visitors and up to $1 million to the metropolitan area.

Man Biby investigated aiding candidacy—deputy

Ken Thompson, former operator of Town Crier book store in the 1900 block of Delmar Avenue, was transferred last night from St. Mary's Medical Center in Richmond Heights, Mo., to Firmin Desloge Hospital, St. Louis.

Thompson will undergo open heart surgery and removal of an aneurysm Friday at Firmin Desloge.

The local businessman suffered a massive heart attack in mid-July and was hospitalized for several weeks at St. Elizabeth here.

He had returned home only one day when he suffered another heart attack. He was a patient at St. Mary's Medical Center from Aug. 18 until yesterday.

Thompson is in Room 345 of the Intensive Care Unit at Firmin Desloge Hospital, 1325 S. Grand Ave., St. Louis.

News notes

Teacher strikes are continuing today in Edwardsville, Waterloo and Collinsville. In the latter pay dispute, a court hearing is scheduled for tomorrow. Collinsville athletes have continued to practice, but Edwardsville teams have not, delaying the start of the fall season.

At a hearing in Alton yesterday, 200 persons urge the SIBU School of Dental Medicine remain in that city rather than being placed on the main campus.

Hearings set for Sept. 8 at SIBU by Illinois legislators to study methods by which Madison County has succeeded in achieving an increased number of rape convictions.

Reservations are being taken at the Chamber of Commerce office for the 1978 annual meeting at 6 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 26, at Sunset Hills Country Club. Illinois Bell Telephone Co. President Charles Marshall will speak.

Edwardsville Assessor Blair Watson this week ordered a $43,000 valuation for the 31.5 acre leased for this summer's Mississippi River Festival concert series. He assessed 473 acres rented as farmland at $125,000.

Gov. James R. Thompson yesterday signed providing another $6 million to aid elderly persons wishing to continue residing at home instead of entering a nursing home. Funds will help defray costs of meals, cleaning, nursing and errands. Applications may be submitted after Jan. 1 to the Illinois Public Aid Department. Thompson also signed a bill raising 23 fishing licenses to $5, and 83 hunting licenses to $7, or $11 combined.

The eight-member Illinois Board of Elections yesterday began studying the 7,000 petition signatures seeking a tax-spending ceiling advisory election Nov. 7. It will rule by Sept. 7 whether the "Thompson proposition" is to appear on the ballot. The governor on Tuesday appointed a new member of the board.

U.S. Energy Department officials said Monday they won't provide $61 million proposed to build a new liquid refinery in Wood River. A delay until the mid-1980s is being recommended.

United Steelworkers of America President Lloyd McBride, formerly St. Louis district and Granite City sub-district director, told an AFL-CIO conference Tuesday in Washington, D.C., that a Missouri "right to work" referendum is only one example of a major offensive against the trade union movement by "radical right wing" groups.

SECTION 5: This Ordinance shall take effect from and after its passage, approval and publication as provided by law, PASSED BY THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF GRANITE CITY, ILLINOIS,

Court asked to bar candidate

Louis Whitsett, incumbent Madison County Board Member from District 36 who is seeking re-election, filed suit in Madison County Circuit Court Monday afternoon against the Madison County Electoral Board and its members, seeking to have Mrs. Helen Hawkins' name ordered off the Nov. 7 general election ballot for County Board in that district.

In his suit, filed by Attorney H. Carl Runge, Whitsett alleges the elections board "erred in its order with respect to its findings as to Helen M. Hawkins."

The Electoral Board, comprised of Circuit Judge Horace Calvo, State's Attorney Nicholas G. Byron and County Clerk Evelyn Bowles, held a hearing Aug. 18 on motions by Whitsett and Mrs. Hawkins.

Mrs. Hawkins challenged the Republican candidate on the basis of residency.

Whitsett initially sought to have both Mrs. Hawkins (People for Helen Hawkins Party) and Robert Barton (Republican) removed from the ballot, but the Electoral Board ruled after the hearing that both petitions of candidacy were in order and properly filed.

In the lawsuit filed Monday, Runge repeats his objection that Mrs. Hawkins has been elected to an office in a major political party (Democratic precinct committeeman in Namecki Township) and therefore cannot qualify to "create a new political party for the purpose of running for office."

He contends to allow her to run as a Democrat in the primary election and then on a different party in the general election gives her supporters, in effect, two primary election votes for her and is a violation "of the equal protection and the process clauses of the federal and state constitutions" and state statutes.

It seeks a ruling from the court reversing the finding of the Electoral Board and removing Mrs. Hawkins' name from the Nov. 7 ballot for county board.

MARKS 9TH BIRTHDAY
Joey Edwards, 9½ Sunset Drive, celebrated his ninth birthday with a party given by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Edwards, at Wilson Park.

Games were played and prizes were won by Jeff Fedora, Richard Caldwell and Bobby Michaels.

After opening of gifts, cake, ice cream and soft drinks were served to the honoree's guests. Others attending were Mark Parker, Danny Miller, Timmy Jackson, Tammy Miller and the honoree's sisters, Sandra, Diana and Tracey Edwards.

Beware of bees

By WAYNE B. SIEBERT
County Horticulture Adviser
Bees and wasps in shrubbery are tough customers unless you treat at night an use a fast knock-down material.

Bees and wasps often build paperlike nests under eaves or in shrubs and protected places. Disturbing the nest during the daytime can cause you or your family to be stung or harassed for several days.

Treat the nest at night by squirting a blast of carbaryl, dieldrin, baygon or malathion into the nest.

Thoroughly wet the outside of the nest and nearby twigs. Dust combinations are equally effective.

Remove the nest after it has been treated, but wait at least 24 hours.

If none of these are in your home pesticide arsenal, you can get a Wasp and Hornet aerosol bomb at local garden stores. These bombs shoot a stream of material for several feet. A combination of knock-down and knock-out materials in these bombs make them a handy addition to your pesticide supplies.

Yellowjackets often build their nest underground. Their temperamental nature requires extreme care during the daytime.

Treat the underground nest with carbaryl. Promptly plug the opening with soil after treatment.

Region 4 of the United Auto Workers Union consists of the states of Illinois, Iowa and Nebraska. Each state has its own U.A.W. Community Action Program (C.A.P.) Council. There are 120 U.A.W. local unions in the state of Illinois, with approximately 150,000 members. The Downstate Area C.A.P. Council (one of seven C.A.P. councils in Illinois) comprises all of Southern Illinois including Madison and St. Clair counties.

INTERNATIONAL CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED AUTO WORKERS UNION:
ARTICLE 23: Community Action Program Councils. Section 1. The objective and purpose of the UAW Community Action Program Councils are to develop, promote and implement policies and programs designed to improve and enrich the quality of American life. The UAW Community action program (hereinafter referred to as C.A.P.) shall engage in community, civic, welfare, educational, cultural, citizenship-legislative, consumer protection, community services and other activities to improve the economic and social conditions of U.A.W. members and their families and to promote the general welfare and democratic way of life for all people.

AN OPEN STATEMENT FROM WILLARD HERZING TO THE CITIZENS OF THE QUAD-CITY AREA AND VICINITY.

It is time we fought back, in fact it is long overdue. It is a must that the senior citizens and the people who work for a living, regardless of where they work, and our members be encouraged to register their families, neighbors and friends. This is a must. We've got to elect candidates that will speak up for us, if we intend to defeat the rich and the powerful. IN ORDER TO VOTE, YOU MUST BE REGISTERED.

WILLARD HERZING, President

CUTTING CAKE after their wedding at Cedarview General Baptist Church are Army Private First Class and Mrs. Randy R. Thompson. The bride is the former Susan E. Bargel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bargel, 4074 Breckenridge Lane.

Miss Susan Bargel and Randy Thompson are wed

Army Private First Class and Mrs. Randy R. Thompson are now at home in Hopkinsville, Ky. The serviceman is stationed at nearby Fort Campbell, Ky. The couple was married April 22 at Cedarview General Baptist Church here, with the Rev. Rudolph Hickerson officiating at the double ring service.

The bride is the former Susan E. Bargel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bargel, 4074 Breckenridge Lane.

The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Vern Thompson, 1919 Edwardsville Road.

Hurricane lanterns with white satin bows were situated along the aisle and pink, white and burgundy roses and candelabras decorated the altar.

Candlelighters were Chris Lewis and Sherri Seibert, cousin and niece of the bride and groom, respectively.

A program of wedding music was presented by Dolores Cox, organist, and Elizabeth Rich, soloist, who played and sang "If," "You Light Up My Life" and "The Wedding Song."

Allison Bell was in charge of the guest book and Pam Evans distributed the rice packets to guests.

The former Miss Bargel chose a wedding gown of silk organza and Chantilly lace. The bodice had a high, stand-up lace collar and long tight sleeves of Chantilly, ending in ruffles at the wrist.

Embossed Chantilly lace formed a V design at the front of the gown and the skirt had an overlay, creating an apron effect, trimmed with ruffles and lace and tying at the back.

GRANITE CITY REALTY announces the opening of a $3.2 million luxury home subdivision in the Maryville area. This subdivision known as "MARYVILLE MEADOWS" is located on Highway 162, one mile West of Highway 159—Northwest of Maryville.

Herman Schroeder, owner of Granite City Realty, exclusive agents for the development, describes the Maryville Subdivision as follows: There will be a total of 38 lots, many of which will border a 3-acre stocked lake. The gently rolling, wooded terrain will provide an excellent setting. The Builder is Larry Burton Construction Co., and the Owners are Bill and Elaine Howe. Homes will be custom built to the owners specifications. In addition, there are several plans prospective home owners can select from. Two plans will be available within the next six weeks. Prices of the homes will start at $90,000.

Four arrested in Venice fight

Venice police responded to a call at 8:17 p.m. Sunday about a fight in progress, and four women were arrested.

Carolyn Carter, 22, of 84 Lee Wright Homes, Venice, was arrested at Calhoun and Weaver streets, Venice. She was charged with disorderly conduct and released on notice to appear in court on Monday.

Sept. 25, at 1 p.m.

The other three women were being held in Venice City jail pending appearances in court.

One woman, 23, was charged with escape after she was placed in a police car, in addition to charges of resisting arrest and disorderly conduct. She later was taken into custody when she stopped by the police station to inquire about the others.

One woman, 31, involved was arrested at 10:45 p.m. in Garrett's tavern with aggravated battery and unlawful use of a weapon as police allegedly found a straight razor with possible dried blood on it in her possession.

The fourth woman, 23, was arrested at 10:45 p.m. at Second and Jackson streets and charged with unlawful use of a weapon, a large stick, and aggravated battery.

Police estimated there were between 40 and 60 people at the scene when they arrived.

Burglar flees

A man about 31 or 32 years old fled from the scene of a burglary at the home of Christine Cox, 2122 Edison Ave., about 5:15 p.m. Sunday.

Mrs. Cox said she and a friend were in the kitchen and two boys were in the television room when she discovered the front door was propped open with the doorman. The screen had been torn to allow the door to be unlocked from the outside.

Drawers in the front bedroom had been ransacked. The two boys checked the front porch and saw a man who uttered a profanity and jumped over the side railing. The man ran north. Nothing was believed stolen from the home. Mrs. Cox said she had found screws cut in apparently unsuccessful entry attempts the previous several nights.

FACES THEFT CHARGE
Marcella F. Papp, 24, of 2162 Edison Ave., was charged last week with theft for allegedly removing items from the front porch at the home of James Maylor, 2126 Missouri Ave., Aug. 16. She was released on a $100 cash bond.

280 foreign students at SIUE, 35 more expected during fall

"Classes, language, customs and food are just a few items which will be foreign to approximately 35 incoming students this fall at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. The 35 students have two things in common—they are new to this country and they have a need for permanent housing."

"The main priority with foreign students when they first arrive is to find permanent housing," according to Zahra Ahmed, foreign student adviser at SIUE. "Many students do not realize how short housing is until they get here," he told the Press-Record Tuesday.

A community volunteer organization called the International Hospitality Program (IHP) works with the Foreign Student Adviser's Office to provide temporary housing for students and help meet their other needs.

The IHP is made up of 100 families. Each family is assigned a new student whom the family meets at the airport and provides transportation to the campus and temporary housing, if necessary.

Ahmed said, "There are many other problems faced by these new students, such as obtaining a checking account, obtaining a Social Security number, immigration, etc."

"It is the job of this office to help the students with these activities," he continued.

Ahmed estimated there are between 280 and 300 foreign students on the local campus at this time, representing more than 30 foreign countries.

Iran has the biggest student representation, followed by Africa, China, India and Pakistan.

"When the students come to this country, they speak English. Their fluency depends on the country from which they come," Ahmed noted.

The IHP and Foreign Student Adviser's Office do many things to make the students feel "at home," in addition to helping them with their problems.

The Hospitality Program hosts picnics and arranges several get-togethers each year, to give the families opportunities to meet other students.

The Foreign Student Adviser's Office has scheduled a special fall orientation for new foreign students. On Sept. 23, the students will meet at the Tosovsky Center on the SIUE campus at 9:30 a.m. to discuss university credit hours, registration procedures and other topics.

"The IHP and Foreign Student Adviser's Office work together in helping the student meet his needs from housing problems to homesickness," Ahmed said.

"There is always a need for more families to do his bidding in the program," he added. He may be contacted at 692-2020.

Pressing on... Don't let those stewards bug you

How do you conduct yourself when dining at a fancy restaurant and confronted with a haughty sommelier or wine steward?

There are two apocryphal stories from New York of techniques used by two wine drinkers to throw a couple of condescending stewards into cataleptic states.

In the first, a great white Burgundy was ordered from the leather-bound wine list. The steward deftly cut the foil from the top edge of the bottle, and uncorked the bottle, placing the cork on the table in front of someone who had the appropriate look of anticipation. He picked up the cork, studied it for a few moments, then put salt on it and ate it, to the wide-eyed chagrin of the assembled staff and the applause of his fellow diners.

"Not a bad vintage," he smiled, daintily wiping his lips with the linen napkin. "But not a great one."

In the other instance, the ritual had advanced to the swirling-and-testing stage. The culprit smelled the wine, smelled it again and then went into a lengthy discourse about young vines, old vines, aging in barrels made of French oak.

Those at the table nodded in assent and the steward, sedentary in a bottle of old red wine, it would be better to decant the wine than set it in one of those cute cradles. If used properly, a cradle can keep a bottle at an angle so the sediment slides down into the corner of the bottle and concentrates in the last ounce or two, rather than in your glass. But more often than not, the cradle is picked up and handled without care, which really stirs up the sediment.

ICE BUCKETS — If you are drinking a less exciting has come to have wine in a restaurant. Wine is meant to be enjoyed with food and the staff is supposed to help make that possible. Don't let in hospitable or condescending stewards ruin it for you. Here are some tips on the handling of the ritual.

ORDERING — Choose wine to go with your food. If you are having wine as an aperitif or cocktail, have whatever tastes good. When in doubt about something on the wine list, always ask. Be specific about the vintages if vintages are listed. If you can't find something you like, ask if they have other wines not carried on the list.

CORK — The cork is offered so you can smell for signs of vinegariness (bad storage) and feel the end to see if it is wet (meaning it has been properly stored on its side). A bad cork can allow air to seep in and ruin a wine, particularly if it is stored upright in a hot pantry for a lengthy period of time.

CRADLES — If you or the wine steward are fussy about sediment in a bottle of old red wine, it would be better to decant the wine than set it in one of those cute cradles. If used properly, a cradle can keep a bottle at an angle so the sediment slides down into the corner of the bottle and concentrates in the last ounce or two, rather than in your glass. But more often than not, the cradle is picked up and handled without care, which really stirs up the sediment.

ICE BUCKETS — If you are drinking a less exciting

white wine or champagne, an ice bucket will keep it cool enough so the flaws don't show. If you are drinking a fine white wine, keep it out of the bucket so all the qualities show through, without your palate being frozen. Good white wines should be chilled slightly; buckets make it too cold.

LABELS — Waiters show you the labels, obviously, so you can see that it is the wine you ordered. A key point: don't let them pawn off a lesser vintage on you and charge the price listed for a great one (a thin and watery 1972 Bordeaux instead of a 1970, for example).

GLASSES — You should have a fresh glass for each wine if you are drinking good wine. If you are drinking the house jug wine, a Mason jar will suffice.

POURING — Your waiter or steward should keep your glasses filled to a proper level (about one-third full, so you can swirl the wine and play with it, without spilling any on yourself and your neighbors). Don't let him fill it to the top. If it's a jug wine or house carafe, pour your own.

TIPPING — If the wine steward is a good one, offering good service and good advice without unloading the house losers on you — a dollar a bottle can be given as a tip. For truly remarkable service with a fine old vintage, go to $2. The tip should also be reduced in direct relationship to the poor quality or haughtiness of the service.

Getting ahead by early Social Security start

Q. My wife and I are the same age, approaching 62, and we have each worked and earned maximum wages. Would it be better if we both retired at 62 or if one retired at 62 and the other waited until 67? It seems to me that since women live longer maybe I should take mine at 62 and have her wait until 65.

—W.G.B.

A. So far as retirement benefits are concerned, you would each be ahead for the first 15 years by accepting your monthly benefits any time prior to age 65.

The decision, however, is up to you and your wife. Your local Social Security office will supply you with benefit estimates which will help you decide on the most advantageous time to start collecting your monthly benefits.

HARMEN'S WESTERN AMERICANA: By Dorothy Harmon. Harmon Publishing Co., Denver, 213 Pages; $35. The West was a land of stunning beauty and purity before the era of trains and highways. Artists like John Hauser (1859-1913) painted the American Indian, that proud, resourceful native of the land who paddled his canoe over the serene surfaces of lakes not yet polluted by chemical wastes or churned by powerboats. This book celebrates the work of American artists who captured traces of the lost beauty on canvas. The color plates of paintings are accompanied by brief biographies of the artists. The Harmon family has been collecting western art for many years.

Shelly Boyd Mack to appear in TV special

Shelley Boyd Mack of Granite City who has been active in show business as a dancer, singer and choreographer since her graduation from Granite City High School South in 1975 will perform in Friday's television presentation of the All-Star Saturday Preview Special.

Mrs. Mack, daughter of Robert Boyd of Granite City and the late Mary G. Boyd, has been active in a growing list of television and theater productions over the last three years, including a lead part as singer, dancer and actress in a Donny and Marie pilot show.

The preview special will be aired Friday at 7 p.m. on television channel 2. Among the other guests will be Maurice Gibb, Donny Most, Donny Osmond, Danielle Spencer, Joey Travolta and Adam Rich. The special will introduce performers who are to appear on the Saturday lineup.

The Friday night performance is to be hosted by Kristy and Jimmy McNichol. Mrs. Mack has had top parts in such productions as Saturday's Warrior by Omega Productions as dancer and lead singer in Los Angeles and Salt Lake City in 1975; Little Mary Sunshine in which she played the lead as Nancy at Sherwood Hills Executive Resort in Logan, Utah, in 1976; Fiddler on the Roof in which she played a leading part, also at Sherwood Hills in 1976.

She also performed in the lead female part in The Day the Rain Fell, in an off-Broadway production in Salt Lake City earlier this year; played the leads in comedy variety shows as dancer, singer and actress for Dancer Summer Theater in Provo, Utah, during 1977. Mrs. Mack also was lead dancer, singer and actress on a Donny and Marie show pilot produced in Los Angeles earlier this year.

Senior club honors Edgar Paddock

Edgar Paddock, retiring president of the Granite City Senior Citizens Council, was honored Thursday afternoon at a dinner party hosted by the More-the-Merrier Senior Citizens Club.

More than 80 friends of the honoree, including club members and guests, attended the event at the new Granite City Township Center.

His wife, Mrs. Grace Paddock, serves as president of the More-the-Merrier Club. She was presented a corsage of fresh daisies by Mrs. Mae Finley, vice president, as a memento of the occasion.

Mrs. Ruby Corbett, chaplain, offered prayer and led the pledge of allegiance to the flag. On behalf of the senior club, she also made the presentation of an engraved plaque to Paddock, citing him for "outstanding and dedicated service."

A special feature of the afternoon was assembling a panel of "old" friends of the guest of honor, who proceeded to "toast" the honoree, in humorous fashion.

Several gifts were presented Paddock by Mrs. Carrie Hart.

The remainder of the time was spent playing games and honoring those who excelled.

Police plan open house at new GC firing range

An open house to permit the public to inspect the Granite City Police Department's new firing range on the Granite City Army Installation grounds will be held Thursday, Sept. 7, it was announced by Chief of Police Ronald Veizer.

The open house will be conducted from 1 to 5 p.m., Veizer said.

The new firing range, adjacent to the sewage treatment plant facilities, was completed last spring at a cost of $36,000.

Features of the range include moveable targets and shooting points for 30 persons. The facility includes a building for storage of equipment.

The Granite City police pistol team which will compete in the national pistol matches at Jackson, Miss., in October, will give a demonstration of the police combat course at 2 p.m.

"We are very proud of our range and would like to show it to everyone at our open house," Chief Veizer said.

Driver injured

Robert Mires, 44, of 1424 Fourth St., Madison, was injured when his car and the auto of Stanley Busby, Cahokia, collided at 20th Street and Madison Avenue last week. Mires, who was charged with not having a driver's license, was treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital for a sprained right ankle and was released to police who accepted a $35 cash bond and released him.

Busby was ticketed for allegedly violating a red light.

HITS PARKED CAR

Frank Robertson, 20, of 2113 Troy Ave., Madison, was injured when his auto struck the parked car of Wilma Graf, St. Louis, in the 2700 block of Madison Avenue last week. He bumped his nose on the steering wheel and was treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital. X-rays were taken and he was released.

Strict laws in South Carolina, Explorers learn

An armed robbery conviction in South Carolina results in an automatic seven-year term in prison, with no chance for parole, a group of local Explorer Scouts learned.

Eighteen members of Explorer Post 10-4, sponsored by Madison Police Unit 110, have returned from a week's visit to Myrtle Beach, S. C., and report that visiting the police department there was a real learning experience.

According to Bill Kinkel, post president, "They have signs everywhere reminding everyone that there is a seven-year, no parole or probation, mandatory sentence for armed robbery in South Carolina."

"We were talking to the police about this and found the law had been passed in 1977. In addition to the automatic seven years in jail without parole, if someone is hurt during an armed robbery the judges there throw away the key," Kinkel said.

According to a Myrtle Beach police officer, the new mandatory sentence has proved effective in cutting down armed robbery.

The resort town of less than 15,000 regular residents has a police force of 54, headed by Chief Jay S. Bird.

The number seemed high to the Explorers, but it was explained the need was due to the city's major industry, "tourism," over 350,000 during the Fourth of July weekend.

The appearance of a shapely blonde police woman brought comments from the young Explorers that it might be worth being arrested if she was the arresting officer.

However, after visiting the jail which is not air conditioned and is in a very old building, the Explorers changed their minds.

According to the police, everything possible is done to keep Myrtle Beach a "family" resort area, and this is borne out by one drive down Ocean Boulevard, Kinkel related.

The Explorers spent most of their time enjoying the beach, swimming, visiting the amusement parks, making new friends, riding mopeds, and enjoying the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Graham, owners of the Island Inn motel, on the shores of the blue Atlantic.

May finish law building during 1980

More than four years of waiting ended Thursday for Southern Illinois University at Carbondale officials as Gov. James Thompson signed a bill authorizing $7,580,000 for a permanent SIUC School of Law building. The action ended fears that the school would lose its American Bar Association accreditation, law Dean Hiram H. Lesar said.

Thompson said the School of Law is vital to the well-being of Southern Illinois. "More than half the students in the SIUC law school are from Southern Illinois," he said. "In addition, more than half the school's graduates remain in the southern part of the state to practice law, which benefits the area immeasurably."

Barring unforeseen hitches, the three-story building could be completed by December 1980, school officials estimated. The signing took place in ceremonies at Thompson's Springfield office. Attending were Lesar, SIUC Board of Trustees Chairman Harris Rowe, SIUC President Warren W. Brandt and SIUC External Affairs Director Clyde Choate.

WORKING OUT. Mrs. Erickson and her daughter, Andrea, 18 months old, lovingly "work out" together at a center where diagnostic services are provided to hearing, orthopedically and visually impaired children. Therapy has accelerated Andrea's progress, and she is helping to publicize "Project Love," which was devised to urge all parents to observe their child's developmental patterns. They may call a toll-free hotline (800-942-1224) if they suspect their infant or child has a handicap.

Order of Arrow to elect

Election of lodge officers and members to the Vigil Honor will highlight the Cahokia Lodge, Order of the Arrow, fall convocation.

The Order of the Arrow is a national honor camping society within the Boy Scouts of America.

The event will take place on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 8, 9 and 10 at Camp Sunnen near Potosi, Mo.

A lodge chief, vice chief, secretary and treasurer will be elected.

The Cahokia Lodge is made up of 241 members from the southern half of Madison County and all of Bond County.

Education is being extended to all handicapped youngsters in Illinois

Joseph M. Cronin, state superintendent of education, Illinois Office of Education, and Jack Witkowski, chairman, Illinois State Board of Education have announced a board-sponsored statewide public awareness campaign about handicapped children called "Project Love."

Its primary purpose is to meet the mandate of "The Education for All Handicapped Children Act," (PL 94-142).

The goal — to seek out those children who may have an unidentified handicap and are not receiving special education services — and also to seek out those children and young adults who are handicapped, but are not receiving the appropriate public education entitled to them by law.

The new law goes into effect this Friday, Sept. 1.

Dr. Cronin emphasized that, while 226,000 children and young adults are presently receiving special education services in Illinois, "we know that there are children who have not been identified as handicapped, and others who — though handicapped — are not receiving an appropriate education."

Witkowski also announced that beginning now, Project Love brochures in English and Spanish are helping to inform parents throughout the state about the landmark legislation, the special education services available to them, and the immediate availability of a Project Love toll-free hotline, (800) 942-1224, if they require further information.

"Parents should be informed that any decision about their child's special education — whether public, private, or residential — must be made with their participation," said Dr. Cronin.

"Assisting them in that decision will be the finest special education task force team in the nation. I say this without exaggeration, for Illinois, unlike many other states, had led the nation since 1896 in providing special education services."

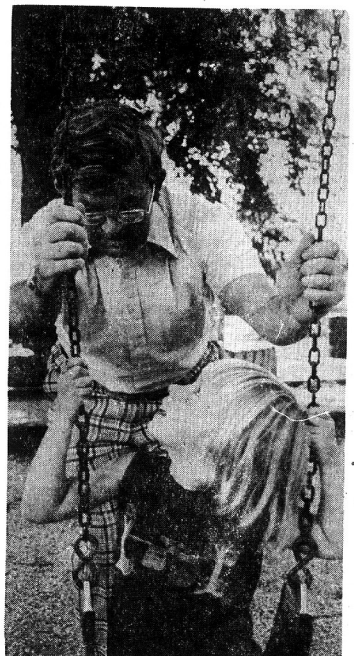

"And we were among the first of the 50 states in 1969 to mandate special education for all handicapped children and young adults, ages three through 21."

Also present at the announcement was Joseph E. Fisher, assistant superintendent, Specialized Educational Services, Illinois Office of Education, who urged parents "to carefully observe your child's development and to be aware of the special education services offered in your local public school at no cost."

Wendell E. Jones, director of the West Suburban Association for Hearing Orthopedically and Visually Impaired, and statewide coordinator of Project Love, explained that when a parent calls the "round-the-clock" toll-free hotline, he will be asked to give the name, address, telephone number and a brief description of their child's problem.

The following day, this information will be relayed to the appropriate local special education director. A Project Love brochure and a letter will be mailed to the callers so they will know the specific person to contact in their geographic area if special education services are needed.

PROJECT KICKOFF. Joseph M. Cronin, state superintendent of education, and Kathryn "Cricket" Helliwell, 5½, of Springfield officially launch Project Love. The Illinois State Board of Education public awareness campaign is intended to alert all parents that the Education for All Handicapped Children Act (Public Law 94-142) becomes law tomorrow. When "Cricket" was three months old, her mother knew that "something" was wrong. But it took three additional months and a seizure before doctors determined that she had epilepsy accompanied by a developmental delay. Now, with the aid of medication, she no longer has seizures and is enrolled in school in an early childhood program.

AURORA

James R. Irving meets murders, rapists, arsonists and thieves almost every day. He says he's gotten used to it.

Irving, 37, is chairman of the Illinois Prisoner Review Board, the state agency which decides whether approximately 200 prisoners will be released from prison on parole each day.

The East Aurora High School graduate came to the job after six years as an administrator at the Illinois Youth Center at Valley View. For three of those years he was superintendent.

"It came very much as a surprise to me," Irving says of his appointment to the $35,000-a-year position. "I'd become acquainted with Gayle Franzen (Gov. James Thompson's assistant on prison matters) during the flap over the proposal to convert Valley View to an adult corrections facility."

Several weeks after he met the job of chairman of the Prisoner Review Board, I said it would be an interesting challenge."

And that it has been, Irving says, six months after his confirmation by the state Senate.

Irving recently made headlines in connection with charges the Prisoner Review Board (successor to the Pardon and Parole Board) acted illegally in paroling several hundred juveniles by signing the names of absent board members to parole documents.

"There are 10 members of the board, and we usually review cases in panels of two or three. The law states that three members may make a decision for the board, and a majority vote prevails," Irving says.

"Juveniles usually leave an institution the same day as the board approves parole, so if a member was sick, and the two who heard the case agreed on parole, the absent panel member's name would be signed to the papers."

"His vote wouldn't have made a difference anyway," Irving says of the absent board members whose names were signed to release papers.

Irving said the recent publicity on the practice, and his subsequent censure by Thompson, "stemmed from a reporter claiming we were pushing kids out of (youth homes) too fast more than a year ago."

"We didn't feel we were doing anything illegal," Irving says. "We simply stopped the practice. Now if a panel member is absent there could be as long as a week's wait" for the full panel to meet and the offender to be released.

Irving's work week consists of holding hearings in the various state correctional institutions four days and office work the fifth day.

When hearings are held at institutions in the southern part of the state, Irving works out of the board's Springfield office. When hearings are held at institutions in the northern part of the state, he works out of a Chicago office.

The board alternates between southern and northern halves of the state every week.

"You see a lot of motel rooms," Irving says.

There are 11 adult correctional institutions and 10 for juveniles, housing approximately 11,000 adults and about 1,000 juveniles. The Prisoner Review Board has a staff of 25 to handle the paperwork, which Irving says is voluminous.

The laws setting the point of eligibility for parole are complicated.

"In Illinois, a person is eligible for parole when he has served his minimum sentence, one-third the minimum or 20 years, minus good time, whichever comes first," Irving says.

"In other words, a 20-year sentence isn't really a 20-year sentence. That's what people get so upset about and say,

'How can he be up for parole already?'"

"Good time" refers to a prisoner's behavior, not the pleasantness of his stay in prison. Generally, for each day of good behavior a prisoner gets one day cut from his minimum sentence.

"Under the new law, Class X, no one's eligible for parole," Irving says. "House Bill 1500, called Class X, sets minimum and maximum sentences for felons; the Class X part of it simply identifies certain felonies."

Irving says that under House Bill 1500 a prisoner "won't get out any sooner than half the sentence." The stay would be reduced in half by good behavior, Irving says allowance must be made for "good time" or there would be no discipline prisons, prisoners would have no incentive to obey the rules.

Mrs. Tatolian dies at 48

Mrs. Daleta Tatolian, 48, of 2878 Idaho St., died at 8:28 p.m. Monday in Firmin Desloge Hospital, St. Louis. She had been ill for the past year and a patient in the hospital five weeks.

Mrs. Tatolian was born in Granite City and lived all of her life here except 20 years spent in California.

She was a member of St. Gregory's Armenian Apostolic Church.

Survivors include her husband, Abraham; two sons, Michael and Abraham Jr.; one daughter, Mrs. John (Florence) Hale of St. Louis and one sister, Sarah Peroumian of Oakland, Calif.

Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

President Richard M. Nixon said on March 15, 1973, that he recalled Ambassador David K. E. Bruce from the U.S. liaison office in Peking.

LABOR DAY SPECIAL! FRIDAY AND SATURDAY ONLY!

Protect Your Home From the Weather and Environment

Next Winter Could Be Worse!

Changing weather and environmental conditions can play havoc with the house paint on your home. Prolonged sub-zero temperatures in the north, rain, sleet and even snow in the deep south have a more than normally destructive effect on exterior paint. Add to this the atmospheric pollutants — smoke, fumes, industrial gases — and you have ample reason to choose a house paint designed to resist these ravages.

Pittsburgh house paints have been recently reformulated and specially reinforced to provide maximum protection against the elements and prevailing pollution. Come in today and let us recommend the one best suited to your need.
